Population Society East Dev:

Population and Society in Contemporary Tibet Rong Ma, 2011-01-01 This extensive survey documents Tibetan society over five decades including population structure in rural and urban areas marriage and migration patterns the maintenance of language and traditional culture economic transitions relating to income and consumption habits educational development and the growth of civil society and social organizations In addition to household surveys completed over twenty years the book provides a systematic analysis of all available social and census data released by the Chinese government and a thorough review of Western and Chinese literature on the topic It is the first book on Tibetan society published in English by a mainland China scholar and covers several sensitive issues in Tibetan studies including population changes Han migration into Tibetan areas intermarriage patterns and ethnic relations Ma Rong is a widely respected demographer and professor of sociology at Peking University He spent five years in Inner Mongolia during the Cultural Revolution and was one of the first Chinese students to study in the US after Deng Xiaoping's reforms receiving his doctorate degree from Brown University The academic study of Tibet still suffers from a lack of accurate data and restrictions on access to Tibet for research This very useful analysis will increase the quality of the discussion and help to correct many inaccurate Western impressions of Tibet

Gerard Postiglione University of Hong Kong The Development Trajectory of Eastern Societies and the Theories and Practices of Socialism Zhao Jiaxiang, 2022-07-30 In the four volumes of The Development Trajectory of Eastern societies and the Theories and Practices of Socialism the author re-examines Marx and Engels theories on the development trajectory of Eastern societies by integrating theoretical analysis of Marxist theories and an historical investigation of socialist revolution and socialist construction around the world The collection challenges some predominant interpretations of Marx and Engels historical materialism by focusing on that materialism explaining the general laws of historical development and its particular trajectory in Eastern societies discussing the attempts of the Russian Commune to avoid the torments of the capitalist system and tracing the victories and failures of the 100 year trajectory of socialism The significance of Marx and Engels socialist theories for contemporary social development in the Eastern societies is henceforth laid bare The book will be a key reference for readers studying Marxism Marxist philosophy and the history of philosophy Population and Development Geoffrey Hawthorn, 2013-02-01 First published in 1978 this book explores the vital global issue of high and low fertility in poorer countries through a series of case studies by contemporary experts in the fields of development and demography These studies examine such issues as the relations between fertility rates and income distributions in poor societies the question of whether or not neo-classical macro economics are sufficient to understand and to try to engineer relations between economies and populations and the specifics of the relations between fertility and a variety of socio-economic factors in both South Asia and West Africa The point of the collection is to explain how very far general models can be taken and to suggest that they cannot be taken as far as those who have tended to ignore the structural complexities of

and differences between various societies have implied Aboriginal Population Profiles for Development Planning in the Northern East Kimberley John Taylor, 2004-03-01 Aboriginal australians Western australia Kimberly Population Economic conditions Social conditions Population and Development W.T.S. Gould, 2015-05-08 The new edition of Population and Development offers an up to date perspective on one of the critical issues at the heart of the problems of development for all countries and especially those that seek to implement major economic and social change the reflexive relationships between a country s population and its development How does population size distribution age structure and skill base affect development patterns and prospects How has global development been affected by regional population change Retaining the structure of the well received first edition the book has been substantially revised and updated The opening chapters of the book establish the theoretical and historical basis for examining the basic reflexive relationship with exploration of the Malthusian perspective and its critics to examine how population change affects development and exploration of the Demographic Transition Model and its critics to examine how why and to what extent development drives population change These are followed by empirically rich chapters on each of the main components of population change mortality fertility internal and international migration age structures and skill base each elaborating key ideas with detailed and contrasting case studies from all regions of the developing world There are concluding and more integrative discussions on population policies and global population futures Bringing together Population Studies Development Studies and Geography the new edition of Population and Development is a key resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students across a range of programmes with specialist modules on population change There is a large bibliography with major new sections identifying a wide range of online resources for further study Each chapter contains a reading guide with discussion questions The text is enlivened by a number of case studies from around the world most of which are new or have been substantially revised Written by a leading international scholar in population the book successfully integrates cutting edge academic research with the focus and efforts of international development agencies Democratic Development? Hilke Rebenstorf, 2012-12-06 How much are young people interested in politics Are they ready for political participation What do they think about democracy in general as well as about the onethey experience How do their attitudes develop and to what extent are their views influenced by their parents The State of Social Progress of Islamic Societies Habib Tiliouine, Richard J. Estes, 2016-04-08 This handbook addresses the historical background of the Islamic world and reviews its basic past intellectual achievements It studies social progress of these regions and sub regions in comparison with other parts of the world It uses large data sets and well established statistically weighted Indexes in order to assess the nature and pace of the multiple facets of social change in member states of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation OIC The handbook extensively discusses the main challenges confronting the Islamic nations in the social economic political and ideological fields Though it is recognizable that social change in the Islamic World is generally positive it remains highly variable in pace and there is room to speed it up to the benefit of millions of deprived Muslim people Hence the book studies the different propositions and programs of action such as the United Nations Millennium Development Campaign and the OIC s Ten Year Programme of Action to present an integrated and comprehensive agenda of action to help improve the situation in the Islamic World Yearbook of the United Nations. 41.1987(1992) ,1992-05-14 Issued annually since 1946 47 the Yearbook is the principal reference work of the United Nations providing a comprehensive one volume account of the Organization s work It includes details of United Nations activities concerning trade industrial development natural resources food science and technology social development polulation environment human settlement children and legal questions along with information on the work of each specialized agency in the United Nations family

Population Dynamics in Eastern India and Bangladesh Aparajita Chattopadhyay,Saswata Ghosh,2020-05-01 This book highlights historical and current perspectives on population issues in the Bengali speaking states of India i e West Bengal Tripura Assam and Bangladesh and explores three core population dynamics fertility mortality morbidity and development Furthermore it presents a selection of revealing cases from area specific micro studies mainly conducted in West Bengal and Bangladesh The book covers various demographic and health issues in these two regions which are similar in terms of several sociocultural aspects yet dissimilar in terms of their policies and programs Adopting an integrated approach that combines various disciplines and perspectives it explores highly topical issues such as social inequality religious difference and mental health The book is intended for a broad readership interested in population studies sociology and development including academics researchers planners and policymakers Birth, Death, and Religious Faith in an English Dissenting Community Albion M. Urdank,2015-12-17 This study lies at the intersection of three principal areas of social history demography religion and quantitative methods It is a microanalysis of an English population at the level of the Anglican parish during the era of the evangelical revival which includes unusually Protestant dissenters from the Established church in this case Particular Baptists who were moderate Calvinists It goes a step beyond previous studies by giving Anglicans and Dissenters co equal status in a comparative demographic analysis and by demonstrating how religious values informed procreative activity It does so through a combination of advanced statistical methodologies and an innovative treatment of data collection forms as readable texts The study concludes that the likelihood of another birth increased following a religious conversion experience especially among both Anglican and Baptist wives following marriage Mortality too had a less constraining effect on procreative activity which in conformity with the English experience was driven largely by fertility

Social development: equity and progress for the Roma population Corina Cace,2022-06-01 The book highlights regional specificities in terms of employment education vocational training regarding the situation of the Roma population The present study starts with an analysis about the development context in four development regions in southern Romania South East South Muntenia South West Oltenia and Bucharest Ilfov The role of contextualisation is to outline the modalities of intervention through applied projects that contribute to increasing access to the labour market for the Roma population Are these measures effective and responsive to the needs of the Roma population or does the lack of appropriateness to the specificity of the population lead to poor results The evaluative research tries to offer explanations about how training courses for the Roma minority are carried out and their results This approach has focussed on vocational training as an important element of access to the labour market and how in the same time vocational and continuing training might be the foundation for finding quality jobs Education and vocational training are the key factors for social improvement seen as one of the few opportunities with potential for success for example qualifications for as many Roma as possible coherent programmes for basic education and Roma specific jobs The findings show that an integrated approach is the desirable way that contributes to increasing the chances of labour market inclusion and therefore to the social development of Roma communities in Romania
