few decades a group of writers we might call the Thinking and Singing poets have stood at the forefront of poetry in Canada. These five poets: Dennis Lee, Don McKay, Robert Bringhurst, Jan Zwicky, and Tim Lilburn are major voices in an era of ecological devastation and spiritual unease. Their diverse questioning work suggests new ways to confront some of the most pressing issues of our time. In vibrant prose, Mark Dickinson explores the relationship between the lives of these poets and their writing, examining their intersecting careers and friendships and the ways they learned from and challenged one another. Canadian Primal uses an unconventional approach, blending biography with literary analysis and drawing from meetings and correspondence with each poet over many years to trace the people and events that inspired the creation of important texts. Dickinson tracks how each of the writers arrived at poetry as a way of being and at the heart of their poetics; he finds both a musical intelligence and the crucial importance of the land. Canadian Primal is literary biography reconceived as an adventure of the mind, body, and spirit. Ebullient, intelligent, and eminently readable, it reminds us that we can live on the earth in a different way, true to the defining experiences of our lives, surrounded by meaning and presence beyond our imagining.

A Tour Through Canada, 1884. A Polar Dictionary. Bernadette Hince, 2025-07-08. This ice-breaking book collects the English words of the Antarctic and the Arctic for the first time. These words relate to weather, ice, and snow, auroras, clothes, food, housing, social structures, wildlife, plants, politics, as well as many other aspects of polar life. The terms are presented with scientific precision, a helpful interpretative commentary, and moments of irresponsible whimsy. Apart from Antarctica and the Arctic, the regions covered here stretch to places as remote as the Faroe Islands, Iceland, Tristan da Cunha, and the Falkland Islands.
