

Semantic Network Models

- Concepts are arranged in networks that represent the way concepts are organized in the mind.
- Any specific network model must explain:
 - what is the relationship between the structure of the network and human thinking or behavior;
 - what are the rules by which representations are constructed within the model;
 - how to derive predictions from the model to different aspects of human behavior.

Chakrabarti, 2008-02-14 The phenomenon of consciousness has always been a central question for philosophers and scientists Emerging in the past decade are new approaches to the understanding of consciousness in a scientific light This book presents a series of essays by leading thinkers giving an account of the current ideas prevalent in the scientific study of consciousness The value of the book lies in the discussion of this interesting though complex subject from different points of view ranging from physics and computer science to the cognitive sciences Reviews of controversial ideas related to the philosophy of mind from western and eastern sources including classical Indian first person methodologies provide a breadth of coverage that has seldom been attempted in a book before Additionally chapters relating to the new approaches in computational modeling of higher order cognitive function and consciousness are included The book is of great value for established as well as young researchers from a wide cross section of interdisciplinary scientific backgrounds aiming to pursue research in this field as well as an informed public Presents the latest developments in the scientific study of consciousness Critically reviews different theoretical and philosophical explanations related to the subject An important book for both students and researchers in designing research projects on consciousness Eastern Philosophies and Psychology: Towards Psychology of Self-Cultivation Yung-Jong Shiah, Kwang-Kuo Hwang, Kin-Tung Yit, 2017-11-29 The publication of this book East Asian Philosophies and Psychology Towards Psychology of Self cultivation signifies an important breakthrough for the indigenization movements of psychology which have happened in many non Western countries since 1980s Viewing from the perspective of scientific revolution Kuhn 1969 when Western paradigms of psychology are transplanted to non Western countries and encounter anomalies which cannot be explained by the imported theories the foreign theories are in a state of crisis waiting for scientific revolution Living Authentically: Daoist Contributions to Modern Psychology Livia Kohn, 2011 Living Authentically brings together classical scholars of Daoism professors of psychology practicing psychologists medical doctors and alternative practitioners to explore different Daoist concepts of the mind and its transformations in relation to various schools of modern psychology The book explores how Daoism can help us live in the world sustaining relationships and educating children in a stress free truly authentic way Book jacket Eastern Religions, Spirituality, and Psychiatry H. Steven Moffic, Rama Rao Gogineni, John R. Peteet, Neil Krishan Aggarwal, Narpinder K. Malhi, Ahmed Hankir, 2024-07-30 This book provides a thorough comprehensive and accessible reference for all the major Eastern faith traditions and their intersection with psychiatry Understanding Eastern religion is of paramount value to all mental health professionals as there is a growing emphasis on religion and spirituality as a part of clinical cultural competence interventions predominantly in North America and Europe Additionally there is rising membership in Eastern Asian and non Semitic faith traditions in North America and Europe Hence more patients and clinicians belong to these non Western faiths than ever before The volume is divided into five parts Part 1 covers general issues including principles of culture religion and spirituality in psychiatry spirituality across the lifespan child rearing practice and faith and how death and dying is approached in these Eastern traditions Part 2 covers specific Eastern religions and spiritual traditions including basic principles and research based clinical aspects of Hinduism Buddhism Sikhism Taoism Zoroastrianism Jainism as well as Confucian philosophical ideas Part 3 attempts to apply the importance of cultural humility to perspectives on the Eastern Traditions from Western Psychiatry These include Christian Muslim and Jewish perspectives not of expertise but of explorations in learning Part 4 covers specific social psychiatric perspectives including the psychiatric harm that can come from caste divisions and cults posing as religions but closes with a perspective on the Eastern connections to the relatively unknown but unifying Omnist perspective All mental health professionals seeking to expand their understanding of the essential belief systems of various Eastern religions and their connection with mental health will find Eastern Religions Spirituality and Psychiatry an invaluable resource Dual-Process Theories of the Social Mind Jeffrey W. Sherman, Bertram Gawronski, Yaacov Trope, 2014-05-09 This volume provides an authoritative synthesis of a dynamic influential area of psychological research. Leading investigators address all aspects of dual process theories: their core assumptions, conceptual foundations, and applications to a wide range of social phenomena. In 38 chapters, the volume addresses the pivotal role of automatic and controlled processes in attitudes and evaluation, social perception, thinking, and reasoning, self-regulation, and the interplay of affect, cognition, and motivation. Current empirical and methodological developments are described. Critiques of the duality approach are explored, and important questions for future research identified.

Cognitive Models and Spiritual Maps Jensine Andresen, Robert K. C. Forman, 2000 This book throws down a challenge to religious studies, offering a multidisciplinary approach including developmental psychology, neuropsychology, philosophy of mind, and anthropology.

MindScience Dalai Lama, Herbert Benson, Robert Thurman, Howard Gardner, Daniel Goleman, 2012-06-25 What is the subtle relationship between mind and body? What can today's scientists learn about this relationship from masters of Buddhist thought? Is it possible that by combining Western and Eastern approaches we can reach a new understanding of the nature of the mind, the human potential for growth, the possibilities for mental and physical health? MindScience explores these and other questions as it documents the beginning of a historic dialogue between modern science and Buddhism. The Harvard Mind Science Symposium brought together the Dalai Lama and authorities from the fields of psychiatry, psychology, neuroscience, and education. Here they examine myriad questions concerning the nature of the mind and its relationship to the body.

Psychology in the Indian Tradition K. Ramakrishna Rao, Anand C. Paranjpe, 2015-09-03 This authoritative volume, written by two well-known psychologist-philosophers, presents a model of the person and its implications for psychological theory and practice. Professors Ramakrishna Rao and Anand Paranjpe draw the contours of Indian psychology, describe the methods of study, explain crucial concepts, and discuss the central ideas and their application, illustrating them with insightful case studies and judicious reviews of available research data and existing scholarly literature. The main theme is organized around the thesis that psychology is the study of the person and that the person is a unique composite of body, mind, and consciousness. The goal of the person is self-realization. Self-realization consists in the realization of one's true self as distinct from the manifest ego, and it is facilitated by cultivating consciousness. Cultivating consciousness leads to a kind of psycho-spiritual symbiosis, resulting in personal transformation, altruistic value orientation, and flowering of the hidden human potential.

Contemporary Psychoanalysis and Eastern Thought John R. Suler, 1993-08-10 This book explores the convergence of psychoanalysis and Asian thought. It explores key theoretical issues: What role does paradox play in psychological transformations? How can the oriental emphasis on attaining no-self be reconciled with the western emphasis on achieving an integrated self? The book also inquires into pragmatic questions concerning the nature of psychological change and the practice of psychotherapy The Taoist I Ching is explored as a framework for understanding the therapeutic process Principles from martial arts philosophy and strategy are applied to clinical work Combining theoretical analyses case studies empirical data literary references and anecdotes this book is intended for researchers as well as clinicians and beginning students as well as scholars Oriental Enlightenment J.J.
