Mono no Aware and Gender as Affect in Japanese Aesthetics and American Pragmatism Johnathan Flowers, 2023-03-20 Mono no Aware and Gender as Affect in Japanese Aesthetics and American Pragmatism places the naturalistic pragmatism of John Dewey in conversation with Motoori Norinaga's mono no aware a Japanese aesthetic theory of experience to examine gender as a felt experience of an aware or an affective quality of persons By treating gender as an affect Johnathan Charles Flowers argues that the experience of gendering and being gendered is a result of the affective perception of the organization of the body in line with cultural aesthetics embodied in Deweyan habit or Japanese kata broadly understood as culturally mediated transactions with the world On this view how the felt sense of identity aligns with the affective organization of society determines the nature of the possible social transactions between individuals As such this book intervenes in questions of personhood broadly and identity specifically by treating personhood itself as an affective sense In doing so this book demonstrates how questions of personhood and identity are themselves affective judgments By treating gender and other identities as aware this book advocates an expanded recognition of the how to be in the world through cultivating new ways of perceiving the affective organization of persons

Tragic Beauty in Whitehead and Japanese Aesthetics Steve Odin, 2016-05-19 The present volume endeavors to make a contribution to contemporary Whitehead studies by clarifying his axiological process metaphysics including his theory of values concept of aesthetic experience and doctrine of beauty along with his philosophy of art literature and poetry Moreover it establishes an east west dialogue focusing on how Alfred North Whitehead s process aesthetics can be clarified by the traditional Japanese Buddhist sense of evanescent beauty As this east west dialogue unfolds it is shown that there are many striking points of convergence between Whitehead s process aesthetics and the traditional Japanese sense of beauty However the work especially focuses on two of Whitehead s aesthetic categories including the penumbral beauty of darkness and the tragic beauty of perishability while further demonstrating parallels with the two Japanese aesthetic categories of yugen and aware It is clarified how both Whitehead and the Japanese tradition have articulated a poetics of evanescence that celebrates the transience of aesthetic experience and the ephemerality of beauty Finally it is argued that both Whitehead and Japanese tradition develop an aesthetics of beauty as perishability culminating in a religious aesthetic vision of tragic beauty and its reconciliation in the supreme ecstasy of peace or nirvana

The Politics of Painting Asato Ikeda, 2018-05-31 This book examines a set of paintings produced in Japan during the 1930s and early 1940s that have received little scholarly attention Asato Ikeda views the work of four prominent artists of the time Yokoyama Taikan Yasuda Yukihiko Uemura Sh en and Fujita Tsuguharu through the lens of fascism showing how their seemingly straightforward paintings of Mount Fuji samurai beautiful women and the countryside supported the war by reinforcing a state ideology that justified violence in the name of the country's cultural authenticity She highlights the politics of apolitical art and challenges the postwar labeling of battle paintings those depicting scenes of war and combat as uniquely problematic Yokoyama Taikan produced countless paintings of Mount Fuji as the embodiment of Japan's national body and spirituality in contrast to the modern West's individualism and materialism Yasuda Yukihiko located Japan in the Minamoto warriors of the medieval period depicting them in the yamato e style which is defined as classically Japanese Uemura Sh en sought to paint the quintessential Japanese woman drawing on the Edo period bijin ga beautiful women genre while alluding to noh aesthetics and wartime gender expectations For his subjects Fujita Tsuguharu looked to the rural snow country where it was believed authentic Japanese traditions could still be found Although these artists employed different styles and favored different subjects each maintained close ties with the state and presented what he considered to be the most representative and authentic portrayal of Japan Throughout Ikeda takes into account the changing relationships between visual iconography artistic style and its significance by carefully situating artworks within their specific historical and cultural moments She reveals the global dimensions of wartime nationalist Japanese art and opens up the possibility of dialogue with scholarship on art produced in other countries around the same time particularly Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy The Politics of Painting will be welcomed by those interested in modern Japanese art and visual culture and war art and fascism Its analysis of painters and painting within larger currents in intellectual history will attract scholars of modern Japanese and East Asian studies

Age of Disaffection Patrick Noonan, 2025-08-19 The 1960s in Japan have long been understood as a period of radical political engagement But as political movements from Old Left Communism to New Left revolts appeared to fail in their efforts to revolutionize Japanese society artists and intellectuals came to reject the ideals of postwar politics Instead they advocated withdrawing from political participation and making self transformation the grounds for social change This provocative book uncovers a paradox at the heart of the 1960s how political disillusionment became the basis for a new form of politics a politics of the self Examining aesthetic criticism popular literature avant garde art cinema and political theory Patrick Noonan argues that cultural producers in 1960s Japan cultivated what he calls an ethos of disaffection toward revolutionary politics and postwar society Departing from approaches that define politics as contestation Age of Disaffection foregrounds cultivation or the production of ways of feeling and relating to the world in efforts to redefine the political It presents an unorthodox account of the 1960s withdrawal from political activity developed not as the decade ended but as it was unfolding Noonan reveals how Japanese artists and intellectuals in this period confronted a crucial question that continues to vex efforts at radical change today transform institutions or alter how people relate to themselves and others

In Pursuit of Universalism Alicia Volk, 2010 Volk's impressive study rethinks the East West binary often reiterated in discussions of Japanese modernism by reinserting local aspects into the universalizing tendencies of modernism itself The book makes an important contribution to the growing literature on modern Japanese art history by providing an alternative comparative framework for understanding the global development of modernism that decenters Euro America Rigorously historical in her critique Volk destabilizes our understanding of the Japanese experience of modernity through the prism of Yorozu's singular vision of the self leaving us questioning conventional wisdom and contented to wobble Jennifer Weisenfeld Duke University In Volk's affectingly stunning and deeply reflective study of the Japanese artist Yorozu Tetsugor's work between 1910-1930 we have a profoundly historical reminder of how modernism everywhere struggled to meet the demands of the new with the readymades of received artistic practices In this study of Yorozu's utopian universalist project Volk has imaginatively broadened our understanding of the modernist moment and perceptively captured its global program to unify art and life contemporary culture and history Harry Harootunian author of Overcome by Modernity History Culture and Community in Interwar Japan
