EPA-600/5 ,1974-02 Spatial Diversity and Dynamics in Resources and Urban Development Ashok K. Dutt, Allen

G. Noble, Frank J. Costa, Sudhir K. Thakur, Rajiv Thakur, Hari S. Sharma, 2015-10-15 This double volume work focuses on socio demographics and the use of such data to support strategic resource management and planning initiatives. Papers go beyond explanations of methods, technique and traditional applications to explore new intersections in the dynamic relationship between the utilization and management of resources and urban development. International authors explore numerous experiences, characteristics of development and decision making influences from across Asia and Southeast Asia as well as recounting examples from America and Africa. Papers propound techniques and methods used in geographical research such as support vector machines, socio economic correlates and travel behaviour analysis. In this volume the contributions examine issues such as natural resource and environmental management, livelihoods issues in the context of climate change, land markets and land trusts, adaptive management of wildlife sanctuaries, ground water scarcity, flood hazards and flood plain management, non conventional energy resources, community forestry and management and land use and land cover change. The significance of these topics lie in the pace and volume of change as is reflected through continued development within established fields of inquiry and the introduction of significantly new approaches during the last decade. Readers are invited to consider the dynamics of spatial expansion of urban areas and economic development and to explore conceptual discussion of the innovations in and challenges on urbanization processes, urban spaces themselves and both resource management and environmental management. Together the two volumes contribute to the interdisciplinary literature on regional resources and urban development by collating recent research with geography at its core. Scholars of urban geography, human geography, urbanism and sustainable development will be particularly interested in this book.

Population and Development in the Third World Allan M. Findlay, A. M. Findlay, 1987 Looks at how and why populations change not only in level but also in composition. Economic and cultural factors are discussed and questions such as how populations respond to geographical imbalances in natural resources are raised. Population and Development United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Population, 1978 Development Geography Xiangzheng Deng, Malin Song, 2025-08-24 This book provides practical insights into regional development focusing on how economic, social and environmental factors contribute to disparities across regions. It examines pressing global issues such as income inequality, climate change and sustainable growth offering strategies for addressing these challenges in both developed and developing countries. The book combines theoretical frameworks with case studies, policy analysis and interdisciplinary methods making it both academically rigorous and highly applicable for real world solutions. Key features include in depth regional comparisons, climate adaptation strategies and detailed policy recommendations. The reader will gain a comprehensive understanding of how to navigate the complexities of regional development and implement effective sustainable policies. Ideal for scholars, policymakers and development practitioners, this book is designed to inspire informed decision making and foster balanced growth across regions. The Role of Research and Development in Water Resources Planning and Management
