annual bibliography of english language and literature colume XXIX 1949 , The Fate of Eloquence in the Age of Hume Adam Potkay,2018-09-05 This engaging and insightful book explores the fate of eloquence in a period during which it both denoted a living oratorical art and served as a major factor in political thought Seeing Hume's philosophy as a key to the literature of the mid eighteenth century Adam Potkay compares the status of eloquence in Hume's Essays and Natural History of Religion to its status in novels by Sterne poems by Pope and Gray and Macpherson's Poems of Ossian Potkay explains the sense of urgency that the concept of eloquence evoked among eighteenth century British readers for whom it recalled Demosthenes exhorting Athenian citizens to oppose tyranny Revived by Hume and many other writers the concept of eloquence resonated deeply for an audience who perceived its own political community as being in danger of disintegration Potkay also shows how beginning in the realm of literature the fashion of polite style began to eclipse that of political eloquence An ethos suitable both to the family circle and to a public sphere that included women politeness entailed a sublimation of passions a feminine modesty as opposed to masculine display and a style that sought rather to placate or stabilize than to influence the course of events For Potkay the tension between the ideals of ancient eloquence and of modern politeness defined literary and political discourses alike between 1726 and 1770 although politeness eventually gained ascendancy eloquence was never silenced

Walking New York Stephen Miller,2014-12-01 Walk along with New York's most celebrated writers on a tour of the city that inspired them in this evolving portrait of New York through the centuries The New York Observer ONE OF THE NEW YORK OBSERVER'S TOP 10 BOOKS FOR FALL It's no wonder that New York has always been a magnet city for writers Manhattan is one of the most walkable cities in the world But while many novelists poets and essayists have enjoyed long walks in New York their experiences varied widely Walking New York is a study of celebrated writers who walked the streets of New York and wrote about the city in fiction nonfiction and poetry Though the writers were often irritated disturbed and occasionally shocked by what they saw on their walks they were still fascinated by the city Cynthia Ozick called faithfully inconstant magnetic man made unnatural the synthetic sublime Returning to New York after an absence of two decades Henry James loathed many things about bristling New York while native New Yorker Walt Whitman both celebrated and criticized Mannahatta in his writings This idiosyncratic guidebook combines literary scholarship with urban studies to reveal how this crowded dirty noisy and sometimes ugly city gave these restless analysts plenty of fodder for their craft In Walking New York you'll see the city through the eyes of Walt Whitman Herman Melville William Dean Howells Jacob Riis Henry James Stephen Crane Theodore Dreiser James Weldon Johnson Alfred Kazin Elizabeth Hardwick Colson Whitehead and Teju Cole

A Kind of Wild Justice Linda Anderson, 1987 This study demonstrates not only that the devices of revenge are structurally useful in comedy but also that there is a consistent conception of revenge as an ethical social instrument in the comedies of Shakespeare

Hamlet William Shakespeare, 1999-05-27 This edition tells the story of Hamlet in production from Burbage at the Globe to Branagh on film relating stage interpretations to developments in the theatre in literary criticism and in society The detailed stage history records an ongoing process of discovery as successive performers have found what it is in the play that will speak most powerfully to the audiences of their own times The introduction focuses not only on star Hamlets but on whole productions of the play including supporting players and in this century direction and design

Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes Patricia Laurence, 2013-01-02 A map of the mutual influence of Bloomsbury the Crescent Moon Society and modernism in English and Chinese culture Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes traces the romance of Julian Bell nephew of Virginia Woolf and Ling Shuhua a writer and painter Bell met while teaching at Wuhan University in China in 1935 Relying on a wide selection of previously unpublished writings Patricia Laurence places Ling often referred to as the Chinese Katherine Mansfield squarely in the Bloomsbury constellation In doing so she counters East West polarities and suggests forms of understanding to inaugurate a new kind of cultural criticism and literary description Laurence expands her examination of Bell and Ling's relationship into a study of parallel literary communities Bloomsbury in England and the Crescent Moon group in China Underscoring their reciprocal influences in the early part of the twentieth century Laurence presents conversations among well known British and Chinese writers artists and historians including Virginia Woolf Vanessa Bell G L Dickinson Xu Zhimo E M Forster and Xiao Qian In addition Laurence's study includes rarely seen photographs of Julian Bell Ling and their associates as well as a reproduction of Ling's scroll commemorating moments in the exchange between Bloomsbury and the Crescent Moon group While many critics agree that modernism is a movement that crosses national boundaries literary studies rarely reflect such a view In this volume Laurence links unpublished letters and documents cultural artifacts art literature and people in ways that provide illumination from a comparative cultural and aesthetic perspective In so doing she addresses the geographical and critical imbalances and thus the architecture of modernist postcolonial Bloomsbury and Asian studies by placing China in an aesthetic matrix of a developing international modernism
