Kamil,Peter B. Mosenthal,P. David Pearson,Rebecca Barr,2016-11-18 In Volume III as in Volumes I and II the classic topics of reading are included from vocabulary and comprehension to reading instruction in the classroom and in addition each contributor was asked to include a brief history that chronicles the legacies within each of the volume's many topics. However, on the whole, Volume III is not about tradition. Rather, it explores the verges of reading research between the time Volume II was published in 1991 and the research conducted after this date. The editors identified two broad themes as representing the myriad of verges that have emerged since Volumes I and II were published: 1 broadening the definition of reading and 2 broadening the reading research program. The particulars of these new themes and topics are addressed.

Listening to the Voices of Boys Krista Griffin, 2016-03-01. Motivation to engage in reading is a consistent problem for students in general and boys in particular. To solve this problem, we often seek answers from everyone but those we are hoping to motivate. We read the latest article on motivation and think we have finally come up with the recipe that will motivate all of the boys in our class. When it doesn't work for everyone, we go back to the drawing board and try something else until we finally understand that all boys are motivated by different things. That is the basis of this book: nothing will work for ALL boys, but there are ways to equip teachers to find out how the boys in their classes are motivated. It provides them with a direction to go once they've established the needs of their students and offers suggestions for how to meet individual motivational needs. Each chapter addresses a different motivational need, providing background information and practical classroom applications.

Handbook of Motivation at School Kathryn R. Wentzel, David B. Miele, 2009-09-10. The Handbook of Motivation at School presents the first comprehensive and integrated compilation of theory and research on children's motivation at school. It covers the major theoretical perspectives in the field as well as their application to instruction, learning, and social adjustment at school.

Key Features: Comprehensive: no other book provides such a comprehensive overview of theory and research on children's motivation at school. Theoretical/Applied: the book provides a review of current motivation theories by the developers of those theories as well as attention to the application of motivation theory and research in classrooms and schools. Chapter Structure: chapters within each section follow a similar structure so that there is uniformity across chapters. Commentaries: each section ends with a commentary that provides clear directions for future research.

The Texts in Elementary Classrooms James V. Hoffman, Diane Lemonnier Schallert, 2004-09-22. This CIERA-sponsored book is based on the premise that high-quality texts of all kinds are essential to good teaching in elementary classrooms. Experts on a variety of text-related topics were asked to summarize existing research and then apply it to literacy development in an ideal classroom. The most comprehensive and up-to-date book in its field, it moves progressively from an examination of discrete literacy processes and forms to a holistic overview and assessment of the classroom literacy environment. Content coverage in this outstanding new book includes:

- Literacy Processes: Part I examines basic reading processes: instruction, comprehension, word recognition, fluency, and motivation as they relate to text features.
- Forms of Texts: Part II examines the wide variety of text types: fiction, nonfiction, leveled, local, and electronic that comprise an effective classroom literacy program.
- Discussions: include the nature of these texts, their qualities and quantities, how they fit into an instructional plan, and how a teacher might assess their effectiveness.
- Text Selection: Part III examines special issues.
