Carter traces Cook's successful evolution from minstrelsy to musical theater. Written with his collaborator the distinguished poet Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Cook's musicals infused American Musical Theater with African American music, consequently altering the direction of American popular music. Cook's In Dahomey, hailed by Gerald Bordman as one of the most important events in American Musical Theater history, was the first full-length Broadway musical to be written and performed by blacks. Alongside his accomplishments, Carter reveals Cook's contentious side: a man known for his aggressiveness, pride, and constant quarrels who became his own worst enemy in regards to his career. Carter further sets Cook's life against the backdrop of the changing cultural and social milieu, the black theatrical tradition, white audiences' reaction to black performers, and the growing consciousness and sophistication of blacks in the arts, especially music.
