Modern Construction Of Myth

John Hinnells

Modern Construction Of Myth:

The Modern Construction of Myth Andrew Von Hendy, 2002-01-30 Andrew Von Hendy offers an integrated critical account of the career of myth in modernity. He takes as its starting point some crucial moments in the 18th century reinvention of the concept and then follows the major branches of theorizing as they appear in the work of theologians, philosophers, literary artists, political thinkers, folklorists, anthropologists, psychologists and others. Narrative, Social Myth and Reality in Contemporary Scottish and Irish Women's Writing Tudor Balinisteanu, 2009-10-02 This book offers an original interdisciplinary analysis of the relations between myth, identity and social reality involving elements of narratology, theory, linguistics, philosophy, anthropology and social theory, harnessed to support an argument firmly located in the area of literary criticism. This analysis yields a fairly extensive reinterpretation of the concept of myth which is applied to the examination of the relationship between narrative and social reality as represented in texts by contemporary Scottish and Irish women writers. The main theoretical sources are Mikhail Bakhtin's theories of heteroglossia, Jacques Derrida's theories of citationality and Judith Butler's theories of subjectivity. The analysis framework developed in the book uses these theories to create a new way of understanding how literary texts change readers' worldviews by enticing them to accept alternative possibilities of cultural expression of identity and social order. The texts analysed in this book reconfigure naturalised stories that have become normative and constraining in conveying identities and visions of legitimate social orders. The book's focus on feminine identities places it alongside feminist analyses of reconstructions of fairy tales, myths or canonical stories that establish what counts as legitimate feminine identity. Studied here for the first time together are the writers whose texts form the interest of this book, continuing the revisionist work begun by other women writers who engage with the male-generated literary, philosophical and humanist tradition. They share a view of narratives as tools for continually negotiating our identities, social worlds and socialisation scenarios. While the high-level theoretical discourse of the first part of the book requires specialised knowledge, the second part of the book, offering close readings of the texts, is both lively and accessible and should engage the interest of the general reader and academic alike. This book is written for all those who are interested in the power words have to hold sway over our inner and outer social worlds. Myth in the Modern Novel Liisa Steinby, 2023-03-20 Myth in the Modern Novel Imagining the Absolute posits a twofold thesis. First, although Modernity is regarded as an era dominated by science and rational thought, it has in fact not relinquished the hold of myth, a more primitive form of thought which is difficult to reconcile with modern rationality. Second, some of the most important statements as to the reconcilability of myth and Modernity are found in the work of certain prominent novelists. This book offers a close examination of the work of eleven writers from the late eighteenth century to the beginning of the twenty-first, representing German, French, American, Czech and Swedish literature. The analyses of individual novels reveal a variety of intriguing views of myth in Modernity and offer an insight into the modernizing transformations myth has undergone when applied in the modern novel The study shows the presence of the subconscious the mythic layer in modern western culture and how this has been dealt with in novelistic literature

Plato and the Mythic Tradition in Political Thought

Tae-Yeoun Keum, 2020-12-08 Winner of the Gustave O Arlt Award in the Humanities Winner of the Istvan Hont Book Prize An ambitious reinterpretation and defense of Plato's basic enterprise and influence arguing that the power of his myths was central to the founding of philosophical rationalism Plato's use of myths the Myth of Metals the Myth of Er sits uneasily with his canonical reputation as the inventor of rational philosophy Since the Enlightenment interpreters like Hegel have sought to resolve this tension by treating Plato's myths as mere regrettable embellishments irrelevant to his main enterprise Others such as Karl Popper have railed against the deceptive power of myth concluding that a tradition built on Platonic foundations can be neither rational nor desirable Tae Yeoun Keum challenges the premise underlying both of these positions She argues that myth is neither irrelevant nor inimical to the ideal of rational progress She tracks the influence of Plato's dialogues through the early modern period and on to the twentieth century showing how pivotal figures in the history of political thought More Bacon Leibniz the German Idealists Cassirer and others have been inspired by Plato's mythmaking She finds that Plato's followers perennially raised the possibility that there is a vital role for myth in rational political thinking

In Quest of the Historical Adam William Lane Craig, 2021-09-28 Was Adam a real historical person If so who was he and when did he live William Lane Craig sets out to answer these questions through a biblical and scientific investigation He begins with an inquiry into the genre of Genesis 1 11 determining that it can most plausibly be classified as mytho history a narrative with both literary and historical value He then moves into the New Testament where he examines references to Adam in the words of Jesus and the writings of Paul ultimately concluding that the entire Bible considers Adam the historical progenitor of the human race a position that must therefore be accepted as a premise for Christians who take seriously the inspired truth of Scripture Working from that foundation of biblical truth Craig embarks upon an interdisciplinary survey of scientific evidence to determine where Adam could be most plausibly located in the evolutionary history of humankind ultimately determining that Adam lived between 750 000 and 1 000 000 years ago as a member of the archaic human species Homo heidelbergensis He concludes by reflecting theologically on his findings and asking what all this might mean for us as human beings created in

Material Mystery Karmen MacKendrick, 2021-08-17 Material Mystery considers three apparently anthropocentric myths that are central to Abrahamic religions those of the primal human the incarnated and possibly divine redeemer and the resurrected body At first glance these stories reinforce a human centered theology and point to a very anthropomorphic God Taking them seriously seems to ignore the material turn in the humanities entirely with the same sort of willful ignorance that some of our politicians show in declaring that their myths count as facts or that the point of the rest of the world is to further human consumption But it is possible Karmen MacKendrick shows to read these figures through a particular tradition that emerges from the Hebrew Bible the tradition of Wisdom as a creative force Wisdom texts are common across the ancient Near East As the idea of creative Wisdom develops from antiquity into the middle ages it gathers philosophical influences from a range of philosophical traditions This exuberantly promiscuous impurity intellectual artistic and theological generates new interpretive possibilities In these interpretations each human like figure opens up onto the world s matter as an interdependent part of it and matter is thoroughly mixed with divinity Such mythic readings complement our factual scientific understanding of the material world to engage wider kinds of knowing and affective attention particularly Wisdom s combination of care and delight
