Science and Religion Around the World John Hedley Brooke,Ronald L.

Numbers,2011-01-11 The past quarter century has seen an explosion of interest in the history of science and religion But all too often the scholars writing it have focused their attention almost exclusively on the Christian experience with only passing reference to other traditions of both science and faith At a time when religious ignorance and misunderstanding have lethal consequences such provincialism must be avoided and in this pioneering effort to explore the historical relations of what we now call science and religion the authors go beyond the Abrahamic traditions to examine the way nature has been understood and manipulated in regions as diverse as ancient China India and sub Saharan Africa Science and Religion around the World also provides authoritative discussions of science in Judaism Christianity and Islam as well as an exploration of the relationship between science and the loss of religious beliefs The narratives included in this book demonstrate the value of plural perspectives and of the importance of location for the construction and perception of science religion relations The Oxford Encyclopedia of Philosophy, Science, and Technology in Islam Salim Ayduz, 2014 The main reference source for questions of Islamic philosophy science and technology amongst Western engaged readers and academics in general and legal researchers in particular Science in History J. D. Bernal, 2012-10-04 J D Bernal s monumental work Science in History was the first full attempt to analyse the reciprocal relations of science and society throughout history from the perfection of the flint hand axe to the hydrogen bomb In this remarkable study he illustrates the impetus given to and the limitations placed upon discovery and invention by pastoral agricultural feudal capitalist and socialist systems and conversely the ways in which science has altered economic social and political beliefs and practices In this first volume Bernal discusses the nature and method of science before describing its emergence in the Stone Age its full formation by the Greeks and its continuing growth probably influenced from China under Christendom and Islam in the Middle Ages Andrew Brown Bernal s biographer with a nice sense of paradox has said of him he was steeped in history in part because he was always thinking about the future He goes on to say Science in History is an encyclopaedic yet individual and colourful account of the emergence of science from pre historic times There is detailed coverage of the scientific revolution of the Enlightenment the Industrial Age and the first two thirds of the twentieth century The writing flows and is devoid of the tortured idioms that mar so many academic histories of science After reading it it is easy to agree with C P Snow s orotund observation that Bernal was the last man to know science Faber Finds are reissuing the illustrated four volume edition first published by Penguin in 1969 The four volumes are Volume 1 The Emergence of Science Volume 2 The Scientific and Industrial Revolutions Volume 3 The Natural Sciences in Our Time Volume 4 The Social Sciences Conclusion This stupendous work is a magnificent synoptic view of the rise of science and its impact on society which leaves the reader awe struck by Professor Bernal s encyclopaedic knowledge and historical sweep Times Literary Supplement Sorcery or Science? Ariela Marcus-Sells, 2022-03-07 Sorcery or Science examines how two Sufi Muslim theologians who rose to prominence in the western Sahara Desert in the late eighteenth century S di al Mukht r al Kunt d 1811 and his son and successor S di Mu ammad al Kunt d 1826 decisively influenced the development of Sufi Muslim thought in West Africa Known as the Kunta scholars Mukht r al Kunt and Mu ammad al Kunt were influential teachers who developed a pedagogical network of students across the Sahara In exploring their understanding of the realm of the unseen a vast invisible world that is both surrounded and interpenetrated by the visible world Ariela Marcus Sells reveals how these theologians developed a set of practices that depended on knowledge of this unseen world and that allowed practitioners to manipulate the visible and invisible realms They called these practices the sciences of the unseen While they acknowledged that some Muslims particularly self identified white Muslim elites might consider these practices to be sorcery the Kunta scholars argued that these were legitimate Islamic practices Marcus Sells situates their ideas and beliefs within the historical and cultural context of the Sahara Desert surveying the cosmology and metaphysics of the realm of the unseen and the history of magical discourses within the Hellenistic and Arabo Islamic worlds Erudite and innovative this volume connects the Islamic sciences of the unseen with the reception of Hellenistic discourses of magic and proposes a new methodology for reading written devotional aids in historical context It will be welcomed by scholars of magic and specialists in Africana religious studies Islamic occultism and Islamic manuscript culture Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2008-03-12 Here at last is the massively updated and augmented second edition of this landmark encyclopedia It contains approximately 1000 entries dealing in depth with the history of the scientific technological and medical accomplishments of cultures outside of the United States and Europe The entries consist of fully updated articles together with hundreds of entirely new topics This unique reference work includes intercultural articles on broad topics such as mathematics and astronomy as well as thoughtful philosophical articles on concepts and ideas related to the study of non Western Science such as rationality objectivity and method You ll also find material on religion and science East and West and magic and science Encountering Buddhism and Islam in Premodern Central and South Asia Blain Auer, Ingo Strauch, 2019-08-19 This volume brings together a variety of historians epigraphists philologists art historians and archaeologists to address the understanding of the encounter between Buddhist and Muslim communities in South and Central Asia during the medieval period The articles collected here provoke a fresh look at the relevant sources The main areas touched by this new research can be divided into five broad categories deconstructing scholarship on Buddhist Muslim interactions cultural and religious exchanges perceptions of the other transmission of knowledge and trade and economics The subjects covered are wide ranging and demonstrate the vast challenges involved in dealing with historical social cultural and economic frameworks that span Central and South Asia of the premodern world We hope that the results show promise for future research produced on Buddhist and Muslim encounters The intended audience is specialists in Asian Studies Buddhist Studies and Islamic Studies Prognostication in the Medieval World Matthias Heiduk, Klaus Herbers, Hans-Christian Lehner, 2020-11-09 Two opposing views of the future in the Middle Ages dominate recent historical scholarship According to one opinion medieval societies were expecting the near end of the world and therefore had no concept of the future According to the other opinion the expectation of the near end created a drive to change the world for the better and thus for innovation Close inspection of the history of prognostication reveals the continuous attempts and multifold methods to recognize and interpret God's will the prodigies of nature and the patterns of time That proves on the one hand the constant human uncertainty facing the contingencies of the future On the other hand it demonstrates the firm belief during the Middle Ages in a future which could be shaped and even manipulated The handbook provides the first overview of current historical research on medieval prognostication It considers the entangled influences and transmissions between Christian Jewish Islamic and non monotheistic societies during the period from a wide range of perspectives An international team of 63 renowned authors from about a dozen different academic disciplines contributed to this comprehensive overview
