Bureau of Locomotive Inspection, 1945 The American Steam Locomotive in the Twentieth Century Tom Morrison, 2018-07-24 Between 1900 and 1950 Americans built the most powerful steam locomotives of all time enormous engines that powered a colossal industry They were deceptively simple machines yet the more their technology was studied the more obscure it became Despite immense and sustained engineering efforts steam locomotives remained grossly inefficient in their use of increasingly costly fuel and labor In the end they baffled their masters and as soon as diesel electric technology provided an alternative steam locomotives disappeared from American railroads Drawing on the work of eminent engineers and railroad managers of the day this lavishly illustrated history chronicles the challenges triumphs and failures of American steam locomotive development and operation Annual Report of the Chief Inspector, Bureau of Locomotive Inspection United States. and illustrated from them throughout reveals the details of every day as well as the problems and difficulties the staff faced Above all it shows how well they overcame their problems with only muscle power and a steam crane to help and of course no health and safety regulations and arguments to slow them down Adrian Vaughan s unique history of this famous rail company shows just how special the GWR was right through to the end of its very last year      Bulletin Institution of Mining and Metallurgy (Great Britain),1904      Air Bulletin ,1948-07      A Study of the Antitrust Laws: General Motors [Corporation United States.
