Reality and Culture Patricia Hanna, 2014-03-15 More than being a volume about the philosophy of Bernard Harrison this volume is about how Harrison conceptualizes the creation of the human world One might be tempted to classify Harrison as a major voice in many diverse discussions philosophy of literature philosophy of language philosophy of mind color studies epistemology metaphysics moral philosophy philosophy of culture Wittgenstein antisemitism and more without recognizing a unifying strand that ties them together Nothing could be farther from the truth Harrison contests and destabilizes a persistent and misleading alignment of culture with subjectivity whether found in unexamined distinctions between nature and culture or appearance and reality His general aim has been to undermine the belief that human culture deals in smoke and mirrors and that the only realities are those of extra human nature He emphasizes the paraxial foundation of meaning and argues that the creative inventions of language and culture are as real as any extra linguistic reality While granting the existence of extra human reality he holds it to be in itself conceptually unorganised but nevertheless cognitively accessible by way of sense perception and physical manipulation This volume offers new critical essays that examine Harrison s corpus written by distinguished voices in philosophy and literary studies It bridges many of the abysses of conflicting opinion opened by the culture wars of the past half century Importantly it includes an opening essay by Harrison that elucidates the unifying strand running through his variegated philosophical writings and concludes with a chapter in which he replies to and reflects on the other critical essays herein Seeing the Word (Studies in Theological Interpretation) Markus Bockmuehl, 2006-09-01 At a time of deep disagreements about the nature and purpose of academic biblical studies Markus Bockmuehl advocates the recovery of a plural but common conversation on the subject of what the New Testament is about Seeing the Word begins with an assessment of current New Testament studies identifying both persistent challenges and some promising proposals Subsequent chapters explore two such proposals First ground for common conversation lies in taking seriously the readers and readings the text implies Second Bockmuehl explores the text s early effective history by a study of apostolic memory in the early church All serious students of the Bible and theology will find much of interest and much to discuss in this first volume in the Studies in Theological Interpretation series A Traveler at Forty Theodore Dreiser, 2004 Final copy of manuscript of the Dreiser Edition of A traveler at forty with a complete record of emendations historical notes and textual notes Diaspora and Multiculturalism , 2021-12-28 In postcolonial theory we have now reached a new stage in the succession of key concepts After the celebrations of hybridity in the work of Homi Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak it is now the concept of diaspora that has sparked animated debates among postcolonial critics This collection intervenes in the current discussion about the new diaspora by placing the rise of diaspora within the politics of multiculturalism and its supersession by a politics of difference and cultural rights theory The essays present recent developments in Jewish negotiations of diasporic tradition and experience discussing the reinterpretation of concepts of the old diaspora in late twentieth century British and American Jewish literature The second part of the volume comprises theoretical and critical essays on the South Asian diaspora and on multicultural settings between Australia Africa the Caribbean and North America The South Asian and Caribbean diasporas are compared to the Jewish prototype and contrasted with the Turkish diaspora in Germany All essays deal with literary reflections on and thematizations of the diasporic predicament Studies in American Jewish Literature ,2001
