Retelling the Siege of Jerusalem in Early Modern England Vanita Neelakanta, 2019-05-10 This compelling book explores sixteenth and seventeenth century English retellings of the Roman siege of Jerusalem and the way they informed and were informed by religious and political developments The siege featured prominently in many early modern English sermons ballads plays histories and pamphlets functioning as a touchstone for writers who sought to locate their own national drama of civil and religious tumult within a larger biblical and post biblical context Reformed England identified with besieged Jerusalem establishing an equivalency between the Protestant church and the ancient Jewish nation but exposing fears that a displeased God could destroy his beloved nation As print culture grew secular interpretations of the siege ran alongside once dominant providentialist narratives and spoke to the political anxieties in England as it was beginning to fashion a conception of itself as a nation Distributed for the University of Delaware Press 3000-3999,

The Story of Victorian Film Bryony Dixon, 2023-08-10 In this vivid and accessible new account of the dawn of film in Britain internationally respected film historian and curator Bryony Dixon introduces us to Britain's first cinematic pioneers an eclectic mix of chemists engineers photography enthusiasts fairground showmen and magicians who in a few short years built a vibrant new industry As she chronicles the emergence of the first embryonic film forms and genres she reveals often surprising innovations from cutting edge science to ingeniously witty tricks and comedies with filmmakers reflecting existing entertainment forms as well as advancing editing and cinematography in ways that shaped the art of film for many decades after Dixon offers fresh insights by focusing on the films themselves many of them only recently available to view while building on the work of generations of scholars In the process Dixon makes a compelling case for the British filmmakers of the era as inventive and creative figures every bit as influential as their more celebrated contemporaries in France and the US Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston Boston Public Library,1902 The Connoisseur ,1906

British Sociology's Lost Biological Roots Chris Renwick,2012-01-25 A new and innovative account of British sociology's intellectual origins that uses previously unknown archival resources to show how the field's forgotten roots in a late nineteenth and early twentieth century debate about biology can help us understand both its subsequent development and future potential Catastrophe, Gender and Urban Experience, 1648-1920 Deborah Simonton,Hannu Salmi,2016-10-04 As Enlightenment notions of predictability progress and the sense that humans could control and shape their environments informed European thought catastrophes shook many towns to the core challenging the new world view with dramatic impact This book concentrates on a period marked by passage from a society of scarcity to one of expenditure and accumulation from ranks and orders to greater social mobility from traditional village life to new bourgeois and even individualistic urbanism The volume employs a broad definition of catastrophe as it examines how urban communities conceived adapted to and were transformed by catastrophes both natural and human made Competing views of gender figure in the telling and retelling of these analyses women as scapegoats as vulnerable as victims even as cannibals or conversely as defenders organizers of assistance inspirers of men and men in varied guises as protectors governors and police heroes leaders negotiators and honorable men Gender is also deployed linguistically to feminize activities or even countries Inevitably however these tragedies are mediated by myth and memory They are not neutral events whose retelling is a simple narrative Through a varied array of urban catastrophes this book is a nuanced account that physically and metaphorically maps men and women into the urban landscape and the worlds of catastrophe
