Pakistan Zindabad:

The Struggle for Pakistan Ayesha Jalal, 2014-09-16 Established as a homeland for India's Muslims in 1947 Pakistan has had a tumultuous history beset by assassinations, coups, ethnic strife and the breakaway of Bangladesh in 1971 the country has found itself too often contending with religious extremism and military authoritarianism. Now in a probing biography of her native land amid the throes of global change Ayesha Jalal provides an insider's assessment of how this nuclear armed Muslim nation evolved as it did and explains why its dilemmas weigh so heavily on prospects for peace in the region. An important book Ayesha Jalal has been one of the first and most reliable Pakistani political historians on Pakistan. The Struggle for Pakistan is her most accessible work to date. She is especially telling when she points to the lack of serious academic or political debate in Pakistan about the role of the military. Ahmed Rashid, New York Review of Books. Jalal shows that Pakistan never went off the rails it was moreover never a democracy in any meaningful sense. For its entire history a military caste and its supporters in the ruling class have formed an establishment that defined their narrow interests as the nation's. Isaac Chotiner, Wall Street Journal.

Understanding Pakistan Mathew Joseph C., 2016-09-13 This book is the outcome of a national seminar for research scholars on Pakistan organized by the Centre for Pakistan Studies at the MMAJ Academy of International Studies, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi. The aim of the seminar was to explore how young minds in India view Pakistan the quintessential enemy country. The range of topics included issues related to Pakistan's politics, economy, popular culture, education, environment, sectarian divide, minorities, policy towards Jammu, Kashmir and foreign relations. Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India. Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka. Khizr

Tiwana, the Punjab Unionist Party and the Partition of India Ian Talbot, 2013-12-16 First biography of Khizr Tiwana the Unionist Premier of the Punjab during the climacteric period 1942-47. The Punjab formed the heartland of a future Pakistan hence the subcontinent's destiny rested on the clash between Khizr and Jinnah over the region's unity vs Muslim separatism.

Why I Write Aakar Patel, 2023-03-06 One of the greatest raconteurs of 20th century Saadat Hasan Manto declared that he was forced to write when his wife routinely demanded that he put bread on the table for the family. He didn't attribute any genius to his skills as a writer and convinced his readers that the stories flowed even as he minded his daughters or tossed a salad. Equally Manto treated his tryst with Bollywood with disdain and unmasked the cardboard lives of tinsel town when a horse was painted to double up for a zebra or multiple fans rotate to create a deluge. In these essays two of Manto's favourite and recurring themes women and Partition find special mention as he brings to focus the bizarre morality in the context of feminine beauty and the futile presence of religiosity in the creation of a nation he was to adopt later in life. For the first time ever this unique collection of nonfiction writing from the subcontinent's greatest writer translated by well known author and journalist Aakar Patel showcases Saadat Hasan Manto's brilliance while dealing with life's most mundane things graveyards, bumming cigarettes, a film crew with motley characters from mythology and a sharp dissection of what ails the subcontinent.

The Partition of India C. H. Philips, Mary Doreen Wainwright, 2025-06-02

The partition of India in 1947 was an outstanding event in world history. It formed a major turning point in the modern history of the subcontinent and of the Commonwealth. Originally published in 1970, after more than twenty years had passed, this title brought together the evidence and put into perspective the course of events which had led to the transfer of power in India from Britain to two successor states rather than to one. In 1937 the Muslims in India were thought to be politically weak and disorganized; yet ten years later they were able to put forward a convincing claim for a separate state. How did this come about? The lack of any sense of urgency in making a constitutional settlement between the wars, Congress miscalculations during the war, and the political exploitation of Muslim nationalism all played a part, but the interpretation of the events leading to partition tends to vary with the preconceptions and outlook of the various contributors to the debate at the time. The enquiry which led to this volume began as a simple attempt to collect evidence from those still alive. From this grew a regular series of meetings between participants and historians of the three countries, culminating in a conference. The material presented here discusses the more important aspects of the partition from the different viewpoints. It is arranged in two sections: first-hand accounts by those who took part, and an analysis by leading specialists. In his Introduction, Professor Philips points to the main historical problems which had emerged and suggests areas of study which would repay early investigation. The time was not yet ripe for a wholly definitive account, but this book suggests a framework within which this could be done and brought together raw material for future historians before the generation of eye-witnesses passed away. The resources of the School of Oriental and African Studies enabled an enterprise to be mounted which would have been beyond the capacity of any one individual. This
