Nursing Support For Families Of Dying Patients:

Nursing Support for Families of Dying Patients Rosemary McIntyre, 2001-11-28 When a patient has an advanced disease considerable demands are placed on the whole family Whilst coping with their own profound emotions close relatives commonly have to support their loved ones through a range of treatments as the disease progresses through stages of remission and recurrence until finally a shift to a palliative mode of treatment must be faced In such situations family roles and relationships are likely to be disrupted and family members coping resources can be stretched to the limit It is clear from this that by the time the terminal stage of the patient's illness is reached the family may have travelled a long and difficult road and close relatives are likely to be emotionally vulnerable and in need of support This study explores the needs of relatives of terminally ill patients and the concerns of nurses who provide care in the hospital The research data is used to design implement and evaluate clinical standards for improved family support

Paice,2019-03-04 The Oxford Textbook of Palliative Nursing remains the most comprehensive treatise on the art and science of palliative care nursing available Dr Betty Rolling Ferrell and Dr Judith A Paice have invited 162 nursing experts to contribute 76 chapters addressing the physical psychological social and spiritual needs pertinent to the successful palliative care team Organized within 7 Sections this new edition covers the gamut of principles of care from the time of initial diagnosis of a serious illness to the end of a patient's life and beyond. This fifth edition features several new chapters including chapters on advance care planning, organ donation, self-care, global palliative care, and the ethos of palliative nursing. Each chapter is rich with tables and figures, case examples for improved learning, and a strong evidence-based practice to support the highest quality of care. The book offers a valuable and practical resource for students and clinicians across all settings of care. The content is relevant for specialty hospice agencies and palliative care programs as well as generalist knowledge for schools of nursing, oncology, critical care, and pediatric. Developed with the intention of emphasizing the need to extend palliative care beyond the specialty to be integrated in all settings and by all clinicians caring for the seriously ill, this new edition will continue to serve as the cornerstone of palliative care education.

Delivering Culturally Competent Nursing Care, Second Edition: Gloria Kersey-Matusiak, 2018-11-28. Newly revised and updated. Delivering Culturally Competent Nursing Care, Second Edition explores the cross-cultural interactions and conflicts between nurses and the diverse array of patients they may see. Culturally competent nurses can cut through preconceptions, reduce health disparities, and deliver high-quality care as they encounter patients from a range of backgrounds and beliefs. As frontline providers for diverse populations, nurses are expected to treat each patient with empathy and respect. This text addresses what it really means to be culturally competent in nursing practice. As representatives of specific cultural, racial, ethnic, and sociopolitical groups, nurses bring their own values, beliefs, and attitudes to all interactions with patients and with one another. Whether or not nurses choose to make their attitudes explicit, these attitudes ultimately influence the quality of care they provide to patients. The content of this book is grounded in the Staircase Model, which builds upon the nurse's own self-assessment to identify personal limitations, find strategies to improve cultural competence, and progress to the next level. This text features case scenarios that apply the process of cultural competence to different healthcare situations.
