California Politics, 1846-1920 Spencer C. Olin, 1981 Farm Workers and the Churches Alan J. Watt, 2010-02-23

In the mid 1960s the charismatic Cesar Chavez led members of California's La Causa movement in boycotting the grape harvest and melon pickers in South Texas called a strike against growers contesting unfair labor and wage practices in both states. In Farm Workers and the Churches Alan J. Watt shows how the religious and social contexts of the farm workers, their leaders and the larger society helped or hindered these two pivotal actions. Watt explores the ways in which liberal expressions of Northern Protestantism transplanted to California and combined with the pro labor wing of the Catholic Church and the heritage of Mexican popular piety provided a fertile field for the growth of broad support for Chavez and his organizing efforts. Eventually La Causa was able to achieve collective bargaining victories including a historic labor contract between California agribusiness and farm workers. The movement did not fare as well in Texas where the combination of a locally weak union leadership, a more conservative Southern Protestant ethos and the strikebreaking measures of the Texas Rangers all boded ill. However, a general Chicano movement ultimately took permanent root in the state because of the workers' struggle. Watt offers a careful examination of the complex interactions among religious traditions, social heritage and ethnicity as these factors affected the course and outcomes of these two pioneering campaigns undertaken by La Causa.
