Words about Words about Words Murray Krieger, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1987 In Words about Words about Words Murray Krieger advances his ongoing dialogue with the rich diversity of contemporary literary theory and elaborates on his own position as it grows out of an opposing relation to much of current criticism Krieger examines the kinds of ideologies and ontologies smuggled into literary theory that purports to be anti ideological and anti ontological He explores the extent to which critical fashions dictate the development of theory and the reasons why particular theories exclude certain kinds of literary works in favor of others Under such circumstances Krieger asks What becomes of the critic s task of evaluation Further what is the relation of the idea of progress to criticism and the arts and what is the effect of these notions on cultural and intellectual institutions He seeks an alternative to the deterministic tendencies of the new historicism in viewing the relations of literature and literary criticism to society Progressing from broad questions to more focused critical problems and close readings Krieger reviews the aesthetic tradition as it has evolved from Kant He engages in debate with deconstructionist critics about the role of symbol and allegory as descriptions of ways in which poems succeed or fail in constructing their verbal universe And he argues that for all its brilliance deconstruction has not yet been able to fulfill the social or academic functions of the older aesthetic based disciplines that it set out to deconstruct

A Reopening of Closure Murray Krieger, 1989 Surveying the expanding conflict in Europe during one of his famous fireside chats in 1940 President Franklin Roosevelt ominously warned that we know of other methods new methods of attack The Trojan horse The fifth column that betrays a nation unprepared for treachery Spies saboteurs and traitors are the actors in this new strategy Having identified a new type of war a shadow war being perpetrated by Hitler's Germany FDR decided to fight fire with fire authorizing the formation of the Office of Strategic Services OSS to organize and oversee covert operations Based on an extensive analysis of OSS records including the vast trove of records released by the CIA in the 1980s and 90s as well as a new set of interviews with OSS veterans conducted by the author and a team of American scholars from 1995 to 1997 The Shadow War Against Hitler is the full story of America's far flung secret intelligence apparatus during World War II In addition to its responsibilities generating processing and interpreting intelligence information the OSS orchestrated all manner of dark operations including extending feelers to anti Hitler elements infiltrating spies and sabotage agents behind enemy lines and implementing propaganda programs Planned and directed from Washington the anti Hitler campaign was largely conducted in Europe especially through the OSS's foreign outposts in Bern and London A fascinating cast of characters made the OSS run William J Donovan one of the most decorated individuals in the American military who became the driving force behind the OSS's genesis Allen Dulles the future CIA chief who ran the Bern office which he called the big window onto the fascist world a veritable pantheon of Ivy League academics who were recruited to work for the intelligence services and not least Roosevelt himself A major contribution of the book is the story of how FDR employed Hitler's former propaganda chief Ernst Putzi Hanfstaengl as a private spy More than a record of dramatic incidents and daring personalities this book adds significantly to our understanding of how the United States fought World War II It demonstrates that the extent and limitations of secret intelligence information shaped not only the conduct of the war but also the face of the world that emerged from the shadows

Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture

The States of 'theory' David Carroll, 1990 This book constitutes a critical investigation and rethinking of the grounds and possibilities of theory and the place and critical function theory can serve within various disciplines notably history and aesthetics The Johns Hopkins Guide to Literary Theory and Criticism Michael Groden, Martin Kreiswirth, 1994 Contains over 200 alphabetically arranged entries on the major terms movements and critics associated with the field of literary theory and criticism Contemporary Critical Theory and the Literary Revisionism of W.B. Yeats' Later Poetry Thomas F. Lannin, 1988 The Reception of Northrop Frye, 2021-08-31 The widespread opinion is that Northrop Frye's influence reached its zenith in the 1960s and 1970s after which point he became obsolete his work buried in obscurity This almost universal opinion is summed up in Terry Eagleton's 1983 rhetorical question Who now reads Frye In The Reception of Northrop Frye Robert D Denham catalogues what has been written about Frye books articles translations dissertations and theses and reviews in order to demonstrate that the attention Frye's work has received from the beginning has progressed at a geomantic rate Denham also explores what we can discover once we have a fairly complete record of Frye's reception in front of us such as Hayden White's theory of emplotments applied to historical writing and Byron Almon's theory of musical narrative The sheer quantity of what has been written about Frye reveals that the only valid response to Eagleton's rhetorical question is a very large and growing number the growth being not incremental but exponential The Critical Path and Other Writings on Critical Theory, 1963-1975 Jean O'Grady, Eva Kushner, 2009-03-14 This volume which collects Northrop Frye's writings on the theory of literary criticism from the middle period of his career includes one of Frye's own favourites The Critical Path 1971 A highly important marker of Frye's career The Critical Path openly addresses topics that he had previously been reluctant to discuss as fully including the importance of literature to society the responsibilities of critics and the deeper rationales for studying literature Filled with insightful texts that indicate his transition from literary critic to a theorist of language myth and human culture this edition helps to illuminate many of the ideas and arguments that would appear later in The Great Code and Words with Power Accompanied by the rigorous scholarship for which the series is renowned this is another valuable contribution to literary criticism and theory Shakespeare's Tragedies and Modern Critical Theory James Cunningham, 1997 Individual chapters deal with cultural materialism new historicism poststructuralism and feminist criticism The theoretical basis of each critical mode is examined and some representative critiques analyzed Most importantly in each chapter the various interpretations are tested against Shakespeare's texts and the strengths and weaknesses of the different readings are assessed Jacques Derrida (Routledge Revivals) William Schultz, Lewis L.B. Fried, 2016-06-17 First published in 1992 this book represents the first major attempt to compile a bibliography of Derrida's work and scholarship about his work It attempts to be comprehensive rather than selective listing primary and secondary works from the year of Derrida's Master's thesis in 1954 up until 1991 and is extensively annotated It arranges under article type a huge number of works from scholars across numerous fields reflecting the interdisciplinary and controversial nature of Deconstruction The substantial introduction and annotations also make this bibliography in part a critical guide and as such will make a highly useful reference tool for those studying his philosophy

Museum of Words James A. W. Heffernan, 2004-04 Ekphrasis is the art of describing works of art the verbal representation of visual representation Profoundly ambivalent ekphrastic poetry celebrates the power of the silent image even as it tries to circumscribe that power with the authority of the word Over the ages its practitioners have created a museum of words about real and imaginary paintings and sculptures In the first book ever to explore this museum James Heffernan argues that ekphrasis stages a battle for mastery between the image and the word Moving from the epics of Homer Virgil and Dante to contemporary American poetry this book treats the history of struggle between rival systems of representation Readable and well illustrated this study of how poets have represented painting and sculpture is a major contribution to our understanding of the relation between the arts

Edgar Allan Poe, Wallace Stevens, and the Poetics of American Privacy Louis A. Renza, 2002-04-01 Throughout the history of the United States a commitment to both democratic political ideals and to capitalist realities has made privacy a persistently controversial issue Only rarely however has privacy attracted the attention of American literary criticism In his ingeniously argued new study Louis A Renza extends the idea of privacy beyond the received wisdom of its popular legal and psychological conceptions and iconoclastically beyond its conception in postmodern literary theory to show that the public private paradigm has import for American literary texts past and present It is a truism of cultural studies that the interior space of imagination is socially constructed and thus that the private is ineluctably political But Renza shows through a brilliantly original analysis of works by Edgar Allan Poe and Wallace Stevens that as an effect of reading and writing a real or radical privacy continually resists appropriation In admirably close readings of Poe's tales his long essay Eureka and Stevens's Harmonium poems Renza demonstrates that both writers ground the concept of privacy in the possibility of multiple interpretations of their texts Neither Poe nor Stevens resists meaning or sense but by thematically engaging in their work the inescapable public private dichotomy of artistic creation they create a highly personal idiom that like Poe's purloined letter allows them to hide in plain sight and in that way to finesse public constructions of meaning Thus surprisingly privacy can always be conceived as something more than what current social cultural codes urge us to believe The poetics Renza compellingly elucidates does not deny the insights of current theory but offers a refreshing alternative that allows for the radical autonomy of authorship without resorting to vague elitist claims of individual genius His thoughtful readings are a major contribution to traditional Poe and Stevens scholarship and his challenging thesis will provoke new investigations into the privacy issue in American literature as a whole

Critical Survey of Literary Theory: Authors, A-Sw Frank Northen Magill, 1987

Hayden White Herman Paul, 2013-04-29 This new book offers a clear and accessible exposition of Hayden

White's thought In an engaging and wide ranging analysis Herman Paul discusses White's core ideas and traces the development of these ideas from the mid 1950s to the present Starting with White's medievalist research and youthful fascination for French existentialism Paul shows how White became increasingly convinced that historical writing is a moral activity He goes on to argue that the critical concepts that have secured White's fame trope plot discourse figural realism all stem from his desire to explicate the moral claims and perceptions underlying historical writing White emerges as a passionate thinker a restless rebel against scientism and a defender of existentialist humanist values This innovative introduction will appeal to students and scholars across the humanities and help develop a critical understanding of an increasingly important thinker

An Aesthetics of Morality John Krapp, 2002 Focusing on instances of moral pedagogy in novels by Thomas Mann Albert Camus Joseph Conrad and Fyodor Dostoevsky he suggests that literature uses an aesthetic portrayal of personal relations to introduce scenes of moral tension that illustrate the way ethical claims are made and validated

BOOK JACKET Möbian Nights Sandor Goodhart, 2017-08-24 I died at Auschwitz French writer Charlotte Delbo asserts and nobody knows it Möbian Nights Reading Literature and Darkness develops a new understanding of literary reading that in the wake of disasters like the Holocaust death remains a premise of our experience rather than a future Challenging customary aesthetic assumptions that we write in order not to die Sandor Goodhart suggests with Kafka we write to die Drawing upon analyses developed by Girard Foucault Blanchot and Levinas along with examples from Homer to Beckett Möbian Nights proposes that all literature works autobiographically which is to say in the wake of disaster with the credo I died therefore I am and for which the language of topology for example the Möbius strip offers a vocabulary for naming the deep structure of such literary critical and scriptural sacrificial and anti sacrificial dynamics
