Savage Cinema Stephen Prince,1998 More than any other filmmaker Sam Peckinpah opened the door for graphic violence in movies In this book Stephen Prince explains the rise of explicit violence in the American cinema its social effects and the relation of contemporary ultraviolence to the radical humanistic filmmaking that Peckinpah practiced Prince demonstrates Peckinpah s complex approach to screen violence and shows him as a serious artist whose work was tied to the social and political upheavals of the 1960s He explains how the director s commitment to showing the horror and pain of violence compelled him to use a complex style that aimed to control the viewer s response Prince offers an unprecedented portrait of Peckinpah the filmmaker Drawing on primary research materials Peckinpah s unpublished correspondence scripts production memos and editing notes he provides a wealth of new information about the making of the films and Peckinpah s critical shaping of their content and violent imagery This material shows Peckinpah as a filmmaker of intelligence a keen observer of American society and a tragic artist disturbed by the images he created Prince s account establishes for the first time Peckinpah s place as a major filmmaker This book is essential reading for those interested in Peckinpah the problem of movie violence and contemporary American cinema

Savage Cinema Stephen Prince,1998 Peckinpah s The Wild Bunch and Straw Dogs are classics of the violent and opened the door to a fresh disturbing trend in modern film making This text is a fundamental reappraisal of Peckinpah s radical humanistic film making revealing him as serious artist whose work was tied to the social and political upheavals of the American 1960s

Screening Violence 1 Stephen Prince,2001-01-01 Following the release in 1967 of Bonnie and Clyde and The Dirty Dozen violence has been seen as a defining feature of the modern film Is it art or exploitation Danger or liberation This volume provides an examination of the history and effects of graphic violence on film

Film Genre 2000 Wheeler Winston Dixon,2000-02-24 Covering over 100 feature films in critical depth and detail this reader provides an excellent

introduction to American genre filmmaking since 1990 These previously unpublished essays by prominent film scholars each address a different film genre from science fiction to romance to 90s noir as well as the ways in which genre filmmaking as a whole has been changed by the new technologies and market forces that are shaping the future of cinema One of the peculiar aspects of recent American genre filmmaking is its apparent facelessness its desire to subsume itself into the larger framework of genre cinema and not to identify each film as a unique exemplar What this book argues among other things is that the implicit message in contemporary genre films is rarely that which is signified by a film's external or even internal narrative structure What drives the thematic and structural concerns of recent genre cinema is the recovery of initial investment made all the more pressing by the fact that each film released theatrically now represents an investment of many millions of dollars For better or worse American genre cinema dominates the globe The Hollywood genre film has become one of America's most prolific and profitable social exports These contemporary genre films all seek to further the values of their nation of origin as they journey through the world on film videotape DVDs and television it is the pervasive influence and numerous subjects of these films that are analyzed here Contributors include Heather Addison Chuck Berg Ton Conley David M Desser Wheeler Winston Dixon Marc Miller Catherine Preston Stephen Prince David Sanjek Mark A Reid John Tibbets Jim Welsh and Ron Wilson

Cinematic Corpographies Eileen Rositzka, 2018-05-22 Writing on the relationship between war and cinema has largely been dominated by an emphasis on optics and weaponised vision However as this analysis of the Hollywood war film will show a wider sensory field is powerfully evoked in this genre Contouring war cinema as representing a somatic experience of space the study applies a term recently developed by Derek Gregory within the theoretical framework of Critical Geography What he calls corpography implies a constant re mapping of landscape through the soldier's body These assumptions can be used as a connection between already established theories of cartographic film narration and ideas of neo phenomenological film experience as they also entail the involvement of the spectator's body in sensuously grasping what is staged as a mediated experience of war While cinematic codes of war have long been oriented almost exclusively to the visual the notion of corpography can help to reframe the concept of film genre in terms of expressive movement patterns and genre memory avoiding reverting to the usual taxonomies of generic texts

Film Style and the World War II Combat Genre Stuart Bender,2014-08-11

Film Style and the World War II Combat Genre is a detailed examination of the stylistic means by which filmmakers depict stories of combat The work furthers contemporary discussions by analyzing a range of World War II combat films to a degree of detail which has previously escaped critical attention This substantial examination of cinematography sound editing and acting in a range of movies including Saving Private Ryan Windtalkers Bataan and Objective Burma demonstrates the importance of close attention to the textual construction of these films specifically as well as cinematic texts more generally

The work advances the original analytic descriptions of controlled spontaneity and reported realism as theoretical concepts which explain why viewers regard certain stylistic techniques as realistic This notion of realism is then further understood through reference to a body of research in cognitive psychology to argue that the density of audio visual information in contemporary combat films is a significant factor in creating a sense of realism

Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood Hauke Lehmann, 2019-12-02 How is affective experience produced in the cinema And how can we write a history of this experience By asking these questions this study by Hauke Lehmann aims at rethinking our conception of a critical period in US film history the New Hollywood as a moment of crisis that can neither be reduced to economic processes of adaption nor to a collection of masterpieces Rather the fine grained analysis of core films reveals the power of cinematic images to affect their audiences to confront them with the new The films of the New Hollywood redefine the divisions of the classical genre system in a radical way and thereby transform the way spectators are addressed affectively in the cinema The study describes a complex interplay between three modes of affectivity suspense paranoia and melancholy All three each in their own way implicate spectators in the deep seated contradictions of their own feelings and their ways of being in the world their relations to history to society and to cultural fantasy On this basis Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood projects an original conception of film history as an affective history which can be re written up to the present day

A Little Solitaire Murray Pomerance, R. Barton Palmer, 2011 Think about some commercially successful film masterpieces The Manchurian Candidate Seven Days in May Seconds Then consider some lesser known yet equally compelling cinematic achievements The Fixer The Gypsy Moths Path to War These triumphs are the work of the best known and most highly regarded Hollywood director to emerge from live TV drama in the 1950s five time Emmy award winner John Frankenheimer Although Frankenheimer was a pioneer in the genre of political thrillers who embraced the antimodernist critique of contemporary society some of his later films did not receive the attention they deserved Many claimed that at a midpoint in his career he had lost his touch World renowned film scholars put this myth to rest in A Little Solitaire which offers the only multidisciplinary critical account of Frankenheimer's oeuvre Especially emphasized is his deep and passionate engagement with national politics and the irrepressible need of human beings to assert their rights and individuality in the face of organizations that would reduce them to silence and anonymity

Classical Film Violence Stephen Prince, 2003 Examines the interplay between the aesthetics and the censorship of violence in classic Hollywood films from 1930 to 1968 the era of the Production Code when filmmakers were required to have their scripts approved before they could start production A stylistic history of American screen violence that is grounded in industry documentation back cover A New Pot of Gold Stephen Prince, 2002-03-15 Facing an economic crisis in the 1980s Hollywood moved to control the markets of videotape pay cable and pay per view This volume examines the transformation that took the industry from the production of theatrical film to media software From Virgin Land to Disney World, 2016-08-22 With the publication in English in 1930 of Civilization and its Discontents and its thesis that instinct and ultimately nature had been and must be forever subordinated in order that civilization might thrive and endure Freud contributed what some contemporaries saw to the central debate of his era a debate which had long preoccupied both official American pundits and the American populace at large At the beginning of the new Millennium evidence abounds that an American debate still rages over the meaning of nature the rightful weight of instinct and the status of civilization The Millennium itself has appeared in popular and official discourses as an appropriate marker of an age in which nature is close to the edge of radical extinction and has also become more and more unreliable as a paradigm for representation and debate At the same time the contemporary tailoring of nature to postmodern needs and expectations inevitably reveals the conceptual difficulty of any possible simple opposition between nature and culture as if they were clearly distinguishable domains If nature then can clearly be seen as a discursive concept it may also be a timeless concept insofar that it has been shaped created and used at all times Every epoch age and era had its own nature with myth history and ideology as its dominant shaping forces From the Frontier to Cyberia nature has been suffering the agony of the real resurfacing in discursive strategies and demonstrating a powerful impact on American society culture and self definition The essays in this collection speak critically of the natural and examine the American debate in the many guises it has assumed over the last century within the context of major critical approaches psychoanalytical concepts and postmodern theorizing The Films of Walter Hill Brian Brems, 2022-09-09 In The Films of Walter Hill Another Time Another Place Brian Brems explores how action emerged as a full fledged genre of cinema Walter Hill established his position in the genre first as a screenwriter and then as a director Hill Brems argues helped merge the thematic and stylistic concerns of the Western and film noir into a new action cinema establishing a reputation for mythic highly stylized storytelling driven by a relentless pace Through analyses of Hill's filmography this book demonstrates his consistent use of the architecture of classical storytelling to help codify the language of the action movie These observations are supported by extensive conversations with Walter Hill and several of his on screen collaborators including Lance Henriksen Sigourney Weaver David Patrick Kelly James Renmar and William Sadler Ultimately Brems positions Hill as a key American film artist whose work has inspired countless imitations

Horror Film and Psychoanalysis Steven Jay Schneider, 2004-06-28 Psychoanalytic theory has been the subject of attacks from philosophers cultural critics and scientists who have questioned the cogency of its reasoning as well as the soundness of its premises Nevertheless when used to shed light on horror cinema psychoanalysis in its various forms has proven to be a fruitful and provocative interpretative tool This volume seeks to find the proper place of psychoanalytic thought in critical discussion of cinema in a series of essays that debate its legitimacy utility and validity as applied to the horror genre It distinguishes itself from previous work in this area through the self consciousness with which psychoanalytic concepts are employed and the theorization that coexists with interpretations of particular horror films and subgenres
