Saving Angkor:

Saving Angkor C. M. Bhandari, 1995      A Heritage of Ruins William R. Chapman, 2013-07-31 The ancient ruins of Southeast Asia have long sparked curiosity and romance in the world's imagination. They appear in accounts of nineteenth-century French explorers as props for Indiana Jones adventures and more recently as the scene of Lady Lara Croft's fantastical battle with the forces of evil. They have been featured in National Geographic magazine and serve as backdrops for popular television travel and reality shows. Now William Chapman's expansive new study explores the varied roles these monumental remains have played in the histories of Southeast Asia's modern nations. Based on more than fifteen years of travel research and visits to hundreds of ancient sites, A Heritage of Ruins shows the close connection between ruins, conservation, and both colonialism and nation building. It also demonstrates the profound impact of European-derived ideas of historic and aesthetic significance on ancient ruins and how these continue to color the management and presentation of sites in Southeast Asia today. Angkor, Pagan, Bagan, Borobudur, and Ayutthaya lie at the center of this cultural and architectural tour, but less-visited sites including Laos's stunning Vat Phou, the small temple platforms of Malaysia's Lembah Bujang Valley, the candi of the Dieng Plateau in Java, and the ruins of Mingun in Burma and Wiang Kum Kam near Chiang Mai in northern Thailand are also discussed. All share a relative isolation from modern urban centers of population, sitting in park-like settings serving as objects of tourism and as lynchpins for local and even national economies. Chapman argues that these sites also remain important to surrounding residents both as a means of income and as continuing sources of spiritual meaning. He examines the complexities of heritage efforts in the context of present-day expectations by focusing on the roles of both outside and indigenous experts in conservation and management and on attempts by local populations to reclaim their patrimony and play a larger role in protection and interpretation. Tracing the history of interventions aimed at halting time's decay, Chapman provides a chronicle of conservation efforts over a century and a half, highlighting the significant part foreign expertise has played in the region and the ways that national programs have in recent years begun to break from earlier models. The book ends with suggestions for how Southeast Asian managers and officials might best protect their incomparable heritage of art and architecture and how this legacy might be preserved for future generations.

Architectural Conservation in Asia John H. Stubbs, Robert G. Thomson, 2016-11-10 The first comprehensive overview of architectural conservation in Asia. Internationally renowned author John Stubbs follows up on the success of his previous volumes Time Honored and A Global View of Architectural Conservation and Architectural Conservation in Europe and the Americas. Architectural conservation is a rapidly expanding and under-researched field in Asia, and international experts are often brought in, making the subject of considerable interest to international academics. Boxes and case studies by local experts add depth and interest to the author's meticulous research. A website with extra information and resources accompanies the series: <http://conservebuiltworld.com>      Angkor Wat - A Transcultural History of Heritage Michael

Falser, 2019-12-16 This book unravels the formation of the modern concept of cultural heritage by charting its colonial postcolonial nationalist and global trajectories By bringing to light many unresearched dimensions of the twelfth century Cambodian temple of Angkor Wat during its modern history the study argues for a conceptual connected history that unfolded within the transcultural interstices of European and Asian projects With more than 1 400 black and white and colour illustrations of historic photographs architectural plans and samples of public media the monograph discusses the multiple lives of Angkor Wat over a 150 year long period from the 1860s to the 2010s Volume 1 Angkor in France reconceptualises the Orientalist French colonial discovery of the temple in the nineteenth century and brings to light the manifold strategies at play in its physical representations as plaster cast substitutes in museums and as hybrid pavilions in universal and colonial exhibitions in Marseille and Paris from 1867 to 1937 Volume 2 Angkor in Cambodia covers for the first time in this depth the various on site restoration efforts inside the Archaeological Park of Angkor from 1907 until 1970 and the temple's gradual canonisation as a symbol of national identity during Cambodia's troublesome decolonisation 1953-89 from independence to Khmer Rouge terror and Vietnamese occupation and finally as a global icon of UNESCO World Heritage since 1992 until today Congratulations to our author Michael Falser who received the prestigious 2021 ICAS Book Prize in the Ground Breaking Subject Matter category Cultural Heritage as Civilizing Mission Michael Falser, 2015-03-04 This book investigates the role of cultural heritage as a constitutive dimension of different civilizing missions from the colonial era to the present It includes case studies of the Habsburg Empire and German colonialism in Africa Asian case studies of post colonial India and the Dutch East Indies Indonesia China and French Indochina and a special discussion on 20th century Cambodia and the temples of Angkor The themes examined range from architectural and intellectual history to historic preservation and restoration Taken together they offer an overview of historical processes spanning two centuries of institutional practices wherein the concept of cultural heritage was appropriated both by political regimes and for UNESCO World Heritage agendas International Heritage and Historic Building Conservation Zeynep Aygen, 2013 The majority of books in English on historic building conservation and heritage preservation training are often restricted to Western architecture and its origins Consequently the history of building conservation the study of contemporary paradigms and case studies in most universities and within wider interest circles predominantly in the UK Europe and USA focus mainly on Europe and sometimes the USA although the latter is often excluded from European publications With an increasingly multicultural student body in Euro American universities and with a rising global interest in heritage preservation there is an urgent need for publications to cover a larger geographical and social area including not only Asia Australia Africa and South America but also previously neglected countries in Europe like the new members of the European Community and the northern neighbour of the USA Canada The inclusion of the other in built environment education in general and in building conservation in particular is a pre requisite of cultural interaction and widening participation International Heritage and Historic Building Conservation assesses successful contemporary conservation paradigms from around the world. The book evaluates conservation case studies from previously excluded areas of the world to create an integrated account of Historic Building Conservation that crosses the boundaries of language and culture and sets an example for further inclusive research. Analyzing the influence of financial constraints, regional conflicts and cultural differences on the heritage of disadvantaged countries, this leading edge volume is essential for researchers and students of heritage studies interested in understanding their topics in a wider framework.

A Future in Ruins Lynn Meskell, 2018-06-01. Best known for its World Heritage program committed to the identification, protection and preservation of cultural and natural heritage around the world, considered to be of outstanding value to humanity, the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) was founded in 1945 as an intergovernmental agency aimed at fostering peace, humanitarianism and intercultural understanding. Its mission was inspired by leading European intellectuals such as Henri Bergson, Marie Curie, Albert Einstein, Thomas Mann, H. G. Wells and Aldous Huxley. Often critiqued for its inherent Eurocentrism, UNESCO and its World Heritage program today remain embedded within modernist principles of progress and development and subscribe to the liberal principles of diplomacy and mutual tolerance. However, its mission to prevent conflict, destruction and intolerance, while noble and much needed, increasingly falls short as recent battles over the World Heritage sites of Preah Vihear, Chersonesos, Jerusalem, Palmyra, Aleppo and Sana'a among others have underlined. A Future in Ruins is the story of UNESCO's efforts to save the world's heritage and in doing so, forge an international community dedicated to peaceful co-existence and conservation. It traces how archaeology and internationalism were united in Western initiatives after the political upheavals of the First and Second World Wars. This formed the backdrop for the emergent hopes of a better world that were to captivate the minds of men. UNESCO's leaders were also confronted with challenges and conflicts about their own mission. Would the organization aspire to intellectual pursuits that contributed to the dream of peace or instead be relegated to an advisory and technical agency? An eye-opening and long overdue account of a celebrated yet poorly understood agency. A Future in Ruins calls on us all to understand how and why the past comes to matter in the present, who shapes it and who wins or loses as a consequence.

Sacred Angkor Vittorio Roveda, 2002. The Khmer empire, which at its height covered the whole of present-day Cambodia and most of Thailand, flourished over 500 years. At its heart was Angkor Wat, the largest religious monument in the world, built during the reign of the Khmer king Suryavarman II in the first half of the twelfth century. The temple was dedicated to Vishnu and its magnificent architecture mirrored in microcosm the entire Hindu universe. To enhance its sacred nature, over 600 meters of bas-reliefs were carved on the walls of the third enclosure, illustrating battles and processions, Heavens and Hells, and the creation myth. Following the great success of Vittorio Roveda's Khmer Mythology, which unraveled the stories and significance of the relief carvings of numerous Khmers, the author returns to Angkor Wat to examine the magnificent carvings of the long galleries, the corner pavilions, pediments, lintels, as well as the lesser known sculpted tapestry reliefs The gradual reading of the reliefs as pages of an ancient book unravel the religious and secular symbolism with which Angkor Wat was imbued by the Khmers in the XII century Aided by the photography of Jaroslav Poncar Vittorio Roveda reveals the iconographic intricacies of this magnificent temple as never before

Rethinking Cultural Resource Management in Southeast Asia John N. Miksic, Geok Yian Goh, Sue O'Connor, 2011
Presenting both the need for and difficulty of introducing effective cultural resource management CRM in the region Rethinking Cultural Resource Management in Southeast Asia explores the challenges facing efforts to protect Southeast Asia's indigenous cultures and archaeological sites from the ravages of tourism and economic development Recognising the inapplicability of Euro American solutions to this part of the world the essays of this volume investigate their own set of region specific CRM strategies and acknowledge both the necessity and possibility of mediating between the conflicting interests of short term profitability and long term sustainability 'Archaeologizing' Heritage? Michael Falser, Monica Juneja, 2013-05-31 This book investigates what has constituted notions of archaeological heritage from colonial times to the present It includes case studies of sites in South and Southeast Asia with a special focus on Angkor Cambodia The contributions the subjects of which range from architectural and intellectual history to historic preservation and restoration evaluate historical processes spanning two centuries which saw the imagination and production of dead archaeological ruins by often overlooking living local social and ritual forms of usage on site Case studies from computational modelling in archaeology discuss a comparable paradigmatic change from a mere simulation of supposedly dead archaeological building material to an increasing appreciation and scientific incorporation of the knowledge of local stakeholders This book seeks to bring these different approaches from the humanities and engineering sciences into a trans disciplinary discussion A Girl Called Nothing Elizabeth Anne Biddle, 2010-05 I squint through the rising heat waves of the stifling Cambodian sun They beat down on me like the cane my father uses at home when I bring home no money Carved faces watch me pitifully through their dark stone eyes I stare back at them determined not to look away Inspired by a true life encounter between the author Elizabeth Anne Biddle and a Cambodian girl A Girl Called Nothing is a vibrant collection including an original short story Cambodian myths legends and history accompanied by enthralling photos taken by the Biddle family It is the first book in a series by the author called Through Other Eyes Artist Joey Yau hauntingly illustrates these tales of Cambodia Perfect for anyone who loves history adventure majestic images and epic stories A Girl Called Nothing will transport you into one of the most exotically enticing countries of the twenty first century By purchasing this book you will help children in Cambodia who deserve a brighter future Please visit www.mloptapang.org for more information Asian Heritage Management Kapila Silva, Neel Kamal Chapagain, 2013-03-05 The prevalent global heritage discourse has been primarily Euro centric in its origin premise and praxis Diverse cultural historical and geographical contexts such as that of Asia call for more context specific approaches to heritage management This book explores this complexity of managing the cultural heritage in Asia Case studies include sites of Angkor Himeji Castle Kathmandu Valley Luang Prabang Lumbini and Malacca and the book uses these to explore the religious worldviews heritage policies intangible heritage dimensions traditional preservation practices cultural tourism and the notion of cultural landscape that are crucial in understanding the cultural heritage in Asia It critiques the contemporary regulatory frameworks in operation and focuses on the issues of global impact on the local cultures in the region The book goes on to emphasize the need for integrated heritage management approaches that encompass the plurality of heritage conservation concerns in Asian countries Themes are discussed from the vantage point of heritage scholars and practitioners in the South Southeast and East Asia This book thus presents a distinctive Asian perspective which is a valuable source for students and practitioners of heritage within and beyond the Asian context

Post-Conflict Archaeology and Cultural Heritage Paul Newson, Ruth Young, 2017-11-14 The human cost in any conflict is of course the first care in terms of the reduction if not the elimination of damage However the destruction of archaeology and heritage as a consequence of civil and international wars is also of major concern and the irreversible loss of monuments and sites through conflict has been increasingly discussed and documented in recent years Post Conflict Archaeology and Cultural Heritage draws together a series of papers from archaeological and heritage professionals seeking positive pragmatic and practical ways to deal with conflict damaged sites For instance by showing that conflict damaged cultural heritage and archaeological sites are a valuable resource rather than an inevitable casualty of war and suggesting that archaeologists use their skills and knowledge to bring communities together giving them ownership of and identification with their cultural heritage The book is a mixture of the discussion of problems suggested planning solutions and case studies for both archaeologists and heritage managers It will be of interest to heritage professionals archaeologists and anyone working with post conflict communities as well as anthropology archaeology and heritage academics and their students at a range of levels

Heritage Conservation and China's Belt and Road Initiative Victor Chan, Yew-Foong Hui, Desmond Hui, Kazem Vafadari, 2023-11-23 This book explores how China's Belt and Road Initiative through promoting a non Western centred geopolitical narrative is affecting the conservation and management of Belt and Road heritage sites Considering the dynamics between academics heritage professionals and government officials the inscription process and management of Silk Roads heritage sites and the practice of China's Belt and Road heritage diplomacy the book examines how changing heritage conservation practices are influenced by politics and professionalism and negotiated in different ways across different nation states in the Belt and Road zones Highlighting the different aims and outlooks of Chinese diplomacy UNESCO and other international heritage conservation organisations nation states as guardians of national interests and local communities as custodians of everyday lived heritage it shows how the Belt and Road Initiative has energised multilateral efforts in heritage diplomacy and management It also discusses how the professional status of heritage professionals including practitioners engaged by governments and international organisations and also scholars and researchers who provide consultancy advice is often not politics free with heritage professionals often co opted into speaking for stakeholders especially national governments

The Final Name Jacob Emrey, 2025-06-18 It was technology not magic or brute strength that won the Great War Humanity prevailed and sequestered the orcs into a single city while the elves were scattered and forced into squalor However for a new generation of nobles this is not enough The very fact that orcs exist is a threat and thus must be extinguished Old hatreds bubble to the surface and a kingdom once at peace finds itself on the precipice of a new war Unfortunately the balance is in the hands of a spoiled prince an old warrior orc and an orphaned elf none of which seem to keen on the prospect of peace

Tourism, Land Grabs and Displacement Andreas Neef, 2021-05-09 This book examines the global scope of tourism related grabbing of land and other natural resources Tourism is often presented as a peaceful and benevolent sector that brings people from different cultural backgrounds together and contributes to employment poverty alleviation and global sustainable development This book sheds light on the lesser known and much darker side of tourism as it unfolds in the Global South While there is no doubt that tourism has been an engine of economic growth for many so called developing countries this has often come at the cost of widespread dispossession and displacement of Indigenous and non indigenous communities In many countries of the Global South tourism development is increasingly prioritised by governments businesses international financial institutions and donors over the legitimate land and resource rights of local people This book examines the actors drivers mechanisms discourses and impacts of tourism related land grabbing and displacement drawing on more than thirty case studies from Latin America and the Caribbean sub Saharan Africa South and Southeast Asia the Middle East and the Southwest Pacific The book provides solid grounds for an informed debate on how different actors are responsible for the adverse impacts of tourism on land rights infringements what forms of resistance have been deployed against tourism related land grabs and displacement and how those who have violated local land and resource rights can be held accountable Tourism Land Grabs and Displacement will be essential reading for students and scholars of land and resource grabbing tourism studies development studies and sustainable development more broadly as well as policymakers and practitioners working in those fields
