L. Wesseling, 2004 European Imperialism in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries Woodruff D. Smith, 1982 This is a small book on a very large subject It is written for the general reader and for students who want an overview of modern European imperialism and an indication of some of the major issues with which historians of imperialism are currently concerned Obviously such a book cannot go into detail on any aspect of the subject I have attempted wherever possible to use particular cases of imperialism to represent larger phenomena that occurred in many different places and at different times I have also included references to important works on the subjects discussed in each section of the book preference has been given to recently published studies and to those in English which are most likely to be available to the reader. Although the book is not purely a narrative and is organized around a number of theses, the presentation of the theses is necessarily abbreviated and the support for them incomplete. They should be considered as means of structuring the material; fuller exposition must await future publications. Preface The Economics of European Imperialism Alan Hodgart, 1978 European Imperialism, 1830-1930 Alice L. Conklin, Ian Christopher Fletcher, 1999. TofC cont. Indian travellers in Victorian Britain A. Burton. Colonial workers in France during the Great War T. Stovall. An Afro-German family D. Reiprich and E. Ngambi. Anticolonial resistance: Peasant weapons of the weak J. C. Scott. Wage labor and anticolonial resistance in Colonial Kenya F. Cooper. Saint or rebel resistance in French North Africa J. Clancy Smith. Imagined community in anticolonial nationalism B. Anderson. Nation and the home P. Chatterjee. This book consists principally of thematically organized selections from recent historical work on French, British, and Dutch imperialism. The volume begins with a section devoted to several of the classic interpretations and criticisms of empire so that students might better judge for themselves how recent scholarship has changed. The introduction provides a brief overview of a century of historical writing on the subject to orient the reader at the outset. Pref European Imperialism, 1860-1914 Andrew Neil Porter, 1994 Ancient and Modern Imperialism (1910) The Earl of Cromer, 2008-06-01. This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original. Due to its age, it may contain imperfections such as marks, notations, marginalia, and flawed pages. Because we believe this work is culturally important, we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting, preserving, and promoting the world's literature in affordable, high-quality modern editions that are true to the original work. The False Dawn Raymond F. Betts, 1975-12-12. The False Dawn was first published in 1975. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long-unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original. University of Minnesota Press editions. As the author explains, the false dawn that greeted and disappointed the visitors in E. M. Forster's A Passage to India is a literary image that might serve as a value judgment of modern overseas empire in general. Commenting that the term empire is now badly tarnished, Professor Betts points out that no bright dawn of understanding has yet appeared on the academic horizon. With this perceptive viewpoint, he traces the course of European imperialism beginning with the Treaty of Paris in 1763 and ending with a final glance toward the Western Front in August 1914. Reviewing the book in the Historian, Lawrence J. Baack calls it a clear and concise essay on the nature of European imperialism. In its review, Choice says: Undergraduates and graduate students alike will welcome this book as a readable general introduction to more technical works.
