Saving The Fragments From Auschwitz To New York:

Saving the Fragments Isabella Leitner, 1986-10      Transcending Boundaries Sandra L. Beckett, 2013-10-11

Transcending Boundaries Writing for a Dual Audience of Children and Adults is a collection of essays on twentieth century authors who cross the borders between adult and children's literature and appeal to both audiences. This collection of fourteen essays by scholars from eight countries constitutes the first book devoted to the art of crosswriting the child and adult in twentieth century international literature. Sandra Beckett explores the multifaceted nature of crossover literature and the diverse ways in which writers cross the borders to address a dual readership of children and adults. It considers classics such as Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Pinocchio with particular emphasis on post World War II literature. The essays in Transcending Boundaries clearly suggest that crossover literature is a major widespread trend that appears to be sharply on the rise.

Holocaust Literature: Agosin to Lentin S. Lillian Kremer, 2003. Review. This encyclopedia offers an authoritative and comprehensive survey of the important writers and works that form the literature about the Holocaust and its consequences. The collection is alphabetically arranged and consists of high quality biocritical essays on 309 writers who are first, second, and third generation survivors or important thinkers and spokespersons on the Holocaust. An essential literary reference work, this publication is an important addition to the genre and a solid value for public and academic libraries. The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004.

Reading Auschwitz Mary Deane Lagerwey, 1998. Examines Holocaust memoirs by six survivors of Auschwitz: Jean Amery, Charlotte Delbo, Fania Fenelon, Szymon Laks, Primo Levi, and Sara Nomberg Przytyk. Shows how gender, profession, nationality, ethnicity, the status of each of them in the camp, etc., color their personal stories. Reflects on the chaos of Auschwitz and on the role of the grotesque in the survivors' narratives. Compares these six narratives to those by Anne Frank and Eli Wiesel. Pp 161-166 contain a list of book-length memoirs of Auschwitz published in English.

Writing Our Lives Steven Joel Rubin, 1991. Twenty-eight selections from the writings of some of the best known American Jewish novelists, dramatists, critics, and historians span the social and cultural history of American Jews in the twentieth century. Often joyous, occasionally tragic, they provide a fascinating record from immigration to assimilation, from life in the ghetto to the current movement by many to recapture their Jewish identity. At once personal and historical, the selections are poignant and moving testimonies to the perseverance of the American Jewish people.

My Mother's Voice Adrienne Kertzer, 2001-12-11. Named Honor Book of the Year by the Children's Literature Association. Winner 2003 Canadian Jewish Book Award for scholarship on a Jewish subject. Finalist 2003 Alberta Book Awards. Scholarly Book of the Year. How do children's books represent the Holocaust? How do such books negotiate the tension between the desire to protect children and the commitment to tell children the truth about the world? If Holocaust representations in children's books respect the narrative conventions of hope and happy endings, how do they differ, if at all, from popular representations intended for adult audiences? And where does innocence lie if the children's fable of Roberto Benigni's Life is Beautiful is marketed for adults and far more troubling survivor memoirs such as Anita Lobel's No Pretty Pictures: A Child of War are marketed for children. How should Holocaust Studies integrate discourse about children's literature into its discussions? In approaching these and other questions, Kertzer uses the lens of children's literature to problematize the ways in which various adult discourses represent the Holocaust and continually challenges the conventional belief that children's literature is the place for easy answers and optimistic lessons.

The Future Jew Michael Carin, 2001
Views the Holocaust as a pivotal event in history and concludes that God does not exist. Argues for a secular humanistic Judaism of the future. Jew Holocaust memory is central to this vision which aims at preventing another holocaust or any other genocide. Presents an example of a Holocaust seder and stresses that every day should be Holocaust Day. States that antisemitism is a constant in history and despite the utopian rationality and science-based humanism espoused, expresses a commitment to cut off the hands of any antisemitism that threatens before it can harm the Jews. This combination of humanism and perpetual memorializing of the Holocaust is seen as giving some redemptive meaning to the Holocaust. Much attention is paid to arguing that God's failure to save the Jews proves His non-existence.

Teaching and Studying the Holocaust Samuel Totten, Stephen Feinberg, 2009-11-01
Originally Published in 2000 by Allyn Ida E. King. Distinguished Visitor, Professor of Holocaust Studies, Richard Stockton College and Former Director of Research at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. There are many scholars who are wont to criticize the teaching of the Holocaust. Many journalists critique what they regard as kitsch or trendiness. All critics of contemporary Holocaust education would do well to read this book. One cannot fail to be impressed by the quality of its learning and the seriousness of its purpose. It is a wonderful place for teachers to turn as they contemplate teaching the Holocaust: an open invitation to learn more and teach more effectively.

Barry van Driel, Coordinator, International Teacher Education, Anne Frank House, Amsterdam.
Teaching and Studying the Holocaust is an invaluable resource for any teacher wanting to address the complex and sometimes overwhelming history of the Holocaust in the classroom. The book offers a multitude of sensitive and responsible ways of dealing with the issue of the Holocaust. It succeeds in showing teachers very clearly how the study of the Holocaust is not just a topic for history teachers but for teachers across the curriculum.

Dr. Nili Keren Kibbutzim, College of Education, Tel Aviv, Israel.
Teaching about the Shoah is one of the most complicated tasks for educators. Indeed, teaching and studying this history raises unprecedented questions concerning modern civilization and presents teachers and students with tremendous challenges. Samuel Totten and Stephen Feinberg have created a volume that provides educators with essential information and new insights regarding the teaching of this history and in doing so they assist educators to face the aforementioned challenges head-on. Teaching and Studying the Holocaust does not make the task easier but it does make it possible.

Samuel Totten is currently professor of Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville. Prior to entering academia, he was an English and social studies teacher in Australia, Israel, California, and at the U.S. House of Representatives.

Page School in Washington D C Totten is also editor of Teaching Holocaust Literature published by Allyn Bacon Stephen Feinberg is currently the Special Assistant for Education Programs in the National Institute for Holocaust Education at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum With Samuel Totten he was co editor of a special issue Teaching the Holocaust of Social Education the official journal of the National Council for the Social Studies For eighteen years he was a history and social studies teacher in the public schools of Wayland MA A Resource Book for Educators ,1995 Children with a Star Deborah Dwork,1991-01-01 The book is based on hundreds of oral histories conducted in Europe and North America with survivors who were children in the Holocaust primary documentation uncovered by the author including diaries letters photographs and family albums and archival records Drawing on these sources Dwork reveals the feeling daily activities and perceptions of Jewish children who lived and died in the shadow of Holocaust She reconstructs and analyzes the many different experiences the children faced In the early years of Nazi domination they lived at home increasingly oppressed by rising anti Semitism Later some went into hiding while others attempted to live openly on gentile papers As time passed more and more were forced into transit camps ghettos and death and slave labour camps Although nearly 90 percent of the Jewish children in Nazi Europe were murdered we learn in this history not of their deaths but of the circumstances of their lives Against All Odds William B. Helmreich,2017-07-05 Against All Odds is the first comprehensive look at the 140 000 Jewish Holocaust survivors who came to America and the lives they have made here William Helmreich writes of their experiences beginning with their first arrival in the United States the mixed reactions they encountered from American Jews who were not always eager to receive them their choices about where to live in America and their efforts in finding marriage partners with whom they felt most comfortable most often other survivors In preparation Helmreich spent more than six years traveling the United States listening to the personal stories of hundreds of survivors and examining more than 15 000 pages of data as well as new material from archives that have never before been available to create this remarkable groundbreaking work What emerges is a picture that is sharply different from the stereotypical image of survivors as people who are chronically depressed anxious and fearful This intimate enlightening work explores questions about prevailing over hardship and adversity how people who have gone through such experiences pick up the threads of their lives where they obtain the strength and spirit to go on and finally what lessons the rest of us can learn about overcoming tragedy

Voicing the Void Sara R. Horowitz,1997-02-20 Explores the connections between muteness and the complicated acts of survival testimony memory and interpretation through focused readings of Holocaust fiction by Kosinski Wiesel Tournier Ida Fink and others Comparative Central European Holocaust Studies Louise Olga Vasvári,Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek,2009 The work presented in the volume in fields of the humanities and social sciences is based on 1 the notion of the existence and the describability and analysis of a culture including e g history literature society the arts etc specific of to the region designated as Central Europe 2 the relevance of a field designated as Central European Holocaust studies and 3 the relevance in the study of culture of the comparative and contextual approach designated as comparative cultural studies Papers in the volume are by scholars working in Holocaust Studies in Australia Germany Hungary Israel Serbia the United Kingdom and the US      Holocaust ,1998 A resource guide a comprehensive listing of media for further study      After the Girls Club Carole Bell Ford,2010-06-22 After World War II the Girls Club of Brooklyn New York became both home and safe haven to orphaned teenagers who were Holocaust survivors They are a small group but taken together these women s stories represent the broad range of experiences that most Jews suffered during and after the Holocaust Some endured the ghettos and camps Some survived in hiding with partisans or in the remote far eastern reaches of the Soviet Union Consequently this collective personal history enriched with relevant information about places people events and issues tells not only their story but also the story of tens of thousands of child survivors The work of scholars from various disciplines and genres provides background information and historical detail as this book traces the women s experiences from their childhood days in pre war Europe to the present Contrary to what early literature on child survivors predicted they built successful lives in America

Inscribing the Other Sander L. Gilman,1991-01-01 Inscribing the Other focuses on great authors who have by birth or choice or both found themselves outside the mainstream of their culture but who have still wished to address it Goethe Freud Wilde Heine Nietzsche and Isaac Bashevis Singer among others In thirteen probing provocative essays Sander L Gilman reinterprets their writing as it reveals their efforts to come to terms with their real or imagined sense of difference The chapters treat many themes and problems ranging widely from the romantic notion of the transcendent artist to the twentieth century artists in exile and employing the perspectives of psychiatry aesthetics photography politics and the history of mentalities The fate of Jewish writers in modern Germany or of Yiddish writers whose language is devalued in European culture is explored The theme of difference and its artistic and intellectual manifestations runs throughout the book which includes discussions of Goethe s and Wilde s homosexuality Nietzsche s madness Heine s refusal to be photographed and Primo Levi s internment at Auschwitz as well as an interview with Singer In a frank autobiographical introduction Gilman attempts to understand his own writing as an exercise in inscribing the Other in dealing with is own sense of difference through artistic creation

Jewish Translation - Translating Jewishness Magdalena Waligórska,Tara Kohn,2018-05-22 This interdisciplinary volume looks at one of the central cultural practices within the Jewish experience translation With contributions from literary and cultural scholars historians and scholars of religion the book considers different aspects of Jewish translation starting from the early translations of the Torah to the modern Jewish experience of migration state building and life in the Diaspora The volume addresses the question of how Jews have used translation to pursue different cultural and political agendas such as Jewish nationalism the development of Yiddish as a literary language and the collection of Holocaust testimonies It also addresses how non Jews have translated elements of the Judaic tradition to create an image of the Other Covering a wide span of contexts including religion literature photography music and folk practices and featuring an interview section with authors and translators the volume will be of interest not only to scholars of Jewish studies translation and cultural studies but also a wider interested audience      On Listening to Holocaust Survivors Henry Greenspan,1998-09-30 How do Holocaust survivors find words and voice for their memories of terror and loss This landmark book presents striking new insights into the process of recounting the Holocaust While other studies have been based typically on single interviews with survivors this work summarizes twenty years of the author s interviews and reinterviews with the same core group In this book therefore survivors recounting is approached not as one time testimony but as an ongoing deepening conversation Listening to survivors so intensively we hear much that we have not heard before We learn for example how survivors perceive us their listeners and the impact of listeners on what survivors do in fact retell We meet the survivors themselves as distinct individuals each with his or her specific style and voice As we directly follow their efforts to recount we see how Holocaust memories challenge their words even now burdening survivors speech distorting it and sometimes fully consuming it It is not a story insisted one survivor about his memories It has to be made a story On Listening to Holocaust Survivors shows us both the ways survivors can make stories for the not story they remember and just as important the ways they are not able to do so      Women and Gender in Central and Eastern Europe, Russia, and Eurasia Mary Zirin,Irina Livezeanu,Christine D. Worobec,June Pachuta Farris,2015-03-26 This is the first comprehensive multidisciplinary and multilingual bibliography on Women and Gender in East Central Europe and the Balkans Vol 1 and The Lands of the Former Soviet Union Vol 2 over the past millennium The coverage encompasses the relevant territories of the Russian Hapsburg and Ottoman empires Germany and Greece and the Jewish and Roma diasporas Topics range from legal status and marital customs to economic participation and gender roles plus unparalleled documentation of women writers and artists and autobiographical works of all kinds The volumes include approximately 30 000 bibliographic entries on works published through the end of 2000 as well as web sites and unpublished dissertations Many of the individual entries are annotated with brief descriptions of major works and the tables of contents for collections and anthologies The entries are cross referenced and each volume includes indexes      A Directory of Holocaust Materials in Maine Libraries Nann Blaine Hilyard,1987
