Tipping Points in International Law Jean d'Aspremont, John Haskell, 2021-10-28 Addressing some of the most perilous controversial issues in international law and governance this volume brings together legal scholars from diverse geographic personal and scholarly perspectives They reflect on the pervasive feeling of crisis in the world today and share their views on the possibilities and limits of the international legal architecture and its expert communities in shaping the world of tomorrow What exactly is this feeling that the contemporary international legal architecture is at a tipping point What do these possible risks expose about the fragility and limits of our current conceptual and institutional order What commitments drive our hopes and anxieties Authors explore these questions across a wide range of possible tipping points and offer readers a unique snapshot of the lived experience of what it means to be an expert engaged right now in international law and governance Each chapter covers both theory and practice in analysing a current problem

Weak Links Stewart Patrick, 2011 Conventional wisdom holds that weak and failing states are the source of the world's most pressing security threats After all the 9 11 attacks originated in an impoverished war ravaged country and transnational crime appears to flourish in weakly governed states However our assumptions about the threats posed by failing states are based on anecdotal arguments not on a systematic analysis of the connections between state failure and transnational security threats Analyzing terrorism transnational crime WMDs pandemic diseases and energy insecurity Stewart Patrick shows that while some global threats do emerge in fragile states most of their weaknesses create misery only for their own citizenry Moreover many threats originate farther up the chain in wealthier and more stable countries like Russia and Venezuela Weak Links will force policymakers to rethink what they assume about state failure and transnational insecurity Introduction to Health Care Delivery Robert L.
