Daisy Tales and Other Stories of My Grandfather's Younger Days in the South Georgia Piney Woods By Joseph P. Byrd IV. Daisy Tales and Other Stories of My Grandfather's Younger Days in the South Georgia Piney Woods is a book of stories, remembrances, and maybe a few tall tales as recounted by the author's maternal grandfather William Leroy Edwards. Much of the material obtained by his father was transcribed by his mother in the summer of 1955 when his widowed grandfather visited their home. Upon reading his grandfather's stories, the author was transported back in time to the Georgia frontier and impressed with his sense of humor. Initially thinking it a project to share with family, the author concluded these stories would appeal to a larger readership who would be interested in memoirs, history, Southern humor, in addition to family history.

Making the World a Better Place Jacqueline Jones Royster, 2023-06-27. In Making the World a Better Place, Royster argues that African American women must be taken seriously as historical actors who were more consistently and more variously engaged in community and nation building than they have been given credit for. Their considerable rhetorical expertise becomes evident when looking carefully at their work in terms of identity, agency, authority, and expressiveness. Their writings constitute a substantial artifactual record of their levels of engagement, their excellence in sociopolitical work, and the legacies of leadership and action. The writing of African American women during the nineteenth century reflects their own perceptions of the ways and means of their lives. They deserve to be recognized as consequential contributors to the narratives of the nation rather than marginalized as a group. To that end, Jacqueline Jones Royster offers a deeper understanding, often through their own words, of these women, their practices, and their achievements.
