Alona Nitzan-Shifan,2017-05-30 After seizing Jerusalem s eastern precincts from Jordan at the conclusion of the Six Day War in 1967 Israel unilaterally unified the city and plunged into an ambitious building program eager to transform the very meaning of one of the world s most emotionally charged urban spaces The goal was as simple as it was controversial to both Judaize and modernize Jerusalem Seizing Jerusalem chronicles how numerous disciplines including architecture landscape design and urban planning as well as everyone from municipal politicians to state bureaucrats from Israeli born architects to international luminaries such as Louis Kahn Buckminster Fuller and Bruno Zevi competed to create Jerusalem s new image This decade long competition happened with the Palestinian residents still living in the city even as the new image was inspired by the city s Arab legacy The politics of space in the Holy City still contested today were shaped in this post 1967 decade not only by the legacy of the war and the politics of dispossession but curiously also by emerging trends in postwar architectural culture Drawing on previously unexamined archival documents and in depth interviews with architects planners and politicians Alona Nitzan Shifan analyzes the cultural politics of the Israeli state and in particular of Jerusalem s influential mayor Teddy Kollek whose efforts to legitimate Israeli rule over Jerusalem provided architects a unique real world laboratory to explore the possibilities and limits of modernist design as built form as well as political and social action Seizing Jerusalem reveals architecture as an active agent in the formation of urban and national identity and demonstrates how contemporary debates about Zionism and the crisis within the discipline of architecture over postwar modernism affected Jerusalem s built environment in ways that continue to resonate today Modern Architecture in Israel Michael Levin,2006-08 Written by one of the greatest experts of modern Israeli art and architecture this book provides a chronological overview of Israel s most significant architectural phases offering a critical appraisal and a detailed reading of some of the most important works the colonial architecture of the early 20th century the foundation of Tel Aviv in the 1920s and the post war Brutalist international phase This gave way in the late 1960s to a more autonomous period of development in which urban architecture restoration and territorial planning acquired greater importance under the influence of a new generation of Israeli designers This complete survey covers a range of themes including West meets East laboratory of the

Jerusalem Architecture David Kroyanker, 1994 One of Israel's leading city planners provides a pictorial and textual survey of the Holy City's architecture it explores the old City's history and carries the reader through the ages via its architectural Opulence the city is filled with one of a kind properties which exclude it from definition in terms of traditional urban expression Jerusalem Moshe Safdie, 1989 Modern Architecture in Israel Michael Levin, 2001-07-03 Until now only partial studies and monographs have traced the history of Israeli architecture and no one has ever attempted a unitary interpretation of such a complex cultural and political phenomenon The troubled history of this land has moved parallel with the evolution of autonomous creative experiences and at the same time strongly linked to the roots of the intellectuals and architects who immigrated there a laboratory sensitive to the international debate and at the same time a window opened onto Middle Eastern culture and its stimuli The unique feature of the Israeli phenomenon lies in the creative contribution offered by a wide variety of artists from faraway contexts and the image of the cities reflects this conditions with design input ranging from Mendelsohn to Harrison from Philip Johnson to Louis Kahn Fredrick Kiesler Oskar Niemeyer and Mario Botta This volume written by one of the greatest experts on modern Israeli art and architecture chronologically follows the most significant phases positioning them critically and offering a detailed interpretation of some of the most significant works from the colonial architecture of the early 1990s to the foundation of Tel Aviv in the twenties and the experiment with white cities under the Bauhaus influence to the postwar brutalist and international phase that would decline in the late sixties in a period of more autonomous elaboration in which city architecture restoration and territorial design acquired greater importance under the influence of a new generation of Israeli designers from Moshe Safdie to Zvi Ecker The book is introduced by two essays by Teddy Kollek and Alexander Tzonis Israel as a Modern Architectural Experimental Lab, 1948-1978 Inbal Ben-Asher Gitler, Anat Geva, 2020 This collection discusses the innovative and experimental architecture of Israel during its first three decades following the nation's establishment in 1948. Written by leading researchers, the volume highlights new perspectives on the topic, discussing the inception, modernization, and habitation of historic and lesser researched areas alike in its interrogation. Inbal Ben Asher Gitler and Anat Geva show how Israeli nation building in its cultural, political, and historical contexts constituted an exceptional experiment in modern architecture. Examples include modern experiments in mass housing design, public architecture such as exhibition spaces, youth villages, and synagogues; a necessary consideration of climate in modern architectural experiments; and the exportation of Israeli modern architecture to other countries.
