Pluralism and Law A. Soeteman, 2013-04-17 AREND SOETEMAN In the past we lived on one earth but in many different worlds Different civilisations in regions far apart knew about one another at least from about the 16th century they competed with one another or tried to dominate the other they influenced one another but in many important aspects they were independent from one another Somewhere in the 20th century however this changed There is no far apart anymore We have lived through two European wars which developed into world wars Modern aeroplanes allow us to travel in only a couple of hours around the world Instant communication between individuals who have the whole globe in between is a reality There still exist great differences between different civilisations But they can ignore one another only at their peril They deeply influence one another Today therefore we live in one world Conflicts in the Middle East in Rwanda and Uganda or in the former Yugoslavia have their impact all over the world Violations of human rights no matter where are increasingly considered to be the concern of all of us The whims and caprices of some dictator may influence the spending possibilities of the general public far away
