Montefiore, 2003-09-02 Men and Women Writers of the 1930s is a searching critique of the issues of memory and gender during this dynamic decade Montefiore asks two principle questions what part does memory play in the political literature of and about 1930s Britain And what were the roles of women both as writers and as signifying objects in constructing that literature Montefiore's topical analysis of 1930s mass unemployment fascist uprising and appeasement is shockingly relevant in society today Issues of class anti fascist historical novels post war memoirs of Auden generation writers and neglected women poets are discussed at length Writers include George Orwell Virginia Woolf W H Auden Storm Jameson Jean Rhys Rebecca West Refiguring Modernism: Women of 1928 Bonnie Kime Scott, 1995 an invaluable aid to the reconfiguration of literary modernism and of the history of the fiction of the first three decades of the twentieth century Novel her readings of texts are quite smart and eminently readable Tulsa Studies in Women's Literature a challenging and discerning study of the modernist period James Joyce Broadsheet note review of volume 1 only highly important and beautifully written constructing a contextually rich cultural history of Anglo American modernism It wears its meticulous erudition lightly synthesizing an enormous amount of research much of it original archival work Signs Through her thoughtful exploration of the lives and work of these three female modernists Scott shapes a new feminist literary history that successfully reconfigures modernism Woolf Studies Annual In this revisionary study of modernism Bonnie Kime Scott focuses on the literary and cultural contexts that shaped Virginia Woolf Rebecca West and Djuna Barnes Her reading is based upon fresh archival explorations combining postmodern with feminist theory A Memoir of My Former Self Hilary Mantel, 2023-10-24 THE FINAL BOOK FROM ONE OF OUR GREATEST WRITERS In addition to her celebrated career as a novelist Hilary Mantel contributed for years to newspapers and journals unspooling stories from her own life and illuminating the world as she found it Ink is a generative fluid she explains If you don't mean your words to breed consequences don't write at all A Memoir of My Former Self collects the finest of this writing over four decades Her subjects are wide ranging sharply observed and beautifully rendered She discusses nationalism and her own sense of belonging our dream life popping into our conscious life the mythic legacy of Princess Diana the many themes that feed into her novels revolutionary France psychics Tudor England and other novelists from Jane Austen to V S Naipaul She writes about her father and the man who replaced him she writes fiercely and heartbreakingly about the battles with her health that she endured as a young woman and the stifling years she found herself living in Saudi Arabia Here too is her legendary essay Royal Bodies on our endless fascination with the current royal family From her unusual childhood to her all consuming interest in Thomas Cromwell that grew into the Wolf Hall trilogy A Memoir of My Former Self reveals the shape of Hilary Mantel's life in her own luminous words through messages from people I used to be Filled with her singular wit and wisdom it is essential reading from one of our greatest writers Modernism and the Aristocracy Adam Parkes, 2023-06-14 During a modern age that saw the expansion of its democracy the fading of its empire and two world wars Britain's hereditary aristocracy was pushed from the centre to the margins of the nation's affairs Widely remarked on by commentators at the time this radical redrawing of the social and political map provoked a newly intensified fascination with the aristocracy among modern writers Undone by history the British aristocracy and its Anglo Irish cousins were remade by literary modernism Modernism and the Aristocracy Monsters of English Privilege is about the results of that remaking The book traces the literary consequences of the modernist preoccupation with aristocracy in the works of Elizabeth Bowen Ford Madox Ford Aldous Huxley D H Lawrence Evelyn Waugh Rebecca West and others writing in Britain and Ireland in the first half of the twentieth century Combining an historical focus on the decades between the two world wars with close attention to the verbal textures and formal structures of literary texts Adam Parkes asks What did the decline of the British aristocracy do for modernist writers What imaginative and creative opportunities did the historical fate of the aristocracy precipitate in writers of the new democratic age Exploring a range of feelings affects and attitudes that modernist authors associated with the aristocracy in the interwar period from stupidity boredom and nostalgia to sophistication cruelty and kindness the book also asks what impact this subject matter has on the form and style of modernist texts and why the results have appealed to readers then and now In tackling such questions Parkes argues for a reawakening of curiosity about connections between class status and literature in the modernist period Modernist Travel Writing David G. Farley, 2010-11-30 As the study of travel writing has grown in recent years scholars have largely ignored the literature of modernist writers Modernist Travel Writing Intellectuals Abroad by David Farley addresses this gap by examining the ways in which a number of writers employed the techniques and stylistic innovations of modernism in their travel narratives to variously engage the political social and cultural milieu of the years between the world wars Modernist Travel Writing argues that the travel book is a crucial genre for understanding the development of modernism in the years between the wars despite the established view that travel writing during the interwar period was largely an escapist genre one in which writers hearkened back to the realism of nineteenth century literature in order to avoid interwar anxiety Farley analyzes works that exist on the margins of modernism generically and geographically works that have yet to receive the critical attention they deserve partly due to their classification as travel narratives and partly because of their complex modernist styles The book begins by examining the ways that travel and the emergent travel regulations in the wake of the First World War helped shape Ezra Pound's Cantos From there it goes on to examine E E Cummings's frustrated attempts to navigate the unworld of Soviet Russia in his book Eimi Wyndham Lewis's satiric journey through colonial Morocco in Filibusters in Barbary and Rebecca West's urgent efforts to make sense of the fractious Balkan states in Black Lamb and Grey Falcon These modernist writers traveled to countries that experienced most directly the tumult of revolution the effects of empire and the upheaval of war during the years between World War I and World War II Farley's study focuses on the question of what constitutes evidence for Pound Lewis Cummings and West as they establish their authority as eyewitnesses translate what they see for an audience back home and attempt to make sense of a transformed and transforming modern world Modernist Travel Writing makes an original contribution to the study of literary modernism while taking a distinctive look at a unique subset within the growing field of travel writing studies David Farley's work will be of interest to students and teachers in both of these fields as well as to early twentieth century literary historians and general enthusiasts of modernist studies

Rollyson, 2005-10 Is there a right way to write a literary life In this collection of columns from the New York Sun Carl Rollyson explores the relationship between narrative and literary analysis Should biographies be written in the style and form of novels How to balance the life and the work How much literary criticism can a biography absorb into its narrative Rollyson proposes a number of apologies for biography including the thought that in the right hands the literary biography is a continuation not only of the writer's work and life In such instances there seems to be a symbiosis between biographer and subject In other cases biographies spearhead the rediscovery of important writers He rejects the idea that literary figures are not good subjects for biography because they are not men and women of action That literary biography is a kind of strip mining a pathography laying bare the subject's life to no good purpose is another canard this book demolishes The pieces here also expose the genre's weak points a proclivity for overstatement and excessive length the failure of biographers to build upon their predecessors' work Rollyson invents a term biographology in order to discuss the biographical tradition

Confessions of a Serial Biographer Carl Rollyson, 2016-03-09 Some critics rank biographers just above serial murderers The author of this book a self-described member of the Samuel Johnson school doesn't share this view An account of a life he believes should adhere to the truth as the biographer sees it not to the sentiments of others This memoir of a professional biographer's life tells the inside story of how he became interested in his subjects and reveals the mechanics of the trade how to assemble proposals for publishers conduct interviews and archival research and joust with editors subjects and their literary estates Other biographers have described their process but remained discrete not wishing to offend their sources and supporters This author has forgone such caution Documentary Film Carl Rollyson, 2006-11 Documentary Film Contexts and Criticism is designed to complement Rollyson's Documentary Film A Primer The films discussed in this volume include Zelig the Lumiere brothers documentaries Nanook of the North The Man With a Movie Camera Triumph of the Will Olympia The Wonderful Horrible Life of Leni Riefenstahl Why We Fight Fires Were Started and several Jill Craigie films including an extended discussion of Two Hours From London her controversial examination of the Balkan wars and the siege of Dubrovnik What sets this text apart from other studies of documentary is that it includes a wide array of student comments on the films and reviews very much centered in discussions of the documentary tradition In this same vein Rollyson has included his essay Jill Craigie and the Documentary Tradition exploring her relationship with John Grierson and other prominent documentary filmmakers This dialogic text captures some of the actual give and take of the classroom and the range of opinion that even the best critics cannot convey What should emerge from the reading of these comments are the different voices mindsets through which the films are viewed      Black Lamb and Grey Falcon Rebecca Lamb, 2010-07-01 With an introduction by Geoff Dyer First published in 1942 Rebecca West's epic masterpiece is widely regarded as the most illuminating book to have been written on what was once Yugoslavia essential for anyone attempting to understand the enigmatic history of the Balkan states West's masterpiece is one of the great twentieth century books of any genre Independent Impossible to put down both timeless and of its time a travel book and epic narrative history brimming with passion anger scholarship and intuition hatred and love Observer Such incandescent writing you find yourself wanting to mark every sentence in order to go back and relish it again Brian Eno One of the supreme masterpieces of the twentieth century As a book about Yugoslavia it's a kind of metaphysical Lonely Planet that never requires updating this is history as it might have been written by Ryszard Kapuscinski or Gabriel Garcia Marquez Geoff Dyer from his introduction It is hard to convey the flavour of a book so rich in observation history philosophy political ideas and ironic humour West is full of digressions which are extraordinary but never boring The Times The sheer quality and depth of the writing make it one of the great books of the century Times Literary Supplement

British Fiction After Modernism M. MacKay, L. Stonebridge, 2007-01-08 This collection of essays offers a wide ranging and provocative reassessment of the British novel's achievements after modernism The book identifies continuities of preoccupation with national identity historiography and the challenge to literary form presented by public and private violence that span the entire century      Humanities , 1999      The Bitter Taste of Victory Lara Feigel, 2016-01-28 As the Second World War neared its conclusion Germany was a nation reduced to rubble 3.6 million German homes had been destroyed leaving 7.5 million people homeless an apocalyptic landscape of flattened cities and desolate wastelands In May 1945 Germany surrendered and Britain America Soviet Russia and France set about rebuilding their zones of occupation Most urgent for the Allies in this divided defeated country were food water and sanitation but from the start they were anxious to provide for the minds as well as the physical needs of the German people Reconstruction was to be cultural as well as practical denazification and re education would be key to future peace and the arts crucial in modelling alternative less militaristic ways of life Germany was to be reborn its citizens as well as its cities were to be reconstructed the mindset of the Third Reich was to be obliterated When later that year twenty two senior Nazis were put in the dock at Nuremberg writers and artists including Rebecca West Evelyn Waugh John Dos Passos and Laura Knight were there to tell the world about a trial intended to ensure that tyrannous dictators could never again enslave the people of Europe And over the next four years many of the foremost writers and filmmakers of their generation were dispatched by Britain and America to help rebuild the country their governments had spent years bombing Among them Ernest Hemingway Martha Gellhorn Marlene Dietrich George Orwell Lee Miller W. H. Auden Stephen Spender Billy Wilder and Humphrey Jennings The Bitter Taste of Victory traces the experiences of these figures and through their individual stories offers an entirely fresh view of post war Europe Never before told this is a brilliant important and utterly mesmerising history of cultural transformation
