Rootes Group found itself struggling to compete in a new buyers market in which foreign competition was starting to overtake British manufacturers. Despite the challenges that confronted them, Rootes designed and built some of the most popular cars of the period: the Hillman Minx and Super Minx, the Singer Vogue and the Humber Sceptre, and the iconic but ill-fated Hillman Imp, as well as some of the most rugged and well-purposed vans and trucks built by Commer, Karrier, and Dodge. The book highlights the competition pedigree of the Sunbeam Rapier, the Alpine, the Imp, and the Ford V8-engined Tiger. Famous names such as Paddy Hopkirk, Rosemary Smith, and Peter Procter all give their stories as works drivers for Rootes, while engineers at Comps tell the background stories of how races and rallies were won and lost. Andrew Cowan, Rootes works rally driver and winner of the 1968 London-Sydney Marathon in a Hillman Hunter, shares his story in what was a remarkable and unexpected victory for Rootes. This complex story is told through the eyes of ex-Rootes and Chrysler personnel, giving from the horse's mouth accounts of the company and its exploits. Geoff Carverhill takes you inside the boardroom, into the drawing office, and on to the production line to give the reader an insider's view of Rootes, Chrysler, and Peugeot.

A True Story Dakota William Szaniszlo, 2025-04-02

A TRUE STORY is a story of deception and truth. It is a story about the nature of reality and the intrinsic unreliability of perspective. It is allusive literary fiction disguised as a cheap pulpy crime novel where you, the reader, become the detective and the story itself becomes suspect. Nothing exists outside of the frame of the narrator. No character can have a true voice; only impersonation. The difference between truth and lies becomes meaningless; everything becomes a reflection of itself. It is then the job of the astute reader to glean the truth of the misrepresented characters, their soft sorrows, through the broken lens of the narrator, to see things for what they are, and not simply for what they seem. Through the book, we follow the protagonist John Smith through a series of events involving crime, deception, and personal turmoil. The story begins with an unnamed narrator addressing the reader directly, apologizing for breaking storytelling conventions, assuring the reader that he had no part in the soon-to-be unfolding events, and setting the stage for a narrative that promises to be pure and true. After a false start, John's life is depicted in detail, including his relationship with his wife Mary, his affair with Bella, and his burgeoning obsession with Donna. He is involved in various criminal activities, including drug deals, burglaries, and insurance fraud. The narrative explores his interactions with other characters, such as Bruce, Pepe, and Ethelbert, who play significant roles in the unfolding drama. The story takes a dark turn with the deaths of multiple characters, leaving John to navigate through these challenges, dealing with the consequences of his actions and the relentless pursuit of Ethelbert. E. Ethelbert, an insurance investigator, is the document is rich in descriptive language, character development, and thematic elements, making it a complex and engaging read with layers of hidden subtext and wordplay to delight the reader and the re-reader both. In other words, an image. There is a puddle that has collected around the gutter in a city street. The particular street and city are inconsequential; you may imagine it as any city street you wish, somewhere you are familiar with or somewhere not. What matters is the puddle. It is dark, almost obsidian, against the worn asphalt of the street and stretches out in an oblong uneven semi circle Within it you can see a reflection distorted by the shifting prismatic shimmer of motor oil and brake fluid the underside of the storm drain reaching with its brush and litter choked bars up to the bottoms of its mirrored twins the buildings swaying with the breeze in the surface ripples towering away towards the sunset that glows behind them somehow brighter in this distorted reflection your own face slowly morphing and partially translucent staring up from the miniature abyss Through this rainbow shimmer through this shifting transportive reflection and through all the darkness and the brown opacity of the water you can make out the sediment beneath the candy wrapper and cigarette butt embedded within the trampled dandelion fighting to grow between the cracks of the asphalt and the cement the recently minted quarter dropped before it was ever even spent the shoelace tied to the storm drain oscillating with the rhythm of the water as it slowly drains out There in this dirty puddle in the reflection of the world within and in the distorting polychrome oil slick that washes over it all the essence of A TRUE STORY can be found
