In Our Own Image Wesley J. Wildman,2017-12-15 In Our Own Image is a work of comparative philosophical theology It is a study of the roles anthropomorphism and apophaticism play in the construction of conceptual models of ultimate reality. Leading scholar Wesley J. Wildman considers whether we create our ideas of God. He offers a comparative analysis of three major classes of ultimacy models, paying particular attention to the way those classes are impacted by anthropomorphism while tracing their relative strengths and weaknesses. Wildman provides a constructive theological argument on behalf of an apophatic understanding of ultimate reality, showing how this understanding subsumes challenges and relates ultimacy models from the three classes being compared. He describes and compares competing ultimacy models fairly and sympathetically. The conclusion is that all models cognitively break on the shoals of ultimate reality, but that the ground of being class of models carries us further than the others in regard to the comparative criteria that matter most.

Magazine of Botany and Register of Flowering Plants Joseph Paxton, 1841    The Marshall Plan: Fifty Years After NA NA, 2016-04-30. The text focuses first on the impact of the Marshall plan on the organization of political and economic life in post-war Europe and how the plan was perceived in European public opinion. It then examines its role in the construction of European union and in the division of Europe. Finally, the book analyzes the debate about the economic impact of the Marshall Plan in the post-war economic miracle in Western Europe. The authors of these chapters are well-known historians, economists, and political scientists whose original chapters derive from their work on post-war Europe.
