Chartism, Commemoration and the Cult of the Radical Hero Matthew Roberts, 2019-08-15 Chartism the British mass movement for democratic and social rights in the 1830s and 1840s was profoundly shaped by the radical tradition from which it emerged Yet little attention has been paid to how Chartists saw themselves in relation to this diverse radical tradition or to the ways in which they invented their own tradition Paine Cobbett and other founding fathers dead and alive were used and in some cases abused by Chartists in their own attempts to invent a radical tradition By drawing on new and exciting work in the fields of visual and material culture cultures of heroism memory and commemoration critical heritage studies and the history of political thought this book explores the complex cultural work that radical heroes were made to perform The

Paradoxes of History and Memory in Post-Colonial Sierra Leone Sylvia Ojukutu-Macauley, Ismail Rashid, 2013-10-10 This anthology reflects the complex processes in the production of historical knowledge and memory about Sierra Leone and its diaspora since the 1960s The processes while emblematic of experiences in other parts of Africa contain their own distinctive features The fragments of these memories are etched in the psyche bodies and practices of Africans in Africa and other global landscapes and on the other hand are embedded in the various discourses and historical narratives about the continent and its peoples Even though Africans have reframed these discourses and narratives to reclaim and re center their own worldviews agency and experiences since independence they remained until recently heavily sedimented with Western colonialist and racist ideas and frameworks This anthology engages and interrogates the differing frameworks that have informed the different practices professional as well as popular of retelling the Sierra Leonean past In a sense therefore it is concerned with the familiar outline of the story of the making and unmaking of an African nation and its constituent race ethnic class and cultural fragments from colonialism to the present Yet Sierra Leone the oldest and quintessential British colony and most Pan African country in the continent provides interesting twists to this familiar outline The contributors to this volume who consist of different generations of very accomplished and prominent scholars of Sierra Leone in Africa the United States and Europe provide their own distinctive reflections on these twists based on their research interests which cover ethnicity class gender identity formation nation building resistance and social conflict Their contributions engage various paradoxes and transformative moments in Sierra Leone and West African history They also reflect the changing modes of historical practice and perspectives over the last fifty years of independence The Arts of Memory and the

Poetics of Remembering Abbes Maazaoui, 2016-08-17 The Arts of Memory and the Poetics of Remembering This collection of essays explores the dynamics of representation transmission and circulation of memory as well as the role of personal and collective memory in shaping meanings values attitudes and identities Bringing together a group of international scholars from different disciplines the book examines various literary artistic psychological social historical and political narratives ranging from British women's elegies of the First World War to the Brooklyn Dodgers to the constructed narratives of Lincoln University's founding ideals to photographs of the Holocaust and Nazi Camp testimonies Among the key features of the book's approach is its focus on memory not as a static entity but as a set of malleable patterns and strategies that highlight both the unity of the concept of memory and the diversity of its human expressions and artistic forms The Belle Époque

Dominique Kalifa, 2021-07-06 The years before the First World War have long been romanticized as a zenith of French culture the Belle poque The era is seen as the height of a lost way of life that remains emblematic of what it means to be French In a vast range of texts and images it appears as a carefree time full of joie de vivre fanfare and frills artistic daring and scientific innovation The Moulin Rouge shared the stage with the Universal Exposition Toulouse Lautrec rubbed elbows with Marie Curie and La Belle Otero and Fant mas invented automatic writing This book traces the making and the imagining of the Belle poque to reveal how and why it became a cultural myth Dominique Kalifa lifts the veil on a period shrouded in nostalgia explaining the century long need to continuously reinvent and even sanctify this moment He sifts through images handed down in memoirs and reminiscences literature and film art and history to explore the many facets of the era including its worldwide reception The Belle poque was born in France but it quickly went global as other countries adopted the concept to write their own histories In shedding light on how the Belle poque has been celebrated and reimaged Kalifa also offers a nuanced meditation on time history and memory The Resistance in Western Europe, 1940-1945 Olivier

Wieviorka, 2019-09-03 In just three months in 1940 Denmark Norway Belgium the Netherlands Luxembourg and France fell to the Nazis The German occupation of Western Europe had begun but a brave few rose up in defiance National resistance has long been celebrated in remembrances of World War II depicted as making significant contributions to the defeat of Nazi Germany However the so called army of shadows drew heavily on the support of London and Washington a fact often forgotten in postwar Europe The Resistance in Western Europe 1940 1945 is a sweeping analytical history of the underground anti Nazi forces during World War II Examining clandestine organizations in Norway Denmark the Netherlands Belgium France and Italy Olivier Wieviorka sheds new light on the factors that shaped the resistance and its place in the grand scheme of Anglo American military strategy While national actors played a leading role in fomenting resistance British and American intelligence services and propaganda as well as financial material and logistical support were crucial to its activities and growth Wieviorka illuminates the policies of governments in exile and resistance actors regarding cooperation with the British and Americans pointing to the persistence of national self interest and long standing historical tensions Drawing on a wide range of archival sources and bringing together the political diplomatic and military dimensions of the conflict this book is the first account of the resistance on a continental scale and from a trans European perspective

Notes to Literature Theodor W. Adorno, 1991 A brilliant collection of short essays on literary subjects e g Beckett Balzac

Proust Thomas Mann Dickens Goethe Heine the lyric realism the essay and the contemporary novel by the great social theorist 1903 1969 originally published in 1958 as Noten zur literatur Suhrkamp Verlag Frankfurt am Main and here translated by Adorno's former student Shierry Weber Nicholsen Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Preparation of the Novel Roland Barthes, 2011 Completed just weeks before his death the lectures in this volume mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes in which he declared the intention deeply felt to write a novel. Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he combined teaching and writing to simulate the trial of novel writing exploring every step of the creative process along the way Barthes's lectures move from the desire to write to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a novel. He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise notations exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose La Vita Nuova was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one and he turns to classical philosophy Taoism and the works of François-René Chateaubriand Gustave Flaubert Franz Kafka and Marcel Proust. This book uniquely includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes's unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and lecture notes that sketch the critic's views on photography. Following on The Neutral Lecture Course at the Collège de France 1977 1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes lectures this volume provides an intensely personal account of the labor and love of writing. The Metamorphoses of Fat Georges Vigarello, 2013 Tracing the link between changing attitudes toward body size and modern conceptions of class society and self. Psychoanalysis and the Human Sciences Louis Althusser, 2016-09-06 What can psychoanalysis a psychological approach developed more than a century ago offer us in an age of rapidly evolving hard to categorize ideas of sexuality and the self? Should we abandon Freud's theories completely or adapt them to new findings and the new relationships taking shape in modern liberal societies? In a remarkably prescient series of lectures delivered in the early 1960s the French philosopher Louis Althusser anticipated the challenges that psychoanalytic theory would face as politics moved away from structuralist frameworks and toward the elastic possibilities of anthropological and sociological thought. Psychoanalysis and the Human Sciences translates Althusser's remarkable seminars into English for the first time making available to a wider audience the origins and potential future of radical political theory. Althusser takes the important step in these lectures of distinguishing psychoanalysis from psychology and especially psychiatry which long resisted Freud's analytical concepts of the unconscious and overdetermination. By freeing psychoanalysis from this bind Althusser can then apply these analytical concepts to the social and the political integrated with Marxist theory. The result is an enlivened methodology for comprehending social organization and change that had a profound influence on the Frankfurt School and scholars who continue to work at the forefront of radical thought today. Judith Butler, Étienne Balibar and Alain Badiou.

Regimes of Historicity François Hartog, 2015-02-24 François Hartog explores crucial moments of change in society's regimes of historicity or its ways of relating to the past present and future Inspired by Hannah Arendt Reinhart Koselleck and Paul Ricoeur Hartog analyzes a broad range of texts positioning The Odyssey as a work on the threshold of historical consciousness and contrasting it with an investigation of the anthropologist Marshall Sahlins's concept of heroic history He tracks changing perspectives on time in Chateaubriand's Historical Essay and Travels in America and sets them alongside other writings from the French Revolution He revisits the insights of the French Annales School and situates Pierre Nora's Realms of Memory within a history of heritage and today's presentism from which he addresses Jonas's notion of our responsibility for the future Our presentist present is by no means uniform or clear cut and it is experienced very differently depending on the position we occupy in society We are caught up in global movement and accelerated flows or else condemned to the life of casual workers living from hand to mouth in a stagnant present with no recognized past and no real future either since the temporality of plans and projects is inaccessible The present is therefore experienced as emancipation or enclosure and the perspective of the future is no longer reassuring since it is perceived not as a promise but as a threat Hartog's resonant readings show us how the motor of history writing has stalled and help us understand the contradictory qualities of our contemporary presentist relation to time

The Jean Baudrillard Reader Steve Redhead, 2008 Jean Baudrillard 1929-2007 was a controversial social and cultural theorist known for his trenchant analyses of media and technological communication Belonging to the generation of French thinkers that included Gilles Deleuze Jean-François Lyotard Michel Foucault and Jacques Lacan Baudrillard has at times been vilified by his detractors but the influence of his work on critical thought and pop culture is impossible to deny many might recognize his name from The Matrix movies which claimed to be based on the French theorist's ideas Steve Redhead takes a fresh look at Baudrillard in relation to the intellectual and political climates in which he wrote Baudrillard sought to produce a theory of modernity but the modern world of the 1950s was radically different from the reality of the early twenty-first century Beginning with Baudrillard's initial publications in the 1960s and concluding with his writings on 9/11 and Abu Ghraib Redhead guides the reader through Baudrillard's difficult texts and unorthodox views on current issues He also proposes an original theory of Baudrillard's relation to postmodernism presenting the theorist's work as non-postmodernist after Bruno Latour's concept of non-modernity Each section of the Reader includes an extract from one of Baudrillard's writings prefaced by a short bibliographical introduction that places the piece in context and puts the debate surrounding the theorist into sharp perspective The conflict over Baudrillard's legacy stems largely from the fact that a comprehensive selection of his writings has yet to be translated and collected into one volume The Jean Baudrillard Reader provides an expansive and much-needed portrait of the critic's resonant work

Chronos François Hartog, 2022-09-27 As omnipresent as it is ungraspable time has always inspired and eluded attempts to comprehend it For the early Christians for the twenty-first century world

how have past and future been woven into the present In Chronos a leading French historian ranges from Western antiquity to the Anthropocene pinpointing the crucial turning points in our relationship to time Fran ois Hartog considers the genealogy of Western temporalities examining the orders of time and their divisions into epochs Beginning with how the ancient Greeks understood time Chronos explores the fashioning of a Christian time in the early centuries of the Catholic Church Christianity s hegemony over time reigned over Europe and beyond only to ebb as modern time presided over by the notion of relentless progress set out on its march toward the future Hartog emphasizes the deep uncertainties the world now faces as we reckon with the arrival and significance of the Anthropocene age Humanity has become capable of altering the climate triggering in mere life spans changes that once took place across geological epochs In this threatening new age which has challenged all existing temporal constructions what will become of the old ways of understanding time Intertwining reflections on intellectual history and historiography with critiques of contemporary presentism and apocalypticism Chronos brings depth and erudition to debates over the nature of the era we are living through and offers keen insight into the experience of historical time Theatre/Archaeology Mike Pearson, Michael Shanks, 2005-07-08

Theatre Archaeology is a provocative challenge to disciplinary practice and intellectual boundaries It brings together radical proposals in both archaeological and performance theory to generate a startlingly original and intriguing methodological framework History and Memory Jacques Le Goff, 1992 In this brilliant meditation on the varying conceptions of history Jacques Le Goff one of the leading members of the French Annales school examines the oppositions between past and present ancient and modern as well as the various continuities in the evolutions of the historical spirit Clearly written broad ranging and richly allusive History and Memory is a provocative book that will inspire a better understanding of historical work and provide an overview of the new history that has revolutionized historical studies over the past half century Le Goff has written a new preface for the English language edition which examines recent trends in historiography Jacket

Negotiating Memory from the Romans to the Twenty-First Century Øivind Fuglerud, Kjersti Larsen, Marina Prusac-Lindhagen, 2020-09-14 Manipulation of the past and forced erasure of memories have been global phenomena throughout history spanning a varied repertoire from the destruction or alteration of architecture sites and images to the banning or imposing of old and new practices The present volume addresses these questions comparatively across time and geography and combines a material approach to the study of memory with cross disciplinary empirical explorations of historical and contemporary cases This approach positions the volume as a reference point within several fields of humanities and social sciences The collection brings together scholars from different fields within humanities and social science to engage with memorialization and damnatio memoriae across disciplines using examples from their own research The broad chronological and comparative scope makes the volume relevant for researchers and students of several historical periods and geographic regions Empiricism and Subjectivity Gilles Deleuze, 1991 This title anticipates and explains the post

structuralist turn to empiricism Presenting a reading of David Hume s philosophy the work assists in understanding the progress of Deleuze s thought Julia Kristeva, Interviews Julia Kristeva,1996 This is a collection of 22 never before translated interviews and one personal essay by Julia Kristeva Kristeva s in depth discussions with major figures in contemporary arts and letters cover topics as diverse as the American literary academy fiction writing and issues in neuroscience The Philosopher's Touch Francois Noudelmann,2012-01-10 Music is a significant object of reflection for contemporary philosophers yet little has been written on the interplay of music and thought Fran ois Noudelmann critically engages the musicality of Barthes Sartre and Nietzsche all of whom were amateur piano players giving an insightful reading of their work in light of their music The practice of playing the piano was crucial to these philosophers but their writing on the topic was scant implicit or in discordance with their philosophical oeuvre Noudelmann reveals how the manner in which they played the composers they explicitly and secretly adored and the music they chose to write about is telling of these philosophers writing styles and thinking patterns Noudelmann invites us to imagine the physical and theoretical practice of music as a dimension underpinning and resonating with their philosophical work proper He thus unearths new perspectives on the philosophical trajectories of the three Noudelmann has an elegant command of the texts under study and understands the discursive points and concerns of philosophical and musical theorists of recent decades He also brings to the work of Barthes Sartre and Nietzsche a sense of lived embodied experience raising the question of the relationship between philosophy and the senses a philosopher s life and thought
