remain tilted to the downside The possibilities of escalating trade protectionism and disorderly financial market movements have increased substantially in recent months and the risk of heightened geopolitical tensions continues to cloud the outlook EMDE policymakers need to rebuild monetary and fiscal policy buffers and be prepared for rising global interest rates and possible episodes of financial market turbulence In the longer run EMDEs need to tackle ongoing structural challenges and boost potential growth by promoting competitiveness adaptability to technological change and trade openness Global Economic Prospects is a World Bank Group Flagship Report that examines global economic developments and prospects with a special focus on emerging market and developing countries on a semiannual basis in January and June The January edition includes in depth analyses of topical policy challenges faced by these economies while the June edition contains shorter analytical pieces

Global Economic Prospects 2007 World Bank,2006 Over the next 25 years developing countries will move to center stage in the global economy Global Economic Prospects 2007 analyzes the opportunities and stresses this will create While rich and poor countries alike stand to benefit the integration process will make more acute stresses already apparent today in income inequality in labor markets and in the environment Over the next 25 years rapid technological progress burgeoning trade in goods and services and integration of financial markets create the opportunity for faster long term growth However some regions notably Africa are at risk of being left behind The coming globalization will also see intensified stresses on the global commons Addressing global warming preserving marine fisheries and containing infectious diseases will require effective multilateral collaboration to ensure that economic growth and poverty reduction proceed without causing irreparable harm to future generations

Global Economic Prospects 2005 World Bank,2005 Global Economic Prospects 2005 ,2004 This annual publication analyses the global and national dimensions of the investment climate for developing countries in terms of the policy and institutional environment This edition examines the growth of regional trade agreements which have risen eight fold in two decades with currently as much as 40 percent of global trade taking place among countries that have some form of reciprocal regional trade agreement Issues discussed include regional trading trends effects of regional agreements on trade creation trade facilitation and services investment intellectual property rights and labour mobility whether the proliferation of agreements poses risks for multilateral trading system and if so options for managing them The report finds that agreements leading to open regionalism that is deeper integration of trade as a result of low external tariffs increased services competition and efforts to reduce cross border and customs delays costs are effective as part of a larger trade strategy to promote growth Although regional agreements can prove beneficial to member countries they can have adverse effects on excluded countries and the lowering of border barriers around the world is crucial to minimising these effects The completion of the Doha Development Agenda by all WTO countries will reduce the risk of trade diversion associated with regional agreements and will decrease trade losses of countries excluded from agreements
