Witchcraft, Madness, Society, and Religion in Early Modern Germany H.C. Erik Midelfort, 2024-10-28 H C Erik Midelfort has carved out a reputation for innovative work on early modern German history with a particular focus on the social history of ideas and religion This collection pulls together some of his best work on the related subjects of witchcraft the history of madness and psychology demonology exorcism and the social history of religious change in early modern Europe Several of the pieces reprinted here constitute reviews of recent scholarly literature on their topics while others offer sharp departures from conventional wisdom A critique of Michel Foucault s view of the history of madness proved both stimulating but irritating to Foucault's most faithful readers so it is reprinted here along with a short retrospective comment by the author. Another focus of this collection is the social history of the Holy Roman Empire where towns, peasants and noble families developed different perceptions of the Protestant and Catholic Reformations and of the options the religious revolutions of the sixteenth century offered. Finally, this collection also brings together articles which show how Freudian psychoanalysis and academic sociology have filtered and interpreted the history of early modern Germany.

Work in a Modern Society Jürgen Kocka, 2010. Whereas the history of workers and labor movements has been widely researched, the history of work has been rather neglected by comparison. This volume offers original contributions that deal with cultural, social and theoretical aspects of the history of work in modern Europe, including the relations between gender and work, working and soldiering, work and trust, constructions and practices. The volume focuses on Germany but also places the case studies in a broader European context. It thus offers an insight into social and cultural history as practiced by German speaking scholars today but also introduces the reader to ongoing research in this field.

Social Stratification and Inequality Harold R. Kerbo, 2000. This revised edition aims to provide a comprehensive exploration of the economic and social divisions in human societies. The book takes a global perspective and includes detailed information on stratification around the world, addressing the ways in which governments, corporations and workers cope with milestone changes such as greater European unification and an increased US economic presence. Extensive comparative information as well as an overview of how historically social stratification has changed and evolved gives readers a global perspective on class conflict.

Sites of Modernity—Places of Risk Martin H. Geyer, 2023-07-14. Places of risk and sites of modernity refer not merely to physical locations but also to objects and institutions that stand at the center of contemporary debates on security and risk. These are social and political domains where energy and infrastructure are produced, where domestic security is pursued and maintained, and where citizens encounter the state in its punitive or monitory roles. Taking a wide view of the period from the 1970s to today, this volume brings together innovative interdisciplinary case studies of sites of modernity that promise to provide security and safety yet at the same time are deemed responsible for creating new risks. With a particular contemporary interest in the technocratic changes of security and risk control, the contributors to Sites of Modernity: Places of Risk position the 1970s as a turning point in the path from industrial to post-industrial modernity.

The Force of Comparison Willibald Steinmetz, 2019-09-01. In an era defined by daily polls, institutional rankings and other forms of social quantification, it can be easy to forget that comparison has a long historical lineage. Presenting a range of multidisciplinary perspectives, this volume investigates the concepts and practices of comparison from the early modern period to the present. Each chapter demonstrates how comparison has helped to drive the seemingly irresistible dynamism of the modern world, exploring how comparatively minded assessors determine their units of analysis, the criteria they select or ignore, and just who it is that makes use of these comparisons and to what ends.
