Portal Hypertension Kunio Okuda, Jean-Pierre Benhamou, 2013-11-09 Portal hypertension is the abnormal pathophysiologic state that develops in liver cirrhosis and certain other disorders with characteristic clinical and hemodynamic features There has been great progress in our understanding and management of portal hypertension particularly in the diagnostic and therapeutic approaches The so called Banti's syndrome a disorder whose existence had long been questioned is now a well defined portal hypertensive disease The recently introduced Doppler flowmetry is currently yielding new information on portal hemodynamics Endoscopic sclerotherapy and beta blockers have come to be widely used in the management and prevention of variceal bleeding In spite of all these advances a number of unsolved questions remain such as whether sclerotherapy pharmacotherapy or surgery is warranted for prevention of bleeding which is more effective as an elective treatment the surgical or endoscopic approach and whether surgical portacaval shunt should be totally replaced by selective shunt operations These new developments and problems are clearly and comprehensively described and discussed by the foremost authorities in 44 chapters which are divided into five sections 1 Pathophysiology 2 Hemodynamic Investigations 3 Imaging Investigations 4 Clinical and Pathological Features and 5 Esophageal and Gastrointestinal Bleeding The primary goal of this monograph to provide a framework of pathophysiology of portal hypertension with authoritative descriptions of the clinical and laboratory manifestations of various portal hypertensive disorders has clearly been achieved by these excellent contributions
