the 21st Century R.J. Groszmann, J. Bosch, 2011-06-27 Portal hypertension is the most important complication of a great variety of both acute and chronic liver diseases. Nevertheless, hepatic cirrhosis is the most frequent cause of portal hypertension. Gastrointestinal bleeding due to rupture of oesophageal varices is without doubt the most severe complication of portal hypertension. At present, great advances are being made in the pathophysiology and in the development of new therapeutic tools for controlling and preventing this severe clinical event. This book contains the papers presented and discussed during the Symposium on Portal Hypertension in the 21st Century held in Montreal, Canada, in April 2004 and sponsored by Axcan Pharma Inc and NicOx S.A. There are eight sections covering basic mechanisms, new drugs, prevention and current treatment of variceal bleeding, prevention of recurrent bleeding and hepatic hemodynamic monitoring. An international faculty of authors have contributed chapters at an outstanding scientific level which will be vital reading for scientists and clinicians alike. Diagnostic Methods for Cirrhosis and Portal Hypertension Annalisa Berzigotti, Jaime Bosch, 2018-03-23 This book provides a unique up-to-date and comprehensive overview of the most important diagnostic methods available for assessing liver cirrhosis and portal hypertension. The book covers all the significant advances made in the last 10 years in HVPG and biopsy interpretation, imaging and elastography. This is a unique and well-structured book authored by senior experts in the field, aimed at providing updated knowledge to the hepatology specialist and to the physicians interested in chronic liver disease. The book starts by giving an overview of the disease, outlining the clinical needs in this field; this is followed by detailed information both on the invasive gold standard methods, HVPG measurement, liver biopsy, endoscopy, and on the standard and emerging non-invasive methods, including serum markers of fibrosis, ultrasound elastography, magnetic resonance elastography, ultrasound contrast-enhanced ultrasound, CT, magnetic resonance, and derived methods, dynamic flow assessment. The final part of the book is devoted to diagnostic tests in non-cirrhotic causes of portal hypertension: Budd-Chiari Syndrome, Portal vein thrombosis, idiopathic portal hypertension, etc., and in pediatric portal hypertension. Written by a team of worldwide opinion leaders, this book pays special attention to the most promising novel non-invasive methods in the field. Interventional and Therapeutic Gastrointestinal Endoscopy Klaus Mönkemüller, C. Mel Wilcox, Miguel Muñoz-Navas, 2010 The aim of this book is to present a concise yet instructive overview of the most common interventional and therapeutic gastrointestinal endoscopic procedures. Although there exists a large amount of literature dealing with therapeutic endoscopy, this publication stands out for several reasons. To begin with, it has been written by a highly selected group of international experts who contribute their own tried and tested tips and tricks. The various techniques are described in a homogeneous fashion, making it easy for the endoscopist to single out the important aspects for his or her own practice. Moreover, the data presented follows evidence-based guidelines but does not inundate the reader with confusing facts and numbers. Finally, the book is illustrated like an atlas, featuring real-life pictures enhanced by explanatory drawings and algorithms. This textbook is directed at residents, fellows, gastroenterologists, and surgeons.

Bleeding Joseph J. Y. Sung, Ernst Kuipers, Alan Barkun, 2012-02-06 There have been many advances in the management of this condition since the first edition of Gastrointestinal Bleeding. This new edition, thoroughly revised and restructured, includes the latest updates on all areas of the field of GI Bleeding, systematically covering all the areas of the GI tract from upper GI to lower GI through to small bowel bleeding. It fully covers the different types of bleeding that can occur from peptic ulcer through to variceal bleeding and looks at new developments and pioneering techniques in the field, including endoscopy and balloon enteroscopy. A methodology section describes the latest design of clinical trials in GI bleeding and this edition now highlights the new guidelines on UGIB. Upper gastrointestinal bleeding. This new edition of Gastrointestinal Bleeding is an invaluable purchase for all gastroenterologists both in training and fully qualified. Upper Gastrointestinal Bleeding, An issue of Gastroenterology Clinics of North America Ian M. Gralnek, 2014-11-07 This issue of Gastroenterology Clinics of North America is all about acute upper GI bleeding and is divided into two distinct sections. Section I is devoted to nonvariceal upper GI bleeding and section II is devoted to variceal upper GI bleeding. Acute nonvariceal upper GI bleeding may originate from the esophagus, stomach or duodenum, essentially anywhere proximal to the Ligament of Treitz. In Section I, Dr Gianluca Rotondano, Hospital Maresca Torre del Greco, Italy, begins with a review of the epidemiology and diagnosis of acute nonvariceal upper GI bleeding. We then turn to patient presentation, risk stratification and how to initially medically manage these bleeding patients. I am pleased to have one of our emergency medicine colleagues, Dr Andrew Meltzer, Department of Emergency Medicine, George Washington University, contribute this important article and provide a unique viewpoint from the emergency department where most of these patients initially present. As we all know, endoscopic hemostasis is the accepted standard of care for patients with acute nonvariceal upper GI bleeding. Moreover, peptic ulcer bleeding is the most common nonvariceal cause of acute upper GI bleeding; thus, Drs Yidan Lu, Yen I Chen and Alan Barkun from McGill University, Montreal, Canada, provide an in-depth review of the endoscopic management of peptic ulcer bleeding. Drs Eric Tjwa, Lisanne Holster and Ernst Kuipers from the Erasmus Medical Center, University Hospital, Rotterdam, The Netherlands, review the endoscopic management of all other causes of acute nonvariceal upper GI bleeding and, in addition, Drs Louis Wong Kee Song and Michael Levy from the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, discuss emerging endoscopic hemostasis treatments such as topical sprays and over the scope clipping devices Although endoscopic hemostasis is very highly effective there are unfortunately cases where bleeding is unable to be controlled or when significant rebleeding occurs that is not amenable to endoscopic therapy Therefore I have included two articles that provide insight into the question what if endoscopic hemostasis fails The first article written by Drs Philip Wai Yan Chiu and James Yun Wong Lau from Prince of Wales Hospital The Chinese University of Hong Kong focuses on tried and true surgical treatment options The second article by Dr Sujal Nanavati University of California at San Francisco Department of Radiology and Biomedical Imaging addresses the alternative treatment strategy of angiographic embolization which has now emerged as the often preferred salvage treatment strategy
