Modern Impressions Book 3 Riverin, 2011-06-14 Nothing is exactly what it seems to be A chair is much more than a chair it is a complex assemblage of polymers made of molecules made of atoms Each atom is made of a nucleus and electrons The electrons gravitate around the nucleus in a complex way they are in movement There is so much space between the atoms that 90% of the neutrinos coming from the sun will pass right through the chair without hitting it What are the electrons made of Some scientists wonder if the smallest particles are solid Then a painting is not what it seems What if an original painting has a profound effect on its owners What if it creates an invisible link between the buyer and the artist In my paintings you will find serenity and happiness and possibly more I hope they will bring comfort to my clients In this book you will find some short stories and a description of my technique The Christian Observer, 1838 The Christian
