Passionate Detachments Amy Rust,2017-05-24 Passionate Detachments investigates the rise of graphic violence in American films of the late 1960s and early 1970s and the popular aesthetics and critical responses this violence inspired Amy Rust examines four technologies adopted by commercial American cinema after the fall of the Hollywood Production Code multiple camera montage squibs small explosive devices and artificial blood freeze frames and zooms Approaching these technologies as figures as opposed to mere tools Rust traces the encounters they mediate between perception what one sees hears and feels and representation how those sights sounds and feelings make meaning These technologies she argues lend shape to film violence while organizing viewers on and off screen relationships to it The result proves meaningful for an era self consciously and perilously preoccupied with bloodshed The post Code period found Americans across the political spectrum demanding visual and increasingly violent demonstrations of presumably authentic realities Corroborating fantasies of authenticity from military to counterculture these technologies challenge them as well pointing however unwittingly to the violently classed gendered and racialized blind spots such fantasies harbor More broadly the technologies answer concerns that films control violence too much or too little Offering neither mere discourse nor mere thrills they recover sense and sensation for all not some or even most depictions of bloodshed As figures the devices also remediate vision and violence for film theory which exhibits distrust for each in spite of the complexities phenomenology and psychoanalysis have brought to cinematic perception and pleasure

Basque Cinema Rob Stone,Maria Pilar Rodriguez,2015-09-29 Cinema has always been a vital medium for articulating the Basque region's unique identity and politics The first definitive study of Basque cinema this book provides a systematic analysis of the key Basque films directors and cinematic institutions Its narrative moves from the romanticised Basque Country travelogues of Pathe to the coded oppositional aesthetics of Franco era films from the post Franco new wave supported by regional government funding to the boom in auteurist cinema during the 1980s and 1990s It also charts the contemporary impact of the film institute Basque Filmoteca and television channel Euskal Telebista in producing and disseminating Basque language films Based on archival research close readings of films and in depth interviews with influential figures in the Basque film scene this book is essential reading for world film scholars and cultural historians The Savage Cinema [microform] : Transcendence in the Film of Terror William Henry Rockett,1988 Italian Horror Cinema Stefano Baschiera,2016-06-14 This collection brings together for the first time a range of contributions aimed at a new understanding of the Italian horror cinema genre Australian National Cinema Tom O'Regan,2005-08-10 Tom O'Regan's book is the first of its kind on Australian post war cinema It takes as its starting point Bazin's question What is cinema and asks what the construct of a national cinema means It looks at the broader concept from a different angle taking film beyond the confines of art into the broader cultural world O'Regan's analysis situates Australian cinema in its historical and cultural perspective producing a valuable insight into the issues that have been raised by film policy the cinema market place and public discourse on film production strategies Since 1970 Australian film has enjoyed a revival This book contains detailed critiques of the key films of this period and uses them to illustrate the recent theories on the international and Australian cinema industries Its conclusions on the nature of the nation's cinema and the discourses within it are relevant within a far wider context film as a global phenomenon Red, White & Black Frank B. Wilderson III,2010-03-19 Red White one by an Indian director Skins Chris Eyre and one by a White director Monster's Ball Marc Foster These films present Red and Black people beleaguered by problems such as homelessness and the repercussions of incarceration They portray social turmoil in terms of conflict as problems that can be solved at least theoretically if not in the given narratives Wilderson maintains that at the narrative level they fail to recognize that the turmoil is based not in conflict but in fundamentally irreconcilable racial antagonisms Yet as he explains those antagonisms are unintentionally disclosed in the films non narrative strategies in decisions regarding matters such as lighting camera angles and sound The Routledge Companion to New Cinema History Daniel Biltereyst,Richard Maltby,Philippe Meers,2019-02-05 The Routledge Companion to New Cinema History presents the most recent approaches and methods in the study of the social experience of cinema from its origins in vaudeville and traveling exhibitions to the multiplexes of today Exploring its history from the perspective of the cinemagoer the study of new cinema history examines the circulation and consumption of cinema the political and legal structures that underpinned its activities the place that it occupied in the lives of its audiences and the traces that it left in their memories Using a broad range of methods from the statistical analyses of box office economics to ethnography oral history and memory studies this approach has brought about an undisputable change in how we study cinema and the questions we ask about its history This companion examines the place space and practices of film exhibition and programming the questions of gender and ethnicity within the cinematic experience and the ways in which audiences gave meaning to cinemagoing practices specific films stars and venues and its operation as a site of social and cultural exchange from Detroit and Laredo to Bandung and Chennai Contributors demonstrate how the digitization of source materials and the use of digital research tools have enabled them to map previously unexplored aspects of cinema s business and social history and undertake comparative analysis of the diversity of the social experience of cinema across regional national and continental boundaries With contributions from leading scholars in the field The Routledge Companion to New Cinema History enlarges and refines our understanding of cinema s place in the social history of the twentieth century
