Porcelain of the Nineteenth Century Antoinette Fay-Hallé, Barbara Mundt, 1983 Hand Painted Porcelain Plates Richard Rendall, Elise Abrams, 2003 Over 675 color photos display lovely portraits romantic landscapes and city scenes still life paintings and floral arrangements on 19th and 20th century hand painted porcelain plates from England and Europe by Davenport TM Doulton TM Camille Le Tallec TM Meissen TM Minton TM Sevres TM and Wedgwood TM Histories of the makers their marks and an index make this a useful reference Current values are found in the captions 18th and 19th Century Porcelain Analysis Howell G. M. Edwards, 2020-07-13 This book addresses the contributions made by analytical chemistry to the characterisation of 18th and early 19th Century English and Welsh porcelains commencing with the earliest reports of Sir Arthur Church and of Herbert Eccles and Bernard Rackham using chemical digestion techniques and concluding with the most recent instrumental experiments which together span more than a hundred years of study From the earliest experiments which required necessarily the sacrifice of significant portions of each specimen which may already have been damaged to the latest experiments which needed only microsampling or the non destructive interrogation of valuable perfect specimens a comprehensive survey is undertaken of more than twenty manufactories of quality porcelains The correlation is made between the quantitative elemental oxide determinations of the scanning electron microscopic diffraction and X-ray fluorescence data and the qualitative molecular spectroscopic Raman data to demonstrate their complementarity and use in the holistic forensic assessment of the origin of the fired porcelains this will form the groundwork for the adoption of analytical techniques for the attribution of unknown or questionable porcelains to their potential source factories The book will also examine the perception of what constitutes a porcelain and its definitions and examines the assignment of porcelains to types which currently employs the definitions of hard paste soft paste hybrid magnesian and bone china from the conclusions derived from the analytical data and a consideration of the raw materials employed in their manufacturing processes During the discussion of this analytical evidence several themes and protocols have been established for its utilisation in the potential identification of porcelains and several case studies undertaken for this purpose are cited The book will be of interest to analytical scientists to museum ceramics curators and to ceramics historians Nineteenth Century English Pottery and Porcelain Sotheby & Co. Berlin-Brandenburg, 2007 The exhibition catalogue shows for the first time neo classical porcelain from the New York Twilight Collection The private collection focuses on royal porcelain manufactured in the early 19th century in Vienna Berlin and S vres Single pieces and whole ensembles illuminate the artistic and technical exchange that existed between the manufacturers Accumulated with great enthusiasm but without noise over the last fifteen years the Twilight Collection has grown to be an extensive collection of priceless neo classical porcelain with royal provenance almost all objects were gifts to kings and emperors Texts written by international experts draw on a large selection of original sources from the manufacturers in Vienna Berlin and S vres much of which is pictured or documented in writing The essays examine the exchange of sample pieces the sharing of motifs and the surprisingly open correspondence between the directors regarding raw materials recepies and technique Numerous design sketches embellish the rich selection of illustrations in the catalogue many of which display astonishingly intricate gold leaf work and hyper real cameos depicting busts flower bouquets landscapes nudes horse races and other scenes like James Cook s discovery of the ice islands The catalogue contains six separate contributions along with an appendix with inventory and reference lists and an index of persons Publisher *China
