Population Politics in the Tropics Samuël Coghe, 2022-02-03 The book analyses how depopulation anxieties and transimperial connections shaped medical demographic and administrative interventions in Portuguese Angola

Population and Political Systems in Tropical Africa Robert F. Stevenson, 1968 International Theory at the Margins Nicholas Greenwood Onuf, 2024-03-12 This book brings together thirteen essays from the celebrated international theorist Nicholas Greenwood Onuf They address topics that Onuf has puzzled over for decades prompting him to develop a distinctive perspective on international theory as social theory Among these topics are the problem of materiality in social construction epochal change in the modern world and the power of language Building on the work of giants from Aristotle and Cicero Hume and Kant to Derrida and Foucault and drawing on diverse contemporary theorists including Seyla Benhabib James Der Derian Johan Galtung Morton Kaplan Joseph Nye James Rosenau Elaine Scarry and Kenneth Waltz the book ranges over the margins of the field and settles on issues that have never been put to rest Conservation and Management of Tropical

Rainforests, 2nd Edition Eberhard F Bruenig, 2016-12-07 This new edition of Conservation and Management of Tropical Rainforests applies the large body of knowledge experience and tradition available to those who study tropical rainforests Revised and updated in light of developments in science technology economics politics etc and their effects on tropical forests it describes the principles of integrated conservation and management that lead to sustainability identifying the unifying phenomena that regulate the processes within the rainforest and that are fundamental to the ecosystem viability Features of the natural forest and the socio cultural ecosystems which can be mimicked in the design of self sustaining forests are also discussed A holistic approach to the management and conservation of rainforests is developed throughout the book The focus on South East Asian forestry will be widened to include Africa and Latin America Recent controversial issues such as biofuels and carbon credits with respect to tropical forests and their inhabitants will be discussed This book is a substantial contribution to the literature it is a valuable resource for all those concerned with rainforests Politics and

Change in Developing Countries Colin Leys, 2011-02-03 This 1969 work gathers together essays on Third World development by nine social scientists with diverse academic interests These contributions are united by a relative uncertainty in relation to development derived from the contemporary critical reappraisal of the area together with a need to create fresh methodologies for the advancement of their respective fields Fire in Relation to Primitive Agriculture and Grazing in the

The Picky Eagle Richard W. Maass, 2020-05-15 The Picky Eagle explains why the United States stopped annexing territory by focusing on annexation's domestic consequences both political and normative It describes how the US rejection of further annexations despite its rising power set the stage for twentieth century efforts to outlaw conquest In contrast to conventional accounts of a nineteenth century shift from territorial expansion to commercial expansion Richard W Maass argues that US ambitions were selective from the start By presenting twenty three case studies Maass examines the decision making of US leaders facing opportunities to pursue annexation between 1775 and 1898 US presidents secretaries and congressmen consistently worried about how absorbing new territories would affect their domestic political influence and their goals for their country These leaders were particularly sensitive to annexation s domestic costs where xenophobia interacted with their commitment to democracy rather than grant political representation to a large alien population or subject it to a long term imperial regime they regularly avoided both of these perceived bad options by rejecting annexation As a result US leaders often declined even profitable opportunities for territorial expansion and they renounced the practice entirely once no desirable targets remained In addition to offering an updated history of the foundations of US territorial expansion The Picky Eagle adds important nuance to previous theories of great power expansion with implications for our understanding of US foreign policy and international relations The Eritrean Struggle for Independence Ruth Iyob,1995

This book is a comprehensive analysis of the country s political history over the past three decades Agriculture in Semi-Arid Environments A.E. Hall,G.H. Cannell,H.W. Lawton,2012-12-06 The semi arid zones of the world are fragile ecosystems which are being substantially modified by the activities of mankind Increasing human populations have resulted in greater demands on semi arid zones for providing human sustenance and the possibility that this may enhance desertification is a grave concern These zones are harsh habitats for humans The famines that resulted from drought during the late 1960 s and the 1970 s in the African Sahel illustrated the unreliability of present agricultural systems in this zone Large fluctuations in agricultural production have occurred in semi arid zones of Australia North America and the Soviet Union due to periodic droughts even though considerable agricultural technology has been devoted to agricultural development in these zones The challenge to mankind is to manage these different semi arid zones so that productivity is increased and stabilized and environmental deterioration is decreased Irrigation can be used to increase and stabilize agricultural production in semi arid zones as discussed in Volume 5 of this series Arid Zone Irrigation The present volume Agriculture in Semi Arid Environments focuses on dryland farming in semi arid zones and is relevant to the large areas of the world where rainfall is limiting and where water is not available for irrigation This volume is designed to assist agricultural development in these areas and consists of reviews and analyses of available information by scientists working in Africa Australia and at the University of California Saving Africa N. Timoleon Amessa,2017-06-13 Saving Africa investigates the root causes of underdevelopment in developing countries particularly in post colonial Africa It also identifies the factors that inhibit progress the cultural barriers to development the political instability and the inappropriate choice of political system that has hampered the development of so many African countries the economic problems plaguing Africa especially in the three main sectors of the economy agriculture industry and the service economy It looks at the effect on the social life of African people and cultural factors such as the difficulty in reconciling traditional customs and practices with the western way of life and considers how the economy and political systems currently in place add to these problems It also uses the case of Cote D Ivoire the Ivory Coast as a prime example and demonstrates how the legacy of colonial rule and the scale of corruption among the political elite coupled with lack of education poor infrastructure and rampant inefficiencies that constitute the problematic life in every African country In response to this it sets out a blueprint a comprehensive roadmap for evolution If implemented with commitment it will allow the people of Africa to enjoy the benefits of living in a modern society with a working economy a stable political system and a culture that both preserves the best of its traditions and customs and takes advantage of the opportunities offered by Western society Saving Africa shows how one can transform the heavy legacy of centuries of colonial rule from a contemporary curse into a real future for Africa and its people Africa

Report, 1969 The Politics of Reform in Ghana, 1982-1991 Jeffrey Herbst, 2023-04-28 Economic reform was the most pressing question for African and other Third World countries during the 1980s In this first full length examination of the political economy of adjustment in Ghana Jeffrey Herbst describes the causes of Ghana s dramatic economic decline and reviews the politics of reform that began in 1983 Since Ghana was one of the first African countries to adopt a comprehensive reform program and the one that has sustained adjustment longest the Ghanaian experience has profound ramifications for debates regarding stabilization and structural change across the continent Herbst devotes special attention to the interaction between the type of government and the politics of adjustment the reaction of interest groups such as urban labor and the peasantry and the relationship between economic and political change His extended field research and sophisticated knowledge of the issues involved both from the economic and political science literature make this study of importance not only to Africanists political scientists economists and sociologists but also to government and financial leaders wrestling with economic reform in developing countries This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1993 The English People
