Smith,2021-10-21 After Pearl Harbor Tin Pan Alley songwriters rushed to write the Great American War Song an Over There for World War II The most popular songs however continued to be romantic ballads escapist tunes or novelty songs To remedy the situation the federal government created the National Wartime Music Committee an advisory group of the Office of War Information OWI which outlined proper war songs along with tips on how and what to write The music business also formed its own Music War Committee to promote war songs Neither group succeeded The OWI hoped that Tin Pan Alley could be converted from manufacturing love songs to manufacturing war songs just as automobile plants had retooled to assemble planes and tanks But the OWI failed to comprehend the large extent by which the war effort would be defined by advertisers and merchandisers Selling merchandise was the first priority of Tin Pan Alley and the OWI never swayed them from this course Kathleen E R Smith concludes the government s fears of faltering morale did not materialize Americans did not need such war songs as Goodbye Mama I m Off To Yokohama There Are No Wings On a Foxhole or even The Sun Will Soon Be Setting On The Land Of The Rising Sun to convince them to support the war The crusade for a proper war song was misguided from the beginning and the music business then and now continues to make huge profits selling love not war songs      Early Periodical Indexes Robert Balay,2000 Balay s Early Periodical Indexes is the most comprehensive guide available to the indexing of periodical literature from the 16th century until the end of the 19th century limited in scope to European languages The material itself is widely scattered difficult to find and until now without a systematic way to identify it This extraordinarily useful tool lists and describes titles in a wide range of disciplines including indexes published prior to 1900 that are restricted to periodicals such as Poole s those published later such as Wellesley as well as serial and topical bibliographies citing publications in all
