Cohen, 2003 This is a collection by one of the leading experts on modern Chinese history and historiography Paul Cohen In this absorbing volume he consistently argues for fresh ways of approaching the Chinese past training his critical spotlight alternately on Western historians Chinese historians and the history itself The selection provides a persuasive critique of older approaches to nineteenth and twentieth century history and offers powerful reinterpretations of such diverse topics as the Boxer uprising American China historiography nationalism popular religion and reform While maintaining the view that culture is important the author also suggests that the claims of Western and Chinese cultural difference have largely been exaggerated and have unnecessarily encouraged cultural stereotyping and caricaturing Paul Cohen suggests by repeatedly foregrounding common elements in the thinking and behaviour of Chinese and non Chinese that historians can render China's history intelligible meaningful and even relevant to people in the West With the application of the China centred approach to recent areas of scholarly interest and the expansion and rewriting of essays on more traditional topics Paul Cohen has written a significant contribution to the literature on Chinese history and historiography Japan, China, and the Modern World Economy Frances V. Moulder, 1976 Islam in China Raphael Israeli, 2002-01-01 Are they really Muslims Islam in China reveals the struggle for identity of the small yet vital Muslim community of China a little studied minority on the fringes of the Islamic world now thrust into the spotlight by the opening of China to the world and the rise of independent Muslim republics on China's western borders Both timely and important the multifaceted essays collection of over twenty years of Raphael Israeli's scholarship on Chinese Muslims offer detailed insight into the relationship between China's non Muslim majority and an increasingly self confident guest culture The work uncovers a history of uneasy ethnic philosophical and ideological coexistence the gradual sinification of the Chinese Muslim creed and the increasing accommodation of Islam by a modern westernizing China In addition it highlights a religious group riddled with sectarianism factional rifts that reveal the doctrinal social and political diversity at the core of Chinese Islam Nation and Ethnicity Julia C. Schneider, 2017-03-13 Winner of the Foundation Council Award of the Georg August University of Göttingen Public Law Foundation in the category of Outstanding Publications of Young Scientists 2017 In Nation and Ethnicity Chinese Discourses on History Historiography and Nationalism 1900s 1920s Julia C Schneider give an analysis of nationalist and historiographical discourses among late imperial and early republican Chinese thinkers In particular she researches their approaches towards non Chinese people within the Qing Empire and the question on how to integrate them into a Chinese nation state Non Chinese people mainly Manchus Mongols Tibetans and Turkic Muslims Uyghurs have not been considered as important factors in the history of early Chinese nationalism so far But Chinese nationalist and historiographical discourses tell not only a lot about the Chinese image of the Other but also shed new light on the images of the Chinese Self and its assumed ability to assimilate and integrate other ethnicities *Catalog of Copyright Entries. Heritage Politics in China Yujie Zhu, Christina Maags, 2020-01-02 Heritage Politics in China The Power of the Past studies the impact of heritage policies and discourses on the Chinese state and Chinese society It sheds light on the way Chinese heritage policies have transformed the narratives and cultural practices of the past to serve the interests of the present As well as reinforcing a collective social identity heritage in China has served as an instrument of governance and regulation at home and a tool to generate soft power abroad Drawing on a critical analysis of heritage policies and laws empirical case studies and interviews with policymakers practitioners and local communities the authors offer a comprehensive perspective on the role that cultural heritage plays in Chinese politics and policy They argue that heritage

An American Missionary in China Yu-ming Shaw, 2020-03-23 This work traces the career of a seminal figure in twentieth century Chinese American relations John Leighton Stuart began his work in China as a missionary in 1904 He moved on to head Yenching University the leading Christian institution of higher learning in China During the Pacific War Stuart was imprisoned by the Japanese When General George C Marshall was sent to China by President Truman in 1945 to mediate peace between the Chinese Nationalists and the Chinese Communists Marshall chose Stuart as Ambassador to help with that mediation and to look after American interests in China Stuart was the last to hold that post before the Chiang Kai shek government's move to Taiwan Shaw's research among materials in English Chinese and Japanese has produced a richly detailed examination of each phase of Stuart's life Shaw presents Stuart as a Wilsonian idealist whose combination of liberal situational values and nationalistic vision put him square in the middle unable fully to support a Nationalist led China and positing instead a Nationalist Communist coalition that would favor the Nationalists and open the door to American influence

Footbinding, Feminism and Freedom Fan Hong, 2013-04-03 Through the medium of women's bodies Fan Hong explores the significance of religious beliefs cultural codes and political dogmas for gender relations gender concepts and the human body in an Asian setting One Century of Vain Missionary Work among Muslims in China Raphael Israeli, 2018-10-23 Christian missionaries in China have been toiling since the 16th century with little success Only after the Opium War were the Western powers which invaded China able to enforce their gunboat policy under which their missionaries could penetrate all parts of China and extend their activities to a larger part of the population which needed welfare assistance and western protection and therefore resorted to evangelization as a way to obtain both However relative to the huge Chinese population and to the optimistic expectations of the missionaries little was achieved on the ground Therefore at some point since the beginning of the 20th century a decision was made by the missionaries to shift their emphasis to the Muslim population of China realizing that unlike the Godless Chinese who had no knowledge nor approach to the Bible the Muslims would be more amenable due to their Holy Book which knew One God and drew from the Judeo Christian tradition many of their narratives The attempt was valiant and lasted for almost a century with many efforts made to extend educational and medical aid to the Muslim population but it also ended in frustration on the whole due to the unexpected tenacity and resistance of the Hui and Uighur Muslims to the missionaries endeavour Philosophy and Revolution Raya Dunayevskaya, 2003-01-01 Few thought systems have been as distorted and sometimes misconstrued as those of Marx and Hegel Philosophy and Revolution presented here in a new edition attempts to save Marx from interpretations which restrict the revolutionary significance of the philosophy behind his theory Developing her breakthrough on Hegel's Absolute Idea Raya Dunayevskaya who died in the June of 1987 aims at a total liberation of the human person not only from the ills of a capitalist society but also from the equally oppressive state capitalism of established communist governments She assumes within her theory of class struggle issues as diverse as feminism black liberation and even the new nationalism of third world countries Moreover Dunayevskaya combines within herself an incorruptible objectivity with a passionate political attitude making this work a vibrant and concrete discussion of the vicissitudes of society justice equality and existence Legacies of Childhood Jon L. Saari, 2020-03-17 Jon L Saari defines the generation of educated Chinese born around the turn of the twentieth century as the last to have the world of Confucian learning etched into their memories as schoolboys yet the first as a group to confront the intrusive Western world The legacies of growing up in a changing environment deeply affected this generation's responses to the further changes in the world they confronted as adults In the collapse of the Ch'ing dynasty and the chaos of the early twentieth century traditional ideas of the self the nature of relationships in society and ethical behavior had to be reexamined and redefined To reconstruct what those who lived through and shaped this extraordinary period felt needed thought and became as children and adults Saari draws on autobiographical writings and his own interviews among the elderly on Taiwan and Hong Kong He interprets this material within its Chinese context but brings Western sociological anthropological and psychological insights to bear on it
