Past from

'Portrait of Birmingham'

BYRONIA STANLEY, Birmingham
 They do not put 100 years of the life of a city on the back of a book.
 Robert A. Brown, publishing editor of Birmingham magazine, has put out a "Portrait of Birmingham" — past, present and future — with more information and 100 pictures than any other book.
 Brown, 44, and his family moved to the city in 1950 and he has been working for the Birmingham Post-Herald & Examiner, the city's largest daily newspaper, ever since.
 "This was taken for almost 10 years," he says. "People will probably say, 'You tell me so much.' The picture had to take the last 10 years."

THE HISTORICAL section, written with Don Stanley, is a look at the city's past. It includes a list of all the buildings which should be included in the city's new city plan. Brown says that many of the buildings which are included in the plan are the same as the ones which were included in the plan in 1950.
