Modern International Negotiations:

Negotiations in the Case Law of the International Court of Justice Karel Wellens, 2016-04-22 This book examines the multifunctional role negotiations play in the jurisprudence of the International Court of Justice Prior negotiations may be necessary to bring to the surface and clarify the legal aspects of a dispute before its submission to the ICJ Negotiations may play a potential and parallel role during the course of the proceedings results of negotiations may find their way into the judicial reasoning and may even form part of the basis of the judicial settlement The Court's judgment may require further negotiations for its implementation A failure of this process may bring the parties back before the Court This volume presents a detailed and critical examination of the case law of the ICJ through the prism of the functional interaction between negotiation and judicial settlement of disputes In cases where legal interests of third States are involved this functional interaction becomes even more complex The focus is not on the merits of each individual case but on the Court's contribution and clarification of this functional interplay The systematic analysis of the Court's jurisprudence makes this book essential reading for those involved with and studying international law and justice

Beyond the Tragedy in Global Fisheries D. G. Webster, 2017-09-08 An analysis of how responsive governance has shaped the evolution of global fisheries in cyclical patterns of depletion and rebuilding dubbed the management treadmill The oceans are heavily overfished and the greatest challenges to effective fisheries management are not technical but political and economic In this book D G Webster describes how the political economy of fisheries has evolved and highlights patterns that are linked to sustainable transitions in specific fisheries Grounded in the concept of responsive governance Webster's interdisciplinary analysis goes beyond the conventional view of the tragedy of the commons Using her Action Cycle Structural Context framework she maps long running patterns that cycle between depletion and rebuilding in a process that she terms the management treadmill Webster documents the management treadmill in settings that range from small coastal fishing communities to international fisheries that span entire oceans She identifies the profit disconnect in which economic incentives are out of sync with sustainable use and the power disconnect in which those who experience the costs of overexploitation are politically marginalized She examines how these disconnects shaped the economics of expansion and documents how political systems failed to prevent related cycles of serial resource depletion Webster also traces the increasing use of restrictive management in response to worsening fisheries crises and the emergence of new noncommercial interests that demand greater management but also generate substantial conflict She finds that the management treadmill is speeding up with population growth and economic development and so concludes that sustainable fisheries can only exist within a sustainable global economic system
