Saskatchewan Canada Series:

Saskatchewan Bernard D. Thraves, 2007 Saskatchewan Geographic Perspectives is Saskatchewan's first comprehensive geography textbook. Its major sections cover these themes: Physical Geography, Historical and Cultural Geography, Population and Settlement, and Economic Geography. Eighteen chapters provide an excellent overview of the province from a variety of geographic perspectives, while twenty-nine focus studies explore specific topics in depth. It presents the work of forty-three scholars and is well illustrated with more than 150 figures, 70 tables, and over 60 full-colour plates. It also includes full reference lists and a comprehensive index. Although prepared specifically for use in post-secondary geography programs, this book is also appropriate for high school research projects and for anyone interested in the many facets of this vast and varied province. Canadian Plains Research Center, 2005 Treaty Elders of Saskatchewan Harold Cardinal, Walter Hildebrand, 2000

It is my hope and the hope of the Office of the Treaty Commissioner that this publication can help provide the historical context needed to intelligently and respectfully forge new relations between First Nations people and non-Aboriginal people in the province of Saskatchewan. It has already done so in part by facilitating the work of our office in bringing together the parties of the Federation of Saskatchewan Indian Nations and Canada to reach common understandings and to use the Treaties as a bridge from the past to the future so that we can learn from the past and work together towards a future built on co-operation and mutual respect. Judge David M. Arnot, Treaty Commissioner for Saskatchewan.

We were told that these treaties were to last forever. The government and the government officials, the Commissioner told us that as long as the grass grows and the sun rises from the east and sets in the west and the river flows, these treaties will last. Treaty 6 Elder Alma Kytwayhat. We say it's our Father, the White man says our Father in his language so from there we should understand that he becomes our brother and we have to live harmoniously with him. There should not be any conflict; we must uphold the word witaskewin, which means to live in peace and harmony with one another. Elder Jacob Bill. Geological Survey of Canada, Open File 3888, The Ecoregions of Saskatchewan G. A. Padbury, Donald F. Acton, Colette T. Stushnoff, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, Saskatchewan. Saskatchewan Environment and Resource Management, 1998

This book describes the ecoregions of Saskatchewan following a hierarchical framework for terrestrial ecosystems in Canada. The introduction reviews ecological land classification and the various interrelated factors that are involved in the development of ecosystems: geology, water, climate, vegetation, soils, wildlife, and human impacts. The main section describes the province within the context of the four ecozones and 11 ecoregions that were identified in the framework. For each ecoregion, the book provides a description of the physical setting such as geology, climate, as well as the biological features that have developed in response to this physical environment. The impact of human activities on the ecology of the area concludes each of these
