

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a modern building's curved facade. The building features a prominent curved wall with a large, square clock face set into it. The clock has a light-colored face with dark hands and hour markers. Below the clock, there are two small, yellow, square decorative elements. The building's facade is composed of various materials, including what appears to be polished metal or stone, reflecting the surrounding environment. The overall aesthetic is one of mid-20th-century modernism.
