War Andrea Hetherington,2021-07-07 The story of First World War deserters who were shot at dawn then pardoned nearly a century later has often been told but these 306 soldiers represent a tiny proportion of deserters More than 80 000 cases of desertion and absence were tried at courts martial on the home front but these soldiers have been ignored Andrea Hetherington in this thought provoking and meticulously researched account sets the record straight by describing the deserters who disappeared from camps and barracks within Great Britain at an alarming rate She reveals how they employed a range of survival strategies some ridding themselves of all connection with the military while others hid in plain sight Their reasons for desertion varied Some were already living a life of crime whilst others were conscientious objectors who refused naval port to provide a basis for comparison of the differing approaches taken to combat the influenza outbreaks throughout Ulster Contemporary opinion was that Ireland was considerably less affected by the war than the rest of the UK but this book shows that the war did have a significant influence on how the influenza pandemic impacted on the Irish population from an economic social and medical point of view The book also explores the immediate aftermath of the pandemic and how it influenced the Irish response to the influenza scare of 1920 and the viral pandemic of Encephalitis Lethargica which was prevalent for ten years after 1918 as well as discussing what if any lessons learnt from 1918 have been applied to the present day outbreak of Covid 19 This book will be of interest to academics in economic history social history Irish history and pandemic history and those studying the effects of pandemics on the economy health provision and pandemic preparedness
