Gendered Perspectives on Conflict and Violence Marcia Texler Segal, Vasilikie (Vicky) Demos, 2013-10-25 The chapters in this two part volume explore components of the emerging global discourse regarding gender and violence from a feminist and social scientific perspective The authors address gender based violence broadly as an attribute of social structures as well as individuals and include LGBTQ individuals in its conceptualization of gender Judaism in Motion Sibylle Lustenberger, 2020-11-17 In Israel where the Orthodox rabbinate wields historically sanctioned influence over the legal definitions of marriage and parenthood same sex parenthood raises important questions such as what constitutes belonging to the national collective who has the authority to define the norms of reproduction and where the boundaries of Orthodox Judaism begin and end Judaism in Motion addresses these questions from a transgenerational perspective that pays heed to how religiously informed rules norms and practices of transferring material properties names and societal belonging are adopted and transformed It presents a detailed ethnographic account of the dynamic interaction between kinship religion and the state that complicates the commonly held assumption that places same sex parenthood in a radically secular sphere that stands in stark opposition to Orthodox Judaism Taking same sex parenthood as a prism through which society at large is reflected this volume further explores how transformations of societal structures take place and what flexibility and leeway exist in organized religions

A Queer Way Out Hila Amit, 2018-05-22 Winner of the 2019 Association for Middle East Women's Studies Book Award The very language of Zionism prizes the concept of immigration to Israel aliyah literally ascending while stigmatizing emigration from Israel yerida descending In A Queer Way Out Hila Amit explores the as yet untold story of queer Israeli emigrants Drawing on extensive fieldwork in Berlin London and New York she examines motivations for departure and feelings of unbelonging to the Israeli national collective Amit shows that sexual orientation and left wing political affiliation play significant roles in decisions to leave Queer Israeli emigrants question national and heterosexual norms such as army service monogamy and reproduction Amit argues that emigration itself is not only a political act but one that pioneers a deliberately unheroic form of resistance to Zionist ideology This fascinating study enriches our understandings of migration political activism and queer forms of living in Israel and beyond

Gender and the Abjection of Blackness Sabine Broeck, 2018-05-22 In Gender and the Abjection of Blackness Sabine Broeck argues that gender studies as a mostly white field has taken insufficient account of Black contributions and that more than being an ethnocentric limitation or blind spot this has represented a structural anti Blackness in the field Engaging with the work of Black feminist authors Sylvia Wynter Hortense Spillers and Saidiya Hartman Broeck critiques a selection of canonical white gender studies texts to make this case The book discusses this problem at the core of gender theory as a practice which Broeck terms enslavism the ongoing abjection of Black life which Hartman has called the afterlife of slavery This has become manifest in the repetitive employment of the woman as slave metaphor so central to gender theory as well as in recent theoretical mutations of these anti Black politics of analogy It is the structural separation of Blackness from gender that has functioned over and over again as the scaffold enabling white women's struggles for successful recognition of equality and subjectivity in the human world as we know it This book challenges white readers to rethink their own untroubled identification with gender theory and it provides all readers with a white feminist theorist's sophisticated theoretical and self-critical scholarly account of her own reckoning with and learning in dialogue from Black feminism's critique

Claiming Home Tina Büchler,2022-01-12 Through biographical narratives Claiming Home traces how queer migrant women living in Switzerland navigate often contradictory perspectives on sexuality gender and nation Situated between heteronormative and racialized stereotypes of migrant women on the one hand and the implicitly white figure of the lesbian on the other queer migrant women are often rendered impossible subjects Claiming Home maps how they negotiate conflicting loyalties in this field and how they in their own way claim a sense of belonging and home The Everyday Life of the State Adam White,2013-07-15 Today there are more states controlling more people than at any other point in history We live in a world shaped by the authority of the state Yet the complexion of state authority is patchy and uneven While it is almost always possible to trace the formal rules governing human interaction to the statute books of one state or another in reality the words in these books often have little bearing upon what is happening on the ground Their meanings are intentionally and unintentionally misrepresented by those who are supposed to enforce them and by those who are supposed to obey them generating a range of competing authorities voices and allegiances The Everyday Life of the State explores this everyday transformation of state authority into multiple scripts narratives and political activities Drawing upon case studies from across the Middle East North Africa and Asia the chapters in this book investigate the many ways in which those subjects traditionally regarded as being weak passive and obedient manage not only to resist the authority of state actors but to actively subvert and appropriate it in the process making unmaking and remaking the boundaries between state and society over and over again Collectively these chapters make an important contribution to the expanding literature on everyday politics The state in society concept used in this volume has been developed by political scientist Joel S Migdal the Robert F Philip Professor of International Studies in the University of Washington s Henry M Jackson School of International Studies
