Cambridge & Harvard Jane Merrill,2023-08-21 Home to the location where George Washington took command of the troops and to America s oldest Ivy League university Cambridge is a city that feels like a town Hasty Pudding meetings were enlivened with mock trials spoofing happenings in Cambridge and among the faculty by 1860 the trials had evolved into shows In a corner of the Cambridge Common across from Harvard Yard a Gilded Age statue of a Puritan has been toppled several times Letters home from Robert Kennedy were found stashed on a high shelf in a college room he occupied over 30 years after he graduated From protests to the Beer Garden Summit author Jane Merrill shares the stories behind notable landmarks and some significant but little known facts in and around town Harpswell Joyce K. Bibber,2003-06-01

Harpswell s uniquely scattered geography has shaped its destiny With a long peninsula known as the Neck three large islands Orr s Bailey and Sebascodegan and more than thirty other islands of varying sizes the town has from the start been a fishing and farming community In the late nineteenth century when Casco Bay steamboat lines made the area easy to reach flourishing resorts developed with numerous hotels and boarding houses catering to summer visitors The photographs that make up this fascinating visual history bring to life the changes that took place in Harpswell between the 1870s and 1960s Images of the early sometimes harsh life on the coast contrast with later postcard views of Harpswell as a family resort area complete with favorite cottages and camps Of particular interest are the many previously unpublished views of families and fishermen shipbuilders and farmers who have called Harpswell home throughout the years Summer by the Seaside chain the east 40 degrees of the title runs from Alabama through fifteen states to the coast of Maine Each town Williams examines sits within the folds of these mountains or beside a river nourished in their moist uplands Beginning his record with the continental collisions that shaped each town s history more than 300 million years ago Williams allows us to see the tenuous web of connections between ourselves and the natural processes that shape this earth Featuring a wealth of beautiful and significant illustrations and maps this unique work brings into focus the critical issues of environmental and cultural sustainability confronting us today Elegant poetic and erudite East 40 Degrees will appeal to architects and landscape architects planners environmental historians ecologists geographers and anyone interested in the history and origins of our modern landscapes and towns Publication of this volume was assisted by a grant from Furthermore a program of the J M Kaplan Fund American Book Publishing Record ,1999 Victorian Augusta Earle G.
