War in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2008 This issue of African Literature Today is devoted to studies of how African writers as historical witnesses have handled the recreation of war as a cataclysmic phenomenon in various locations on the continent The theoretical question is whether the fictionalized representation demonstrated equitable balance between socio political messages lessons of war and the sanctity of art aesthetics Contributors have explore the subject from a variety of perspectives panoramic regional national and through comparative studies Was has enriched contemporary African literature but at what price to human lives peace and the environment Publisher s description

ALA Bulletin African Literature Association, 1984 New Directions in African Literature Ernest Emenyonu, Patricia Thornton Emenyonu, F. D. Imbuga, 2006 Contributors to this volume ask what are the new directions of African literature What should be the major concerns of writers critics and teachers in the twenty first century What are the accomplishments and legacies What gaps remain to be filled and what challenges are there to be addressed by publishers and the book industry What are the implications for pedagogy in the new technological era ERNEST EMENYONU is Professor of the Department of Africana Studies University of Michigan Flint North America Africa World Press Nigeria HEBN Teaching African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu,2011 Focuses on theoretical and pedagogical approaches to the teaching of African literature on both sides of the Atlantic and beyond The publication of Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart in 1958 drew universal attention not only to contemporary African creative imagination but also established the art of the modern African novel In 1986 Wole Soyinka became the first African to win the Nobel Prize for Literature and opened the gate for other African writers By the close of the 20th century African literature had gained world wide acceptance and legitimacy in the academy and featured on the literature curriculum of schools and colleges across the globe This special issue of African Literature Today examines the diverse experiences of teachers of African literature across regional racial cultural and national boundaries It explores such issues as student responses productive pedagogical innovations the impact of modern technology case studies of online teaching teaching criticism of African literature and teaching African literature in an age of multiculturalism It is intended as an invaluable teacher's handbook and essential student companion for the effective study of African literature

Speculative & Science Fiction Ernest N.

Emenyonu, Chimalum Nwankwo, Louisa Uchum Egbunike, 2021 Over the past two decades there has been a resurgence in the writing of African and African diaspora speculative and science fiction writing Discussions around the rise of science fiction and fantasy have led to a push back by writers and scholars who have suggested that this is not a new phenomenon in African literature This collection focuses on the need to recalibrate ways of reading and categorising this genre of African writing through critical examinations both of classics such as Kojo Laing's Woman of the Aeroplanes 1988 and Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o's oeuvre as well as more recent fiction from writers including Nnedi Okorafor Namwali Serpell and Masande Ntshanga Back cover Fiction of Imperialism Philip Darby, 1998-05-01 The Fiction of Imperialism attempts to promote dialogue between international relations and postcolonialism It addresses the value of fiction to an understanding of the imperial relationship between the West and Asia and Africa A wide range of fiction and criticism is examined as it pertains to colonialism the North South engagement and contemporary Third World politics The book begins by contrasting the treatment of cross cultural relations in political studies and literary texts It then examines the personal as a metaphor for the political in fiction depicting the imperial connection between Britain and India This is paired with an analysis of African literary texts which takes as its theme the relationship between culture and politics The concluding chapters approach literature from the outside considering its apparent silence on economics and realpolitik and assessing the utility of postcolonial reconceptualisations

Emenyonu,John C. Hawley,Patricia Thornton Emenyonu,Adéléke Adéèkó,Obi Nwakanma,2018 ALT 36 turns a queer eye on Africa offering provocative re readings of texts to position formerly erased sexualities and contemporary sexual expression among Africans on the continent and abroad Writers and Social Thought in Africa Wale Adebani,2017-10-02 Social theory and social theorizing about Africa has largely ignored African literature. However, because writers are some of the continent's finest social thinkers, they have produced and continue to produce works which constitute potential sources for the analysis of social thought and for constructing social theory in and beyond the continent. This comprehensive collection examines the relationship between African literature and African social thought. It explores the evolution and aesthetics of social thought in African fiction and African writers' conceptions of power and authority, legitimacy, history and modernity, gender and sexuality, culture, epistemology, globalization and change, and continuity in Africa. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary African Studies.

Children's Literature & Story-telling Ernest Emenyonu, Patricia Thornton Emenyonu, Jane Bryce, Maureen N. Eke, Stephanie Newell, Charles E. Nnolim, Alphonse Kwawisi Tekpetey, Iniobong I. Uko, Obi Nwakanma, Chimalum Moses Nwankwo, 2015. Contributors analyse the theories behind children's literature, its functions and cultural significance, and suggest the new directions this literature is taking in terms of its craft, themes and intentions. Africa's encounter with the West and its implications and consequences remain far-reaching and enduring in the craft and thrust of its creative writers. The contributors to ALT 33 analyse the connections between traditional stories and myths that have been told to children, as well as the work of contemporary creative writers who are writing for children in order that they understand this complex history. Some of these writers are developing traditional myths, folk tales and legends and are writing them in new forms, while others focus on the encounter with the West that has dominated much modern African literature for adults. The previous neglect of the cultural significance, study, criticism and teaching of children's literature is addressed in this volume. How can the successes and/or failures of stories and story-telling for children in Africa be measured? Are there models to be followed and what makes them models? What is the relationship between the text and the illustration of children's books? What should guide the reader or critic of children's literature coming out of Africa: globalism, transculturality or internal regionalism? What problems confront teachers, students, publishers and promoters of children's books in Africa? Ernest Emenyonu is Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan, Flint, USA. The editorial board is composed of scholars from the US, UK and African universities. Reviews Editor: Obi Nwakanma, HEBN, Nigeria.

New Novels in African Literature Today Ernest Emenyonu, 2010. This work discusses the validity of the perception that the new generation of African novelists is different in vision, style and worldview from the older generation. The 13 papers have been carefully selected to highlight the contention that the previous generation made culture conflict their sole theme.

Across the Lines, 2022-05-16. This third volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the subject of intertextuality. Intertextual relations between oral and written versions of literature, text and performance, as well as problems emerging from media transitions, regionally instructed forms of intertextuality and the works of individual authors are equally dealt with. Intertextuality as both a creative and a critical practice frequently exposes the essential arbitrariness of literary and cultural manifestations that have become canonized. The transformation and transfer of meanings which accompanies any crossing between texts rests not least on the nature of the artistic corpus embodied in the general framework of historically and socially determined cultural traditions. Traditions however result from selective forms of perception; they are as much inventions as they are based on exclusion. Intertextuality leads to a constant reinforcement of tradition while at the same time intertextual relations between the new literatures and other English language literatures are all too obvious. Despite the inevitable impact of tradition, the new literatures tend to employ a dynamic reading of culture which fosters social process and transition, thus promoting transcultural rather than intercultural modes of communication. Writing and reading across borders becomes a dialogue which reveals both differences and similarities. More than a decolonizing form of deconstruction, intertextuality is a strategy for communicating meaning across cultural boundaries. Routledge

Handbook of African Literature Moradewun Adejunmobi, Carli Coetzee, 2019-03-13. The turn of the twenty-first century has witnessed an expansion of critical approaches to African literature. The Routledge Handbook of African Literature is a one-stop publication bringing together studies of African literary texts that embody an array of newer approaches applied to a wide range of works. This includes frameworks derived from food studies, utopian studies, network theory, eco-criticism, and examinations of the human-animal interface alongside more familiar discussions of postcolonial politics. Every chapter is an original research essay written by a broad spectrum of scholars with expertise in the subject, providing an application of the most recent insights into analysis of particular topics or application of particular critical frameworks to one or more African literary works. The handbook will be a valuable interdisciplinary resource for scholars and students of African literature, African culture, postcolonial literature, and literary analysis. Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (CC BY-NC) 4.0 license. The Journal of Commonwealth Literature, 1985
