Framing Silence Myriam J. A. Chancy, 1997 In this first book length study in English devoted exclusively to Haitian women s literature Myriam Chancy finds that Haitian women have their own history traditions and stories to tell tales that they are unwilling to suppress or subordinate to narratives of national autonomy Issues of race class color caste nationality and sexuality are all central to their fiction as is an urgent sense of the historical place of women between the two U S occupations of the country Their novels interrogate women s social and political stance in Haiti from an explicitly female point of view forcefully responding to overt sexual and political violence within the nation s ambivalent political climate
