Modern Chinese Poetry An Introduction 197:

Twentieth-century Chinese Women's Poetry: An Anthology Julia C. Lin, 2014-12-18 Chinese women's writing is rich and abundant although not well known in the West. Despite the brutal wars and political upheavals that ravaged twentieth-century China, the ranks of women in the literary world increased dramatically. This anthology introduces English language readers to a comprehensive selection of Chinese women poets from both the mainland and Taiwan. It spans the early 1920s and the era of Republican China's literary renaissance through the end of the twentieth century. The collection includes 245 poems by forty poets in elegant English translations as well as an extensive introduction that surveys the history of contemporary Chinese women's poetry. Brief biographical head notes introduce each poet from Bin Xin, China's preeminent woman poet in the early Republican period to Rongzi, a leading poet of modern Taiwan. The selections are startling, moving, and wide-ranging in mood and tone. Together they present an enticing palette of delightful, elegant, playful, lyric, and tragic poetry.

The A to Z of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying, 2010-04-01 Modern Chinese literature has been flourishing for over a century with varying degrees of intensity and energy at different junctures of history and points of locale. An integral part of world literature from the moment it was born, it has been in constant dialogue with its counterparts from the rest of the world. As it has been challenged and enriched by external influences, it has contributed to the wealth of literary culture of the entire world. In terms of themes and styles, modern Chinese literature is rich and varied, from the revolutionary to the pastoral, from romanticism to feminism, from modernism to postmodernism, critical realism, psychological realism, socialist realism, and magical realism. Indeed, it encompasses a full range of ideological and aesthetic concerns. The A to Z of Modern Chinese Literature presents a broad perspective on the development and history of literature in modern China. It offers a chronology, introduction, bibliography, and over 300 cross-referenced dictionary entries on authors, literary and historical developments, trends, genres, and concepts that played a central role in the evolution of modern Chinese literature.

Baudelaire in China Gloria Bien, 2012-12-14 Baudelaire's work entered China in the twentieth century amidst political and social upheavals accompanied by a literary revolution that called for classical models and modes of expression to be replaced by vernacular language and contemporary content. Chinese writers welcomed their meeting with the West and openly embraced Western literature as providing models in developing their new literature. Baudelaire's reception in China provides a representative study of this meeting of East and West. His work, which has been declared to stand between tradition and modernity, also lies at the intersection between classical and modern literature in China. Many of the best-known and most highly regarded writers in twentieth-century

China were drawn to Baudelaire's work and some addressed it directly in their own writings. Bien draws upon H. R. Jauss's theory of the shifting and expanding horizons of expectation in the reading and interpretation of a literary work and upon James J. Y. Lin's notion of worlds received and created by both author and reader to show how poetic lines, images and ideas as well as Chinese critics' comments eventually weave into a rich picture of Baudelaire's reception in China. Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying, 2009-12-22. Transnationalism and Translation in Modern Chinese, English, French and Japanese Literatures Ryan Johnson, 2020-12-15. The theory of literary worlds has become increasingly important in comparative and world literatures. But how are the often contradictory elements of Eastern and Western literatures to cohere in the new worlds such contact creates? Drawing on the latest work in philosophical logic and analytic Asian philosophy, this monograph proposes a new model of literary worlds that is best suited to comparative literature dealing with Western and East Asian traditions. Unlike much discussion of world literature anchored in North American traditions, featured here is the transnational work of artists, philosophers and poets writing in English, French, Japanese and Mandarin in the twentieth century. Rather than imposing sharp borders, this book suggests that vague boundaries link Eastern and Western literary works and traditions and that degrees of distance can better help us to see the multiple dimensions that both distinguish and join together literary worlds. East and West. As such, it enables us to grasp not only how East Asian and Western writers translate one another's works into their own languages and traditions but also how modern writers East and West modify their own traditions in order to make them fit in the new constellation of literary worlds brought about by the complex flow of literary information across twentieth-century Eurasia. The Subversive Self in Modern Chinese Literature C. Keaveney, 2004-07-15. An examination of whether Chinese writers of the Creation Society successfully appropriated shishosetsu, a quintessentially Japanese form of autobiographical narrative, into a form to be exploited for their own ends, especially political ends. Modern Archaics Shenquing Wu, 2020-10-26. After the collapse of the Qing dynasty in 1911 and the rise of a vernacular language movement most scholars and writers declared the classical Chinese poetic tradition to be dead But how could a longstanding high poetic form simply grind to a halt even in the face of tumultuous social change In this groundbreaking book Shengqing Wu explores the transformation of Chinese classical style poetry in the early twentieth century Drawing on extensive archival research into the poetry collections and literary journals of two generations of poets and critics Wu discusses the continuing significance of the classical form with its densely allusive and intricately wrought style She combines close readings of poems with a depiction of the cultural practices their authors participated in including poetry gatherings the use of mass media international travel and translation to show how the lyrical tradition was a dynamic force fully capable of engaging with modernity By examining the works and activities of previously neglected poets who maintained their commitment to traditional aesthetic ideals Modern Archaics illuminates the splendor of Chinese lyricism and highlights the mutually transformative power of the modern and the archaic
