Material Dreams Kevin Starr, 1990 In Material Dreams Starr turns to one of the most vibrant decades in the Golden State s history the 1920s when some two million Americans migrated to California the vast majority settling in or around Los Angeles Although he treats readers to intriguing side trips to Santa Barbara and Pasadena Starr focuses here mainly on Los Angeles revealing how this major city arose almost defiantly on a site lacking many of the advantages required for urban development creating itself out of sheer will the Great Gatsby of American cities He describes how William Ellsworth Smyth the Peter the Hermit of the Irrigation Crusade propounded the importance of water in Southern California s future and how such figures as the self educated Irish engineer William Mulholland who built the main aqueducts to Los Angeles and George Chaffey who diverted the Colorado River transforming desert into the lush Imperial Valley brought life supporting water to the arid South He examines the discovery of oil Yes it s oil oil oil that makes LA boil went the official drinking song of the Uplifters Club the boosters and land developers the evangelists such as Bob Shuler the Methodist Savanarola of Los Angeles and Aimee Semple McPherson and countless other colorful figures of the period There are also fascinating sections on the city s architecture such as the remarkably innovative Bradbury Building and its eccentric neophyte designer George Wyman the impact of the automobile on city planning the great antiquarian book collections the Hollywood film community and much more By the end of the decade Los Angeles had tripled in population and become the fifth largest city in the nation In Material Dreams Kevin Starr captures this explosive growth in a narrative tour de force that combines wide ranging scholarship with captivating prose Portals West; a Folio of Late Nineteenth Century Architecture in California E Geoffrey (Edward Geoffrey) Bangs, 2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly

California, 1961 Sites Unseen William A. Gleason, 2011-08-22 Sites Unseen examines the complex intertwining of race and architecture in nineteenth and early twentieth century American culture the period not only in which American architecture came of age professionally in the U S but also in which ideas about architecture became a prominent part of broader conversations about American culture history politics and although we have not yet understood this clearly race relations

This rich and copiously illustrated interdisciplinary study explores the ways that American writing between roughly 1850 and 1930 concerned itself often intensely with the racial implications of architectural space primarily but not exclusively through domestic architecture In addition to identifying an archive of provocative primary materials Sites Unseen draws significantly on important recent scholarship in multiple fields ranging from literature history and material culture to architecture cultural geography and urban planning Together the chapters interrogate a variety of expressive American vernacular forms including the dialect tale the novel of empire letters and pulp stories along with the plantation cabin the West Indian cottage the Latin American plaza and the Oriental parlor These are some of the overlooked plots and structures that can and should inform a more comprehensive consideration of the literary and cultural meanings of American architecture Making sense of the relations between architecture race and American writing of the long nineteenth century in their regional national and hemispheric contexts Sites Unseen provides a clearer view not only of this catalytic era but also more broadly of what Western Karaim Michał Németh, 2020-04-28 This volume offers the first comprehensive study on the history of Middle Western Karaim dialects The author provides a systematic description of sound changes dating from the 17th 19th centuries and reconstructs their absolute and relative chronologies In addition the main morphological peculiarities are presented in juxtaposition to Modern Western Karaim data The textual basis for this historical linguistic investigation is a critical edition of pre 1800 Western Karaim interpretations of Hebrew religious songs called piyyutim 149 texts altogether The reason behind this choice is that some of these texts are among the oldest known Western Karaim texts in general and that until now no study has brought the Karaim translation tradition in this genre closer to the reader University of California Union Catalog of Monographs Cataloged by the Nine Campuses from 1963 Through 1967: Subjects University of California (System).
